No Need To Finesse

By OSWALD JACOBY
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

South won the opening club in his own hand and noted that there were 11 top tricks waiting. If either diamonds or spades should break South would have 12 and if neither broke he still appeared to have a two-way finesse for the queen of hearts.

South decided to try to count the hand and started by running off three clubs. East shed the deuce of hearts on the third club whereupon South tried the diamonds and spades only to find that neither suit broke. However, South had acquired his count. West had started with two spades, four diamonds and five clubs and that left him exactly two hearts. Therefore East had started with five hearts.

This made the odds 5 to 2 in favor of finding East with the queen of hearts so South cashed dummy's king and finessed his jack, whereupon West took the trick with the queen and proceeded to take the last two tricks with the jack of diamonds and eight of clubs.

South had played the hand fairly well, but not well enough. The heart finesse wasn't necessary.

He was right to take his top cards in clubs, diamonds and spades to start, but after doing this he should simply have led his last spade.

This would force East into the lead and since East would be down to hearts and nothing else, East would have had to lead a heart whereupon it would not make any difference where the queen of hearts was held.

What do you do?
A—Bid five clubs. You are perfectly willing to play six clubs if your partner wants to bid it.

TODAY'S QUESTION

Instead of bidding three clubs your partner jumps to three diamonds over your one spade. What do you do now?

Style Show Scheduled

"Yardstick Fashions," the Simplicity Pattern Company's fall fashion show, will highlight the program for the Suburban 4-H Achievement Night, reports Beverly Wischniowski, county extension agent.

The fashion show and achievement program, to be held on Dec. 12 in the Ferguson School, Maryland and Homedale Road, beginning at 7:30 p.m. is open free of charge to the public.

Klamath County 4-Hers will model fashions designed with "teens in mind" which include separates, dresses, jumpers, and evening clothes. In this presentation, the importance of quality construction, grooming, good fit, and proper pattern-fabric selection will be stressed.

Suburban 4-Hers who have completed project work for 1962-63 will receive pins and cards appropriate to their years of club work.

Mrs. Myers Is Recovering

Mrs. W. P. Myers of 379 Lakeshore Drive, is recovering from a fall at her home Dec. 2 that left her with painful injuries to a hip. She is around on crutches. No bones were broken.

She had just returned from a Thanksgiving trip to Portland when she fell soon after entering her home.

A granddaughter and her husband, Mr. and Mrs. M. F. Arnold, and four small daughters, recently stationed at Fort Bliss, El Paso, Texas, are spending the winter with her. He has retired after 20 years' service in the Army.
