Organized Labor Readies Big Guns For Compensation Revision Battle

SALEM (UPI)—The executive secretary of the Oregon AFL-CIO repeated Wednesday that organized labor was going to do everything it could to prevent passage of a proposed workmen's compensation revision bill.
James Marr made the comment in a short appearance before the House Labor and Management Committee. He complained that the committee had failed to act on several labor-backed bills.
"Regardless of anything else that happens, (injured) workers are entitled to substantial increases in benefits," Marr said. "The injured worker and the small and medium-sized employer have become the forgotten people of this bill."
Likewise, he is not a member of the committee said he agreed with the comments of former Gov. Charles A. Sprague, who said "one has the feeling that the chief proponents are the big industries and the private insurance companies."

Other Highlights
Political Parties—Rep. Phil Land, D-Portland, announced he would introduce a bill to allow state committees to select party delegates to national conventions.
Redistricting—Rep. Robert Packwood, R-Portland, said his committee would take no more action on congressional redistricting until enough sentiment developed for one plan to send it to the House floor.
Elections—Failed was a bill which would have prevented a loser in a federal primary election from running for a different office in the general election.
Governor—Gov. Mark Hatfield has asked Congress to approve funds for rehabilitating migratory fish passage facilities at Willamette Falls. The $1.6 million plan would be paid by the department of Interior budget.

Oregon Man Sentenced To Death For Murder

WORLDWIDE, Wyo. (UPI)—Andrew Pickley, 21, of Dallas, Ore., was sentenced to death Wednesday night for the rape-murder of a young Maywood, Ill., girl. The part-time dishwasher laughed when Judge Donald H. McCallister set May 3 as the execution date.
"Laugh some, you animal," yelled Robert A. DeLoach, attorney for the slain girl, Deborah McCallister, 12. Then McCallister slapped his wife who had cried repeatedly through the trial.

Verdict Reached
A 12-member jury deliberated more than three hours before reaching the verdict. Pickley had pleaded guilty to slaying Deborah. The jury had been sequestered since Aug. 7.
