

Scroggins Wins Sweepstakes Award

LAKEVIEW — Six judging teams took part in making the decisions for a highly competitive Christmas lighting contest which ended Saturday night, Dec. 21, in Lakeview and vicinity.

Tod Scroggins was winner of the sweepstakes prize and first place in the window or doorway category. Mrs. Dean Boe took second place and Dr. Paul Kliever, third.

The religious theme for yards or windows was won by the Sisters of the Atonement, first; Frances Verling, second, and Tom Flynn, third. The placings for the Christmas theme in windows or yards went to Alvas Elliott, first; Dr. William Strieby, second, and Mrs. Martha Shoulders, third.

Prizes for the most original theme for yards went to Dr. Cornelia Robertson, first; Mr. and Mrs. Lane Thornton, second, and Don Clause, third. Shrubs or trees winnings were awarded to Mrs. Forrest Cooper, first; Dr. Harry Sabin, second, and Fred Gerber, third.

In the business entries, the first prize was won by Vergie Brown; second by the Thrift Store, and third by Thornton's Drug Store.

Sponsorship for the contest was by the Soroptimist Club, with prize money donated by the Pacific Power and Light Company. The club committee, made up of Jean Koop, Audrey Smith and Frieda Gebers, reports a total of 41 entries with each one bigger and better than in previous years.

Ten Appointed To Committee

SALEM (UPI) — Ten members of the newly created advisory council on federal assistance to higher education were announced Tuesday by the governor's office.

Appointed were William E. Walsh, Coos Bay, chairman of the Board of Higher Education; Dr. Roy E. Lieualen, Eugene, chancellor of higher education;

Officers Installed At Party

The Klamath Mineral Club, meeting Thursday evening, Dec. 19, for its annual Christmas dinner party, installed new officers: Dyke Dyre, president; George Dean, vice president; Lily Lewis, secretary; Clarence Westlund, treasurer.

Also appointed were Harvey Hayden, federation director; Clarence Cornett, George Lewis, Jesse Black, club directors; Marv Westlund, editor of news letter; Alma Halston, co-editor of news letter and Sunshine Girl; Josephine Black, refreshment chairman; Jesse Black, program chairman, (educational and entertainment); Eve Brownell, membership and publicity; Lola Chalmers, co-chairman publicity and hostess.

A roast turkey dinner was served, chairmanned by Frieda Cornett.

There was a Christmas rock exchange and presentation of a special gift, a diamond-pointed grinding wheel dresser by John Yaden.

Job Opening

The U.S. Civil Service Commission announces an examination for automotive mechanic, WB-3, $2.41 per hour, at the Winema National Forest, U.S. Forest Service, Klamath Falls, Oregon. 'Hate Tax Collector' Season Fast Approaching

SALEM (UPI) — In a few days the 1964 "hate the tax collector" season will officially open.

State Tax Commissioners Paul Liniger, Fred Hofke and Charles Mack have found a retreat from taxpayer antagonism which will mount steadily until the April 15 climax.

They have a file of "thank you letters." It's only an inch thick, and nowhere as big as the file of the "other kind" of letters, but it can serve as a comfortable refuge during the trying days to come.

First letters in the "thank you" file reflect the tone of many taxpayers.

A Portland man comments about the $25.22 deficiency charge he had to pay. "I must say I was not very happy about the deficiency. However I think it fair to tell you that I was surprised at the efficient way the matter was handled, and the courtesy extended by the state tax personnel to a confused and unhappy taxpayer. Keep up the courteous, efficient job. It surely makes taxpaying an easier task."

A Portland couple was overjoyed at receiving a refund. "Like most people we are more accustomed to paying than receiving. It was a very pleasant surprise."

A Portland man wrote: "We thought we might not get the amount of refund we applied for since you had requested a special clarification of deductions claimed. But you sent exactly the amount asked for. So we thank you and we thank the Lord for a wonderful answer to prayer."

A Newberg woman was impressed with the help she received in making out her tax forms. She wrote "when you came to Newberg look us up and have coffee with us."

Another taxpayer lauded the commission for its help in making out tax returns, and commented "we certainly regret that we are now Washington residents. Seattle is a rich man's Portland. You know of course about the four per cent sales tax..."

A man who moved to Washington state wrote: Best regards to young Mark (Governor Hatfield)—long live the state income tax and cussed by the 4 per cent sales tax, 10 cent per pack cigarette tax, 10 cent per gallon sales tax, and $25 auto license fee."

And a Klamath Falls businessman who had warned his employees to prepare for a many-day session because the tax auditor was coming, wrote: "In addition to being a most pleasant fellow, he finished his work in 20 minutes. To top it all off he found we were entitled to a refund of about $50. I just had to tell you you have a damn nice fellow working for you and he is welcome any time in our office."

Of the 102 West Points who re-entered Union army service at the start of the Civil War, 51 became generals.

KENO AIRMAN OF MONTH — A2C Joe H. Smith, radar repairman, receives from Lt. Col. Martin P. Alger, commanding officer of the Keno Air Force Station, a check in the amount of $25 and a three-day pass upon his selection as Airmen of the Month for November. A native of Anniston, Ala., Smith came to Keno in September, 1962, and resides at 2693 Radcliffe Avenue.
