Luncheon Meeting

The November meeting of the Aloha Past Matrons Club was a luncheon held at Kingfalls Restaurant with Gwenn Pierson, president, in charge.

Hostesses for the day were Betty Hunter and Norma Uerlings.

May Phinney and Anna Cofer volunteered to do the calling for the December activities.

Clairalice Epperson won the special prize.

The next meeting will be Dec. 27 at Molator's with Alpha Phelps and Lillian Hanelme as hostesses. To this meeting members are asked to bring gifts for the guests of the Masonic - Eastern Star Home in Forest Grove. This is an annual project and this year is in charge of Lillian Hanelme.

The Aloha Past Matrons Club meets on the last Friday of the month for a no-hostess luncheon. All past matrons living in the area are cordially invited to attend these meetings.

Women Plan Tea

Women of the Reorganized Church of Jesus Christ of Latter-day Saints are planning a Christmas tea and bazaar to which the public is invited.

The affair will be held Thursday, Dec. 12, in the church at the corner of Ninth and Plum streets. There is no charge.

Child care will be provided during the afternoon hours of 1 to 5 p.m.

The bazaar will feature Christmas novelties and gifts, hand-work and candy. Proceeds will benefit the general fund of the women's department.

First Child Welcomed

Word from Medford tells of the birth of a son to Mr. and Mrs. Greg Altenhoben on Wednesday, Dec. 4, at Rogue Valley Memorial Hospital. The little boy, the couple's first child, weighed 8 lbs., 7 ozs. at birth and has been named Mark Gregory.

Mrs. Altenhoben is the former Nancy Drew, whose parents, Mr. and Mrs. Greer Drew, are proud grandparents for the first time.

The baby's father is associated with Drew's Manstore in Medford.
