

Good News For Prizeword Fans: Jackpot Now $975

- SEE DETAILS PAGE 5

Herald and News

KLAMATH FALLS, ORE., FRIDAY, FEBRUARY 5, 1965
Price Ten Cents—14 Pages Telephone 834-8111 No. 7209

...bills for
...go along
...the econo-
...gets Mr.
...vator just
...ing shut.
...ons sur-
...and war on
...aroused
...sink in
...which would
...years of
...accumulate
...an years.
...ne but the
...been esti-
...$15 billion
...the present

...? But a
...the federal
...ment is
...how can
...And ev-
...in fact,
...nothing at
...ything at

...an under-
...s voted
...mendment.
...the
...get to the

...ate White
...Department
...only
...votes. Sec-
...s deserted
...side with
...did not vote.
...The re-
...the Tues-
...Bill Green
...dership di-
...against the
...At the end
...the ap-
...ment. A
...and Green
...the
...to end for
...Communist
...Nasser.

...Relations
...ministration
...led a Sen-
...Egyptian
...ocrat lost
...however,
...the focus
...Nasser rolls.
...door com-
...newly re-
...the situa-
...I don't
...ther coup."

...Saigon gov-
...ernment
...has made an
...interesting
...discovery.
...Whenever he
...is stumped
...on any sub-
...ject, and can't
...find the
...answer, or unsure,
...he likes
...to do is to ask
...the readers of

In The Day's News

By FRANK JENKINS
As this is written, the news wires are spewing out their customary quota of words, but the news they are telling at the moment isn't very thrilling. So let's talk about words themselves. They're interesting.

In this space the other day, this writer elected to talk about Grounding Day and its origins, and in the course of the discussion referred to an old Scottish proverb that goes like this: "If Candlemas Day be bright and fair, 'The half of winter has come and mair; 'If Candlemas Day be wet and foul, 'The half of winter was gone at Yule."

This word YULE was a new one so far as this scribe was aware. So he asked this question: "Who knows when and what YULE was?"

The question brought this answer from Mrs. Jean Edgar, of Gilchrist: "Your column this Candlemas Day has intrigued me. The question you asked regarding the origin and meaning of the word YULE was a challenge. I was searched in my (outdated) Webster's Collegiate Dictionary, and found only two words: 1. The sound of the word; 2. The apparent meaning of it. "My first effort led me to the 'E's', for the letter Y has the diphthong sound of SE. U. I found EO, which is a combining form meaning down or day-break. Further down the page, EO was rewarded by Eolan, Eolic. Even further along was this gem: EOS, the goddess of Dawn.

"Turning to the A's, I discovered that Aeonian (aeolic) is a dialect of Aeolic. Curiously enough, over in the Y's is the word YOM, the colloquial English and Hebrew form of DAY. "Could your YOLE be a Scottish corruption (the Scots are fond of the Y sound) of EOL—a Greek form meaning dawn. This seems reasonable, in the light of the meaning of the quotation. "What do you (euh) oo think?"

Well, over the years, this writer has made an interesting discovery. Whenever he is stumped on any subject, and can't find the answer, or unsure, all he needs to do is to ask the readers of

Car Strikes, Injures Boy

An eight-year-old boy was severely injured Thursday afternoon, police said, when he was struck by an auto on Shasta Way as he darted across the roadway.

Handy Paul Matney, 3125 South Sixth, son of Mr. and Mrs. Paul Matney, was listed in "fairly" condition Friday at Klamath Valley Hospital.

The boy suffered a broken left leg, a broken nose and multiple cuts and bruises in the accident. Witnesses told police the boy could have easily been struck had the auto been traveling faster.

School Chiefs Start Henley Job

Aide Talks With Viet Strongman

SAIGON (UPI)—White House aide McGeorge Bundy today met with Vietnamese strongman Lt. Gen. Nguyen Khanh on the second day of a fact-finding mission to South Viet Nam.

Bundy at first was reported to have canceled the meeting with Khanh, commander-in-chief of the South Vietnamese armed forces. But the meeting only was put off for four hours because Bundy was tied up with communications from Washington, sources said.

U.S. Ambassador Maxwell D. Taylor, who sat in on the meeting at Khanh's riverside residence, described the talks as "warm and cordial."

No details were available on when President Johnson's special envoy arrived here Thursday for a full-scale review of the Vietnamese military and political situation. Khanh declined to attend a reception at the U.S. Embassy in a seeming effort to avoid Bundy.

Khanh was invited to a reception tonight at the house of Lt. Gen. William C. Westmoreland, U.S. military assistance commander, but sent his "regrets" again.

No details were available on the hour-long talks between Bundy and Khanh. But Khanh and Taylor are known to have discussed a matter of policy, and the ambassador gave Bundy a complete fill-in during nine hours of talks Thursday.

An American spokesman said the main subject of Bundy's talks with Taylor was the political situation where little progress has been made in the U.S. efforts to install any long-lasting government over a three-month-old civilian regime last month. That was the seventh polling upheaval in Saigon in a 15-month period.

Flood Group To Seek Aid

There will be a meeting of the Upper Klamath River Emergency Flood Relief Committee at the Midland Recreation Hall off U.S. Highway 97 at 7:30 p.m. Sunday, Feb. 7, for all persons affected by the present flood conditions that exist in the Klamath Basin.

Board Sidesteps Con Labor Issue

SALEM (UPI)—The State Board of Control Thursday sidestepped a vote on the explosive issue of labor law.

The board did agree, on a 2-1 vote, to expansion at Oregon Correctional Institution and also agreed to establish an advisory committee on convicts' parole.

At his request, the other agreed to postpone a vote to protect a Ways and Means decision to have the new penitentiary dining hall built by convict labor. McCall said he wanted to discuss the touchy issue with labor leaders next week.

The meeting included nearly two hours of discussion of the board's prison philosophy.

Secretary of State Tom McCall proposed the establishment of the citizens advisory committee. He wanted it formed to advise the proposed department of corrections, Straub and Gov. Mark Hatfield agreed.

But Hatfield suggested the board be organized as a committee on corrections so it could assess the total gross charges of one of the most charmingly positive — the American housewife.

After consulting with economists, accountants, and other thinking machines, a New York bank announced that if the country's housewives got paid for just 12 of their household occupations at the going rate paid other folks for these jobs, their yearly worth would be more than $220 billion.

20 Million Housewives This is figured on the basis of 20 million housewives, each working 90 hours a week. At $159.34 the weekly year's worth would be $2,235.68.

The housewife was called "powerful, though neglected, force in the economy... but not included in our statistics!" her contributions were counted, the Gross National Product "would shoot up more than 30 per cent at around $90 billion."

Another told husbands to consider two resolutions — one on the sale of city property and the other on the purchase of property.

Weather

Klamath Falls, Tulelake and Lakeview — Partly cloudy and warm color with a heavy rain tonight and Saturday. Lows tonight 32-35, high Saturday 38-42. Wind to northeast winds 5 to 10 m.p.h. and gusty.

High yesterday 37
Low this morning 32
High today 38
Low today 32
Low year ago 28
Precip. past 24 hours 0.0
Since Jan. 1 Same period last year 1.9

Estimates Ordered By Board

County school directors Thursday night ordered preliminary plans and cost estimates to be prepared for a major addition to Henley Junior High School.

They ordered architect Murdo Morrison to prepare the estimates for presentation to the regular February board meeting.

Plans will be prepared for a cafeteria, four classrooms, a library, a two-story shop and a principal's office.

It is believed that the addition will house some of the suburban area seventh and eighth graders who are now crowding into Altonam Junior High.

Solution Sought Directors have been seeking a solution to the present Altonam overcrowding problem and the future overcrowding problems that might arise.

Henley Junior High was completed late last year to house junior high students formerly housed in the gymnasium of Henley High School.

The Henley action was taken at a special meeting of county school directors, called to settle a number of issues left over from the January meeting.

Other Action County superintendent of schools, had suggested an addition to Henley Junior High at the January meeting.

In other action, directors decided to order automatic transfers Thursday noon.

The faculty members decided to read the poem to assert their right of intellectual freedom following a controversy over the matter at Central Oregon College in Bend.

House Burns At Merrill

MERRILL—A house owned by Mae Anderson of Klamath Falls was gutted Thursday at 8:15 p.m. when a fire occurred from a minor explosion caused by a leaking oil pipe and oil soaked papers.

Murray Howard, 72, the house tenant, suffered first degree burns on and about his face from the explosion, hospitalization was not necessary.

Howard was treated at the scene of the fire by Dr. D. T. Matthews of Klamath Falls who was in Merrill for a basketball game.

Strong winds hampered the controlling and subsequent extinguishing of the blaze by the Merrill Volunteer Fire Department, causing the firemen to remain on the scene until midnight.

All of Howard's clothing and personal possessions were lost in the fire, it was not known if the house was insured.

The local government would pay the money back after receiving federal reimbursement, or from their shares of gasoline tax allocations.

The action on the reconstruction bill came at the end of a two-hour meeting in which the committee put off action of most of the major bills before the legislature.

The lawmakers did approve recommendations to the amend budgets of the Civil Service Commission and the Employment Suggestion Awards Board and a $750 appropriation for the Rogue River Coordination Board. Those measures now go to the House floor.

Bills Referred But the committee—Referred the bill containing standard it abandoned more than 30 years ago. President Johnson, at a news conference little more than an hour after De Gaulle's, said the already considerable policy rift between France and the United States.

Coming on top of French recognition of Red China and De Gaulle's recent suggestion for "neutralization" of Southeast Asia, it was regarded here as another move in the Paris campaign to undercut U.S. policy in Asia.

It appeared to doom President Johnson's hope for improving relations with France by easing U.S. "pressure" for adoption of a NATO nuclear policy De Gaulle bitterly opposes. Johnson had hoped this relaxation would increase cordiality between the two countries and permit them to stand to disagree more amicably.

Presses Forward But De Gaulle, at his news conference Thursday, pressed forward on two other fronts. In addition to his proposal for Chinese Communist participation in-considering U.N. changes, he suggested that the dollar and pound sterling be scrapped as the basis for international exchange. He said the world should go back to the gold standard.

And the U.S. Treasury Department branded De Gaulle's monetary proposal as a reactionary and unrealistic suggestion contrary to the wishes of the majority of the financial powers in the world.

U.S. Differs On Oil Policy

WASHINGTON (UPI)—President Charles de Gaulle's proposal that Red China be given a voice in "reforming" the United Nations has widened an already considerable policy rift between France and the United States.

Coming on top of French recognition of Red China and De Gaulle's recent suggestion for "neutralization" of Southeast Asia, it was regarded here as another move in the Paris campaign to undercut U.S. policy in Asia.

It appeared to doom President Johnson's hope for improving relations with France by easing U.S. "pressure" for adoption of a NATO nuclear policy De Gaulle bitterly opposes. Johnson had hoped this relaxation would increase cordiality between the two countries and permit them to stand to disagree more amicably.

Presses Forward But De Gaulle, at his news conference Thursday, pressed forward on two other fronts. In addition to his proposal for Chinese Communist participation in-considering U.N. changes, he suggested that the dollar and pound sterling be scrapped as the basis for international exchange. He said the world should go back to the gold standard.

And the U.S. Treasury Department branded De Gaulle's monetary proposal as a reactionary and unrealistic suggestion contrary to the wishes of the majority of the financial powers in the world.

standard it abandoned more than 30 years ago. President Johnson, at a news conference little more than an hour after De Gaulle's, said the already considerable policy rift between France and the United States.

Coming on top of French recognition of Red China and De Gaulle's recent suggestion for "neutralization" of Southeast Asia, it was regarded here as another move in the Paris campaign to undercut U.S. policy in Asia.

It appeared to doom President Johnson's hope for improving relations with France by easing U.S. "pressure" for adoption of a NATO nuclear policy De Gaulle bitterly opposes. Johnson had hoped this relaxation would increase cordiality between the two countries and permit them to stand to disagree more amicably.

Presses Forward But De Gaulle, at his news conference Thursday, pressed forward on two other fronts. In addition to his proposal for Chinese Communist participation in-considering U.N. changes, he suggested that the dollar and pound sterling be scrapped as the basis for international exchange. He said the world should go back to the gold standard.

And the U.S. Treasury Department branded De Gaulle's monetary proposal as a reactionary and unrealistic suggestion contrary to the wishes of the majority of the financial powers in the world.

standard it abandoned more than 30 years ago. President Johnson, at a news conference little more than an hour after De Gaulle's, said the already considerable policy rift between France and the United States.

Coming on top of French recognition of Red China and De Gaulle's recent suggestion for "neutralization" of Southeast Asia, it was regarded here as another move in the Paris campaign to undercut U.S. policy in Asia.

UO STUDENTS PROTEST — Students at the University of Oregon protest the Central Oregon College ban on the poem "Howl" by Allen Ginsberg with a reading of the controversial rhyme at a mass meeting on campus. Some 2,000 students gathered for the reading by UO English faculty in slap at COC President Don Penne's edict. — UPI Photo

Estimates Ordered By Board

County school directors Thursday night ordered preliminary plans and cost estimates to be prepared for a major addition to Henley Junior High School.

They ordered architect Murdo Morrison to prepare the estimates for presentation to the regular February board meeting.

Plans will be prepared for a cafeteria, four classrooms, a library, a two-story shop and a principal's office.

It is believed that the addition will house some of the suburban area seventh and eighth graders who are now crowding into Altonam Junior High.

Solution Sought Directors have been seeking a solution to the present Altonam overcrowding problem and the future overcrowding problems that might arise.

Henley Junior High was completed late last year to house junior high students formerly housed in the gymnasium of Henley High School.

The Henley action was taken at a special meeting of county school directors, called to settle a number of issues left over from the January meeting.

Other Action County superintendent of schools, had suggested an addition to Henley Junior High at the January meeting.

In other action, directors decided to order automatic transfers Thursday noon.

The faculty members decided to read the poem to assert their right of intellectual freedom following a controversy over the matter at Central Oregon College in Bend.

House Burns At Merrill

MERRILL—A house owned by Mae Anderson of Klamath Falls was gutted Thursday at 8:15 p.m. when a fire occurred from a minor explosion caused by a leaking oil pipe and oil soaked papers.

Murray Howard, 72, the house tenant, suffered first degree burns on and about his face from the explosion, hospitalization was not necessary.

Howard was treated at the scene of the fire by Dr. D. T. Matthews of Klamath Falls who was in Merrill for a basketball game.

Strong winds hampered the controlling and subsequent extinguishing of the blaze by the Merrill Volunteer Fire Department, causing the firemen to remain on the scene until midnight.

All of Howard's clothing and personal possessions were lost in the fire, it was not known if the house was insured.

The local government would pay the money back after receiving federal reimbursement, or from their shares of gasoline tax allocations.

The action on the reconstruction bill came at the end of a two-hour meeting in which the committee put off action of most of the major bills before the legislature.

The lawmakers did approve recommendations to the amend budgets of the Civil Service Commission and the Employment Suggestion Awards Board and a $750 appropriation for the Rogue River Coordination Board. Those measures now go to the House floor.

Bills Referred But the committee—Referred the bill containing

Board Sidesteps Con Labor Issue

SALEM (UPI)—The State Board of Control Thursday sidestepped a vote on the explosive issue of labor law.

The board did agree, on a 2-1 vote, to expansion at Oregon Correctional Institution and also agreed to establish an advisory committee on convicts' parole.

At his request, the other agreed to postpone a vote to protect a Ways and Means decision to have the new penitentiary dining hall built by convict labor. McCall said he wanted to discuss the touchy issue with labor leaders next week.

The meeting included nearly two hours of discussion of the board's prison philosophy.

Secretary of State Tom McCall proposed the establishment of the citizens advisory committee. He wanted it formed to advise the proposed department of corrections, Straub and Gov. Mark Hatfield agreed.

But Hatfield suggested the board be organized as a committee on corrections so it could assess the total gross charges of one of the most charmingly positive — the American housewife.

After consulting with economists, accountants, and other thinking machines, a New York bank announced that if the country's housewives got paid for just 12 of their household occupations at the going rate paid other folks for these jobs, their yearly worth would be more than $220 billion.

20 Million Housewives This is figured on the basis of 20 million housewives, each working 90 hours a week. At $159.34 the weekly year's worth would be $2,235.68.

The housewife was called "powerful, though neglected, force in the economy... but not included in our statistics!" her contributions were counted, the Gross National Product "would shoot up more than 30 per cent at around $90 billion."

UO Students Protest Ban On Poetry

EUGENE (UPI)—While hundreds of students listened, a dozen faculty members read the controversial poem "Howl" from the free speech platform at the University of Oregon's Erb Memorial Union building Thursday noon.

The faculty members decided to read the poem to assert their right of intellectual freedom following a controversy over the matter at Central Oregon College in Bend.

The poem was written by Allen Ginsberg, a leader in the so-called "beat" movement of several years ago.

Owen Edwards, one of the dozen who took part in the reading, said, "...we believe the rights of a university's faculty and students to free intellectual, artistic, and political activity, must be respected whenever they are brought into doubt."

Choice Comments Mrs. John Tabbelle of Mantoloking, N. Y., said of the bank figures: "Well, I'd go along with that. But wait... I'd jack it up to $200 a week when I start to think of all these chores around here! ... And quite a few women don't have a car — have to carry the groceries..."

Mrs. John Tabbelle of Mantoloking, N. Y., said of the bank figures: "Well, I'd go along with that. But wait... I'd jack it up to $200 a week when I start to think of all these chores around here! ... And quite a few women don't have a car — have to carry the groceries..."

Mrs. John Tabbelle of Mantoloking, N. Y., said of the bank figures: "Well, I'd go along with that. But wait... I'd jack it up to $200 a week when I start to think of all these chores around here! ... And quite a few women don't have a car — have to carry the groceries..."

Mrs. John Tabbelle of Mantoloking, N. Y., said of the bank figures: "Well, I'd go along with that. But wait... I'd jack it up to $200 a week when I start to think of all these chores around here! ... And quite a few women don't have a car — have to carry the groceries..."

Mrs. John Tabbelle of Mantoloking, N. Y., said of the bank figures: "Well, I'd go along with that. But wait... I'd jack it up to $200 a week when I start to think of all these chores around here! ... And quite a few women don't have a car — have to carry the groceries..."

Legislators Okay Cash For Repair

SALEM (UPI)—A bill making $20 million available for repair of flood-damaged state and local roads was approved by the Ways and Means Committee Thursday.

The measure now goes to the House floor.

It would raise the State Highway Department's expenditures from $415 million for the remainder of this biennium. A $5 million revolving fund also was established for counties and cities, who could draw on it for repair of their road, street or bridge systems.

The local governments would pay the money back after receiving federal reimbursement, or from their shares of gasoline tax allocations.

The action on the reconstruction bill came at the end of a two-hour meeting in which the committee put off action of most of the major bills before the legislature.

The lawmakers did approve recommendations to the amend budgets of the Civil Service Commission and the Employment Suggestion Awards Board and a $750 appropriation for the Rogue River Coordination Board. Those measures now go to the House floor.

Bills Referred But the committee—Referred the bill containing standard it abandoned more than 30 years ago. President Johnson, at a news conference little more than an hour after De Gaulle's, said the already considerable policy rift between France and the United States.

Coming on top of French recognition of Red China and De Gaulle's recent suggestion for "neutralization" of Southeast Asia, it was regarded here as another move in the Paris campaign to undercut U.S. policy in Asia.

It appeared to doom President Johnson's hope for improving relations with France by easing U.S. "pressure" for adoption of a NATO nuclear policy De Gaulle bitterly opposes. Johnson had hoped this relaxation would increase cordiality between the two countries and permit them to stand to disagree more amicably.

Car Strikes, Injures Boy

An eight-year-old boy was severely injured Thursday afternoon, police said, when he was struck by an auto on Shasta Way as he darted across the roadway.

Handy Paul Matney, 3125 South Sixth, son of Mr. and Mrs. Paul Matney, was listed in "fairly" condition Friday at Klamath Valley Hospital.

The boy suffered a broken left leg, a broken nose and multiple cuts and bruises in the accident. Witnesses told police the boy could have easily been struck had the auto been traveling faster.

Police identified the driver of the car as Wesley Roger Smith, 18, 1565 Etha.

Youngster Runs Officers said Smith was driving his 1959 coupe west on Shasta. Smith told police he had seen the boy and another boy walking along Shasta Way and had swung wide to avoid them. Smith said the Matney boy suddenly, and without looking, darted across Shasta Way, near Avalon.

Means Unit Dates Meet

The legislative Ways and Means Committee is scheduled to meet in Klamath Falls Saturday.

The committee is scheduled to discuss state welfare proposals at the welfare commission at 10:30 a.m., lunch at Oregon Technical Institute, four Oregon Tech and stay overnight at Klamath Falls before continuing to Bend Sunday.

The committee is touring Southern Oregon. Klamath County's legislative delegation is expected to attend the meeting here.

What's Wife Worth? ... Bank Puts $159.34 Tag On Woman's Weekly Effort

NEW YORK (UPI) — Dear Bank: Just what do you have in mind?

When you tell a housewife she's worth $159.34 a week are you trying to woo her, coddle her, or stir her to bloodless coup?

One of the most relentlessly altruistic institutions on the national scene, a bank, has this year erected notices aimed at assessing the total gross charge worth of one of the most charmingly positive — the American housewife.

After consulting with economists, accountants, and other thinking machines, a New York bank announced that if the country's housewives got paid for just 12 of their household occupations at the going rate paid other folks for these jobs, their yearly worth would be more than $220 billion.

20 Million Housewives This is figured on the basis of 20 million housewives, each working 90 hours a week. At $159.34 the weekly year's worth would be $2,235.68.

Bank Puts $159.34 Tag On Woman's Weekly Effort

NEW YORK (UPI) — Dear Bank: Just what do you have in mind?

When you tell a housewife she's worth $159.34 a week are you trying to woo her, coddle her, or stir her to bloodless coup?

One of the most relentlessly altruistic institutions on the national scene, a bank, has this year erected notices aimed at assessing the total gross charge worth of one of the most charmingly positive — the American housewife.

After consulting with economists, accountants, and other thinking machines, a New York bank announced that if the country's housewives got paid for just 12 of their household occupations at the going rate paid other folks for these jobs, their yearly worth would be more than $220 billion.

20 Million Housewives This is figured on the basis of 20 million housewives, each working 90 hours a week. At $159.34 the weekly year's worth would be $2,235.68.

Flood Story

A full page of pictures and complete details — of the flooding conditions in the Keno area will be carried in Sunday's edition.

All organizations involved in the flooding problem are being contacted and an advisory staff developed for Sunday's edition.

The local government would pay the money back after receiving federal reimbursement, or from their shares of gasoline tax allocations.

The action on the reconstruction bill came at the end of a two-hour meeting in which the committee put off action of most of the major bills before the legislature.

The lawmakers did approve recommendations to the amend budgets of the Civil Service Commission and the Employment Suggestion Awards Board and a $750 appropriation for the Rogue River Coordination Board. Those measures now go to the House floor.

Bills Referred But the committee—Referred the bill containing standard it abandoned more than 30 years ago. President Johnson, at a news conference little more than an hour after De Gaulle's, said the already considerable policy rift between France and the United States.

Coming on top of French recognition of Red China and De Gaulle's recent suggestion for "neutralization" of Southeast Asia, it was regarded here as another move in the Paris campaign to undercut U.S. policy in Asia.

It appeared to doom President Johnson's hope for improving relations with France by easing U.S. "pressure" for adoption of a NATO nuclear policy De Gaulle bitterly opposes. Johnson had hoped this relaxation would increase cordiality between the two countries and permit them to stand to disagree more amicably.

Gale Pounds North State, Coast Areas

By United Press International

A howling, scullery gale packing winds that reached a gust of 102 miles per hour near Newport, blew into weather-worn Oregon today.

There were widespread power and telephone outages, trees were knocked down and windows were smashed.

At Newport the winds which receded later in the morning, also blew down forms for pouring concrete on the third floor of the courthouse under construction.

Gusts Reported A gust of