

Scandinavian Cookery Home Extension Topic

Scandinavian Cookery was the November topic for Klamath County Home Extension units. Reports on 10 units follow.

BUENA VISTA UNIT
Buena Vista Home Extension Unit met Wednesday, Nov. 6, at Joan's Kitchen with Mrs. Norman Spiker presiding. Mrs. Norman Knauus and Mrs. H. A. McClurg, project leaders for foreign cookery gave a very educational lesson on Scandinavian food. Mrs. A. Oberg brought Swedish cooking equipment and told how each was used. She also related living customs in Sweden. Mrs. O. Lundquist joined her in singing the Swedish National Song and other well known tunes. It was announced the 4-H scholarship goal has been reached. The December meeting will be a Christmas party with a pot-luck and games.

MERRILL UNIT
"The most exciting lesson yet" was the comment of the women of the Merrill Home Extension Unit when they watched Mrs. Audrey Lewis demonstrate a Danish apple cake recipe and Mrs. Dorothy Fairfield whip up a Pineapple Fromage, a dessert from Norway.

Every one heaped high their plates from the smorgasbord featuring Scandinavian cookery and drifted off to Norway, Sweden and Denmark as the two project leaders related the history and culture of the centuries, starting with "the Vikings are coming!"

The chairman, Mrs. Leona Hayes, and secretary, Mrs. Hazel Hardesty, conducted the business meeting.

ALTA MOUNT UNIT
Altamont Extension Unit studied Scandinavian Cookery at their Nov. 5 meeting. Mrs. Tekla Clawson was their Swedish visitor who showed several items from her country and told of some of the Swedish customs. Members helped make Rosettes, a type of Swedish cookies made with a Rosette iron.

KENO UNIT
Keno Unit was called to order on Nov. 13 by Mrs. Merle Anderson at the home of Mrs. Tracy Slusser. A paper was read on Christmas rituals and traditions of the Scandinavian countries. Many items from those countries were also displayed and discussed. Project leaders Mrs. Dave

Housewarming

CHILOQUIN — A recent surprise housewarming was given Mayor A. N. Starkey and Mrs. Starkey, who purchased the home of Dr. R. I. Kerwood. Seventy guests were present.

Hostesses were Christine Dawson, Rosalee Hoback, Margaret Woods, Mary Montgomery, Donna Ash, Goldie Sherier and Agnes Philfer.

Shirk and Mrs. Don Colwell prepared a smorgasbord of hot and cold dishes which were sampled by all. Tables were set with appropriate centerpieces and beautiful cups and saucers from Mrs. Shirk's collection.

Mrs. Merle Anderson won the special prize. The next meeting will be held at Mrs. Anderson's home and will be a Christmas party and gift exchange.

CONGER-FAIRVIEW UNIT
Foreign cookery, led by Mrs. Laura Moore and Mrs. Dorothy Matthews, was the lesson on Nov. 1 at Joan's Kitchen for the Conger-Fairview Unit.

The women demonstrated a smorgasbord, complete with flowers, greens, all types of food and costumes. The whole was enjoyed by 15 members and two guests, Mrs. Dale Jefferson and Mrs. George Anderson.

Articles of interest from the Scandinavian countries were displayed.

Mrs. Laura Moore was installed as vice president by Mrs. Beulah Kloiber, county committee alumni member.

BONANZA UNIT
Visitors at the Bonanza Unit meeting held at the library were Peggie Setzler, Klamath County home extension agent, Della Stamp of Portland, Amy Johnson of Carmichael, Louisa Horton, Cassie Ritter and Sharon Jordanger.

Hostesses were Lura Urbach and Averill Willis, who decorated the room in Scandinavian motif for the project on foreign cookery, led by Phyllis Reid and Lura Urbach.

Alice Drew made the birthday cake for the November birthdays.

On Dec. 10, Bonanza Unit will have as guests the Poe Valley Unit for their annual Christmas party. Luncheon will be served at noon with a Christmas tree and gift exchange to follow.

CHILOQUIN UNIT
The home of Mrs. Glen Kircher was the meeting place of the Chiloquin Unit on Nov. 7 for a lesson on Scandinavian cookery and customs. Project leaders were Mrs. Glen Kircher and Mrs. Victor Creed.

During the noon hour a smorgasbord-type luncheon was served. Everyone contributed some dish to the meal.

The making of rosettes, a delicate cookie, was demonstrated. A film on Scandinavia was also shown.

MIDLAND UNIT
Scandinavian decor with authentic Swedish handiwork enhanced foreign cookery for the members of Midland Unit Nov. 14 at Joan's Kitchen. Special guest, Ethel Youngren, told of Swedish holiday customs while the leaders, Minnie Andrieu and Evan Blodgett, prepared desserts for the planned smorgasbord. A report on the Craft Fair and the decision to aid the Christmas Center completed business at hand.

LINDLEY HEIGHTS
Lindley Heights Unit met Wednesday, Nov. 13, at Joan's Kitchen. Three visitors were present, Peggie Setzler, home extension agent, Mrs. Millie Swisher, Klamath County advisory committee, and Mrs. H. Hammond. Lesson was Scandinavian Cookery led by Mrs. Kathryn

Billings and Mrs. Lois Book.

The group's pom-pom pillow demonstration was reported very successful at the recent Craft Fair. Plans for the next meeting include a Christmas party and gift exchange.

HENLEY UNIT
Irene Ongman and Myrtle Hansen were project leaders for a very interesting and informative meeting on Scandinavian Cookery and customs. Old cook books and cooking utensils were arranged on a table for members to look over.

Tables were fancy and all the women wore Scandinavian hats as they enjoyed a smorgasbord luncheon.

The annual auction with Millie Swisher was held. Beth Williams spoke on Medical Self Help.

There will be a craft meeting on Dec. 3 at the home of Millie Swisher. Subject will be rug making. The Christmas meeting will be a social affair with gift exchange.
