Negro leaders in Selma, Ala., called for a lull today in a voter registration drive that has resulted in the arrest of 200 persons while attorneys bring court action at Mobile.

The court action seeks to find Dallas County Sheriff James Clark and others in contempt for interfering with the drive in violation of a federal court order.

Twenty-four more persons were arrested at Selma Wednesday in a dispute over how many persons could stand in the voter registration line at the courthouse in accordance with an order issued Saturday by federal Judge Daniel H. Thomas.

FDA Acts To Eliminate Drug Contamination

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Food and Drug Administration (FDA) said today it had found penicillin "contamination" in some drugs. It was taking steps to prevent possible harmful reactions in persons allergic to the antibiotic.

Manufacturers of pharmaceutical supplies are being ordered to call back any contaminated products, the announcement by Food and Drug Administration (FDA) Director George P. Larrick said.

Larrick said drug producers were also being required to redesign their facilities where necessary to prevent future contamination.

Although penicillin is an effective antibiotic to most persons and is beneficial in prescribed quantities, it can be harmful, even fatal, to some persons who are hypersensitive to it.

A spokesman for the Pharmaceutical Manufacturers Association (PMA) said the new FDA regulations, which industry has expected, could bankrupt many of the several hundred smaller manufacturers who make penicillin.

The FDA orders were to be published Friday in the Federal Register. Larrick said the steps were recommended by an advisory committee of doctors called to evaluate the problem of penicillin contamination.

The FDA order said injectables should not contain 0.05 unit or more of penicillin for each maximum single dose.

An FDA spokesman said inspectors are already making spot checks of drugs for such contamination. He added, however, it was hoped the industry would call back voluntarily any batches contaminated beyond the limits set in the order.

3 Tests Slated On Spacecraft

EL CENTRO, Calif. (UPI) — Three tests of Gemini spacecraft escape and recovery equipment were scheduled here today in preparation for the twin orbital flights of astronauts Virgil (Gus) Grissom and John W. Young next week.

Astronauts Al Bean and James Lovell planned to watch the three separate tests at the parachute test facility at this Navy desert base in the imperial valley.

The three tests by the National Aeronautics and Space Administration (NASA) involved the dropping from planes of Gemini astronaut personal parachutes, a Gemini ejection seat, and a Gemini capsule.
