Furniture Talk

"HOME FURNISHING IS OUR BUSINESS"

By BOB CUSHMAN

WINDOW TREATMENTS offer you a chance for fresh, individual decorating touches, even after you have solved the basic problems of light control and privacy, through curtains, draperies, shutters, shades, blinds, or whatever you select appropriate to the room.

There is often a problem of furniture placement in relation to large window areas. Most of us don't care to sit with our backs to the window if you do place furniture before the window, avoid too solid pieces. Open-armed or cone-backed pieces, for instance, let the light come through and the view.

One of today's most popular furniture items is the long table or the long low chest designed to fit under a window. Beautiful in themselves, they also provide extra storage (many will house such things as stereo components) and they offer a setting for the display of important accessories and art objects.

In fact, versatile chests — there are beautiful examples in every furniture style — can be one of your most important purchases. Stop in and see the new ideas in our display. One might prove to be an important focal point for your living room, to dramatize a wall or window area.

Church Rites Unite Couple

ALTURAS—Juanita Fay Stanfield and Dolan Ray Ellenberger exchanged vows Dec. 7 at the Church of God, Bieber, Calif. The Rev. Wade Ruby officiated.

For her wedding, the bride chose a ballerina length gown of white lace over taffeta. The bodice was fashioned with a sweetheart neckline and three-quarter length sleeves.

Her shoulder length illusion veil was secured by a crown, and she carried a bouquet of white roses outlined with red poinsettias.

Patsy Auble was her sister's matron of honor dressed in a red taffeta gown featuring a bouffant skirt and elbow length sleeves. A red velvet band with a matching veil, red satin shoes, and a bouquet of red carnations, accented with white poinsettias and white ribbon, completed her ensemble.

Serving as bridesmaids were Bonnie Harper, Adin, Billie Arnold, Nubieber, and Arvada Darnell, a cousin of the bride, also of Nubieber. Their gowns, accessories and bouquets were identical to that of the matron of honor.

Standing as best man was Tommy Ellenberger, brother of the bridegroom. Seating guests were John Mulholland and George Harper of Adin, and Charles McCulley of McArthur.

Prior to the ceremony, Billie Arnold and Arvada Darnell presented musical selections, accompanied by Marjorie Carmichael at the organ.

At a reception in the American Legion Hall in Bieber, Sharon Smelcer and Fern Harper assisted in serving the guests.

A pearl-green dress with black accessories and a white rose corsage was worn by the bride's mother. The mother of the bridegroom wore a two-piece, brown brocade suit and white rose corsage.

For her traveling ensemble, the bride chose a red wool, two-piece suit, with a black fur collar. Her accessories were of black patent.

Following a honeymoon along the coast and the Redwood Highway, the young couple are making their home in Adin.

The new Mrs. Ellenberger is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Sidney Stanfield of Nubieber. She is a 1933 graduate of Big Valley High School.

The bridegroom, son of Mr. and Mrs. Gilbert Ellenberger, of Adin was graduated in 1951

Beauty Tips
from ME to YOU
MARY MARTIN

Eye make-up has become a necessary part of our every-day grooming — for daytime wear pencil in eyebrows making short feathery strokes upward and outward always keeping pencil sharp — apply roll on mascara to enhance the eyelashes. However for evening let yourself go — let color run riot . . . Try two tones of eyeshadow—pastel and metallic for example . . . For a striking eye accent, draw a silver streak across the roof of your upper lashes and add a pastel shade above it for a luminous look. White eye shadow, used alone, will make your eyes look larger and almond shaped also emphasizing the whites and making the color of your eyes more outstanding.
