

Taft's Son Will Run For Senate

CLEVELAND, Ohio (UPI) — Rep. Robert Taft Jr., R-Ohio, seeking to follow his father's footsteps, Friday announced his candidacy for the United States Senate.

The 46-year-old congressman-at-large, serving his first term in Congress, said he would seek the seat currently held by Democratic Sen. Stephen M. Young, who is completing his initial term.

Young, who ousted U.S. Sen. John W. Bricker in 1958, was expected to announce his re-election plans in the near future.

Taft defeated Richard D. Kennedy of Cleveland in 1952 by more than 600,000 votes to win the congressman-at-large seat.

The Republican hopeful is the fourth consecutive generation of his family to be active on the national political scene. First to enter the political arena was his great-grandfather, Alphonso Taft, who served as secretary of war and then U.S. attorney general in the 1870's.

His grandfather, William Howard Taft, served as president and chief justice and his father, Robert A. Taft, was elected to the U.S. Senate for three terms and twice was a contender for the Republican nomination for president, losing to Dwight Eisenhower in 1952.

Taft launched his political career in 1955 when he was elected to the Ohio House of Representatives. He served four terms and was majority leader, a post his father held. Robert A. Taft began his political spiral in the Ohio House some 30 years earlier.

Taft may have a full-scale battle on his hands to win the nomination. Another Republican with a vote-getting name, Secretary of State Ted W. Brown, already has announced his candidacy and has sent letters to editors asking for endorsement.
