Scouts Plan 'Conclave'

The first annual "conclave" of the Modoc Area Council of the Boy Scouts, bringing together representatives of sponsoring organizations and council officers, will be held Friday evening in the Oregon Technical Institute cafeteria.

The meeting, beginning at 7:30 p.m., is designed to develop understanding and cooperation between the churches and other groups that sponsor Boy Scout troops and Cub Scout packs and the officers of the council.

It is planned that the "conclave" will become an annual event. About 75 persons are expected at Friday evening's session. Jim Siskewell, president of the Klamath County Chamber of Commerce, will deliver the keynote address.

The organizational representatives will receive information on the local, state and national Boy Scout programs and ideas for new programs will be presented. Also, the meeting is designed to generate interest in the formation of new Boy Scout troops.

Yule Trim Contest Set

MALIN — In conjunction with Copco Division and Pacific Power and Light, the Main Garden Club will again sponsor a community lighting contest, according to Mrs. J. Walter Brown, contest president.

The contest will open Dec. 6, with Mrs. Robert Hill, program chairman, and her committee in charge. It is a community effort to express the spirit of the Christmas season with lights.

Everyone in the community is eligible to participate. Entry blanks and details may be obtained at Wildie's Clothing Store. The entries will be judged on good lighting principles, artistic merit, design, color, and new lighting ideas and techniques. Cash prizes will be awarded.

Bridge Whodunit

By OSWALD JACOBY
 Newspaper Enterprise Assn.
 Had Sherlock Holmes devoted his talents to bridge he would have had a lot of fun finding the criminal on this hand after various misadventures in bidding and play. East took his ace of clubs and returned the suit. South won with the king and promptly led his jack of diamonds. He wanted to steal that diamond trick before going after trump, because he felt that it would be much more difficult to perform this robbery later on. Sure enough! West played the seven spot and dummy's king held the trick. There was no way for South to avoid the loss of a trump trick and a spade, but the game had been stolen. Who was the criminal? South had stolen the game, but that isn't really a crime in bridge. Holmes would not have given him a second thought. The crime is to let your opponent steal it from you. Was West the criminal? He certainly could have gone up with his ace of diamonds and set the hand and West probably should have been suspicious of that immediate lead of the jack of diamonds. Holmes would mark him down as an accessory, but the real criminal was East. East had taken a club trick and was looking at tricks in spades and hearts. One more trick would set the contract and the best place to get it would be in diamonds. East should have led a diamond at trick two and protected his partner. Elementary, Dr. Watson. East was the game's Moriarty.

Q—The bidding has been: North East South West

 What do you do now?
 A — Make your partner to three no-trump. He has shown a minimum type opening, but your 14 points should be enough for game. There is no slam.

Today's Question

Instead of bidding one no-trump over your one spade you partner has jumped to three clubs. What should you do now?

Dunes Bill Snagged By Morse

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Action on a Senate bill to create an Oregon Dunes National Seashore was stalled today as a result of objections by Sen. Wayne Morse, D-Ore.

Morse served notice Tuesday night that he opposes the measure to create a 30,000-acre park on the coast of Oregon.

The Oregon Democrat said the Senate "should think a long time" before approving a bill not backed unanimously by the Oregon congressional delegation.

Morse said he objected chiefly to provisions in the bill to allow the condemnation of private land.

"We can have a park in the dunes area of Oregon without taking a square foot of private property," he declared. Morse added that an adequate park could be put together from public property.
