

Lamb Project Raises Funds For Boy Scouts

A project to raise money for the Modoc Area Council of the Boy Scouts by selling lambs has been termed a "success."

The council said 47 lambs were donated by members of the Klamath County Sheep Producers Association, then fattened and sold, mostly to scout families and friends.

The project is expected to raise about $700 for the council by the time the last sheep is sold. Only nine are left.

Feed was sold at cost to the scouts by the Pine Grove Pellet Mill and veterinarians O. E. Riker and Dave Olney donated their services to the project.

Dorman Turner and Bryant Williams headed the project, the first of its kind to be conducted locally.

Lee Display Wins Prize At Alturas

ALTURAS—Dorothy Carstens, president of the Alturas Garden Club, announced the winners of the Alturas city outdoor Christmas lighting contest on Tuesday morning, Dec. 24.

The contest was sponsored by the garden club and prizes were awarded by the Pacific Power and Light Company.

Prizes totaling $125 were given in the six divisions.

The sweepstakes honor as the most outstanding outdoor decoration in town was won by the Bill Lees. The Lee home decoration was an outdoor Nativity scene designed and built by Mrs. Lee and Mrs. Don Coonse.

Other winners were:

Room—first, George Kormier; second, Donald Coonse, Window—first, Sandy Allan; second, Drace Fountain, Door—first, James Hinchey; second, George Kormier, Yard—first, Paul Ash; second, John Wistos.

Combination—first, Bess Van Horn (combination of roof and yard); second, Ralph Laird (combination of yard and window). Commercial windows—first, Harold's Frosty Stand; second, Modoc Co-op.

Judging of the 27 entries in the outdoor lighting contest was done Sunday and Monday evenings, Dec. 22-23. Judges selected by the garden club stated that the final decision was delayed a day because of the outstanding entries and difficulty in making final placings.

Soviet Test Fallout Hit Enterprise

WASHINGTON (UPI)—The nuclear-powered supercarrier Enterprise—the world's largest ship—was contaminated by radioactive fallout from Russia's 1961 atomic tests in the atmosphere, but there was "no real danger to health."

A Navy doctor, Lt. Cmdr. Lewis H. Seaton, reported on the Enterprise's "problems" in an article abstracted in the current Navy Medical News Letter.

In commenting on the doctor's report, the Navy said that the background radiation levels aboard the Enterprise were similar to increases detected at various times by the Navy's radiological defense laboratory in San Francisco following atmospheric testing.

Seaton said that rainstorms washed fallout from the sky contaminating some external areas of the Enterprise with 10 to 20 times the amount of allowable radiation for the nuclear power plant compartment.

The Enterprise was at the Newport News, Va., shipyard at the time, the Navy said, adding that no other ships had reported such increases in radiation. Apparently this was because the Enterprise, being nuclear-powered and heavily equipped with radiation sources for medical, radar and other purposes, has intensive monitoring programs. Conventionally powered ships do not.

Program Attracts Big Crowd

PORT ROCK — A record crowd attended the annual Port Rock School Christmas program presented the evening of Dec. 19. The Christmas story was told in pageant, documented by Scripture and songs.

"Why the Chimes Rang" added to the meaning of the observance, with some 50 children joining in the presentation.

Enrollment at Port Rock School includes Christmas Valley residents. Teachers are Mrs. Freda Thayer and Mrs. Evelyn Rice. They were assisted by Mrs. Ralph McAllister, who was accompanist for the program.

Treats were distributed by Ralph McAllister as Santa and gifts were provided by the Port Rock Grange and the Community Sunday School. Coffee was served by the PTA.

School room parties were events of Dec. 20, prior to dismissal for the holidays.

CABINET OFFICERS ELECTED — A new three-member Horizon Club cabinet was elected Dec. 11 to serve as the planning board for inter-group activities of older Camp Fire Girls. Holding the top offices for six months are, from left, Nancy Clark, president; Linda Storey, vice president, and Paula Tucker, secretary. Future plans to be mapped out include a conference for Southern Oregon girls; a trip, possibly to San Francisco, the Grand Canyon, or Yellowstone Park, and a reception for eighth grade girls in May. The Camp Fire Horizon Club consists of freshman through senior high school girls.

Long Economy Effort Paying Off, Byrd Feels

WASHINGTON (UPI)—For 30 years Harry Flood Byrd, the senior senator from Virginia, has been wielding the economy ax on Capitol Hill. This year, he feels, it finally paid off.

The 76-year-old conservative Democrat views as most significant the action of Congress this year in whittling down foreign aid spending from the $4.5 billion originally sought by the late President Kennedy to $3 billion.

"This is the first time in a long time I have seen Congress really cut spending," Byrd said. "The people back home really have been speaking this time, and they were heard up here, I believe."

Byrd, now in his sixth full term as senator, regards federal budget deficits as akin to sin. As chairman of the powerful tax-writing Senate Finance Committee, he occupies a key position in President Johnson's plans for early action next year on the priority $11 billion tax cut bill.

Bid Won By Modoc

Modoc Lumber Company was high bidder on the Haystack timber sale conducted by the Winema Forest on Dec. 23, with a high bid of $37,300. The volume in the sale was 12,800,000 board feet, and the appraised value was $319,515.

Other bidders were Klamath Lumber and Box Company, Inc. and Thomas Lumber Company.

This is the final Winema Forest sale for calendar year 1963, and brings the sold volume to an approximate total of 112,000,000 board feet for the year.

Stassen Has Hat In Hand, May Toss It In GOP Ring

PHILADELPHIA (UPI)—Former Minnesota Gov. Harold E. Stassen said Thursday night he is considering running for the Republican presidential nomination at the urging of former President Dwight D. Eisenhower.

Stassen, who had served as Eisenhower's disarmament adviser, said he would decide next month and that he has conferred with Republican leaders of several states. If he throws his hat into the ring, he said, he will make a "vigorous fight for it," entering some of the primaries.

Stassen said he was one of several persons asked by the former President to consider entering the GOP presidential race so that the party can have the widest possible selection.

Barry Accuses Johnson Of 'Arm-Twisting' Tactics

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Sen. Barry Goldwater lost a political haymaker at President Johnson Thursday accusing him of playing "politics with Christmas" on the foreign aid bill.

The Arizona Republican, considered by many as the front-running GOP presidential candidate, accused Johnson of "arm-twisting" members of both the House and Senate during the bitter aid fight.

He said he hopes to be in Washington Monday to vote against the compromise $3 billion aid bill when it comes before the Senate.

In his telegram, Goldwater said he deeply resented "the President's attempt to play politics with Christmas by stampeding votes on the highly questionable foreign aid bill during the holidays."

"Most Americans, I am sure, are appalled to the amount he has demanded and even more, I am sure, are appalled to the use of their tax dollars to guarantee the sale of wheat to the Soviet Union," he said.

The White House back-handed Goldwater's criticism. Asked for comment, Press Secretary Pierre Salinger said, "I guess the senator is running again."

He said he was sure the President, presently spending the holidays at his ranch in Johnson City, Tex., was unaware of Goldwater's statement.

Goldwater made his charges in a telegram to Mark Tice, Senate Republican secretary. The senator is at his home in Phoenix, Ariz., recuperating from surgery to remove a calcium deposit on his right heel.
