School Payment Stand Gladdens KF Officials

Local school officials viewed with cautious elation Friday a report from Salem that the 1965-66 state basic school support payment probably will be $152 per child.

A subcommittee of the Ways and Means Committee decided Thursday to tell local schools boards it can see no change in the proposed $152 payment.

The decision still must be ratified by the full Ways and Means Committee.

The $152 state payment into the basic school fund for each child represents a substantial increase over the 1964-65 rate of $133.

Split Explained

Eighty per cent of the basic fund is paid to local districts on a flat grant basis, determined by each district's school population. The remaining 20 per cent is paid out in state equalization. Only Klamath Union High School District in Klamath County receives state equalization.

Local school officials have been using a flat grant figure of $100 per child in making up their 1965-66 budgets. This figure was supplied by the State Department of Education and has been termed "conservative."

Flat Grant

Last year, with the $133 state payment, local school districts received about $108 per child in flat grants.

If the $152 state payment becomes reality, it would mean a flat grant payment to local school districts of about $120 per child.

And this would mean an additional quarter of a million dollars to the three Klamath County school districts over the $100 per child figure now being used.

Suspect Due To Testify

PRINEVILLE (UPI) — The man accused of the shooting death of cowboy Mac Griffith here last December was expected to take the stand today.

Duane Harvey, 33, charged with second degree murder in connection with the death of the Pilot Rock rodeo rider, was to tell his story of the fighting and shooting of Dec. 16, defense attorney Jim Bodie said Thursday.

Thursday, Bodie stipulated without need for proof from witnesses that a Derringer, a small hand gun, presented in evidence belonged to Harvey and that the bullet found in Griffith's body came from the gun. The gun was found in a tree 28 miles from here, according to witnesses.

Also testifying Thursday was Lt. Manuel Boyes, director of the Portland crime laboratory. He said that a sample of the dead cowboy's blood contained .23 alcohol by weight, enough to make a person hard to handle.

The prosecution rested its case shortly after noon.

Bodie said his defense of Harvey will contain four parts, including self defense and acting to prevent bodily harm to another.

Ex-Resident Succumbs

Funeral services will be held at Lodi, Calif., Saturday morning, Feb. 6, for Mrs. Marian Reeves, 44, of Woodbridge, Calif., a former resident of Klamath Falls. Mrs. Reeves died during surgery in a Redwood City hospital Feb. 3.

Survivors include the widower, George, sons, Ronald and Douglas of Woodbridge; a daughter, Ruby Light, Lackland Air Force Base, Tex.; a brother, Blake Willard, Klamath Falls; three sisters in Arizona and a brother in California; also one grandson.

Mr. and Mrs. Blake Willard, 2311 Kane, and Mr. and Mrs. Ed Reeves, 1505 Avalon, this city, will attend the services.

KUHS Group To Attend Salem Talks

A delegation from the Klamath Union High School District and the city elementary school district will attend next Tuesday's hearing on the unified school district bill in Salem, making a plea for inclusion of county equalization in the bill

Superintendent of Schools Ray Hunsaker said he and the elementary board member, Ted Hyde, will attend the hearing for sure, and other local board members may attend.

Hunsaker said he will describe the effects of the present bill on Klamath County. The bill would convert the Klamath Union High School District into a unified school district educating grades 1-12.

Hunsaker said he will describe the severe financial effects of the bill on Klamath County and suggest that county equalization be included.

With county equalization, Hunsaker said, the financial effects would be less severe.

The county school district has taken no stand on the bill.

Police Nab 4 Youths For Liquor

A city policeman Thursday afternoon arrested four youths for being minors in possession of liquor after stopping their car—but two of the boys fled and one was still being sought Friday.

The two youths who did not flee, Harry Dell Anderson, 18, Tulelake, and Gary Dean Snyder, 19, Merrill, were booked at city jail.

One of the two boys who ran was later arrested at a downtown market. He was identified as Jack Dean Hibdon, 18, Merrill.

The policeman said he had received a report of a carload of boys who had been drinking.

Car Stopped

He said he spotted the 1948 auto on Martin Street and South Sixth at 5:30 p.m.

The officer said he smelled alcohol as he approached the car and spotted beer bottles inside. He said he then told the four youths they were under arrest.

At that point, the policeman reported, one of the boys—identified as Hibdon—jumped from the car and ran. The driver of the car followed him.

The policeman held the two remaining youths — Anderson and Snyder — and booked them at city hall.

Call Received

Two hours later, police received a call from a downtown market that a youth was using the telephone there without permission, calling Merrill. The report said the youth was talking about two companions being arrested.

Police arrested Hibdon at the market.

None of the three youths would tell police the name of the missing driver. Police found two half bottles and several spilled bottles of beer in the car.

Fall Injures Worker's Back

Lee Hobbs, 26, 705 Wocus Street, suffered a possible back injury Friday morning when he fell while working on the green chain at Weyerhaeuser Company.

A Weyerhaeuser spokesman said an investigation into the accident was underway and no other details were available.

Hobbs was taken to Klamath Valley Hospital by Peace Ambulance. His injuries were not believed serious.

Crash Victim Just Asleep

Oregon State Police Thursday received a report that a motorist was killed when his automobile was wrecked as the result of a blowout near Lake Abert. Officers found the victim lying beside the damaged car, but very much alive.

The motorist, uninjured, had contacted a wrecking company crew and then went to sleep while awaiting its arrival. Another motorist observed the sleeping man next to the wrecked car and reported that he was dead.

Modoc Chamber To Move To Historical Building

ALTURAS — The Alturas Chamber of Commerce manager, Bruce Fox, announced Wednesday that the Modoc County chamber offices will move March 1 to new headquarters on the corner of Main and Carlos streets.

The new office will be in the historical Lauer Building that was built in 1874 from rock quarried near here. The Lauer Store was one of the first general merchandise stores to be opened and was in operation until the 1900s.

The chamber will lease 1,800 square feet of the ground floor and plans are to restore it with historical pieces typical of the 1800s.

"The new offices will give the chamber of commerce in Modoc County much needed office space and also has room for future development of a modoc County historical museum. This building, steeped in the history of Modoc County, will be a fitting setting for our offices which wish to point out to all visitors the historical significance of our pioneer county and will be an excellent base for the promotion of our county-wide program for the prosperity of Modoc," Fox said.

"The move has been given 100 per cent approval by the Modoc County Board of Supervisors, the Alturas City Council and the directors of the chamber of commerce. In fact it has met with more enthusiasm than the board members and I had ever hoped for." Fox continued.

U.S. To Up CD Facility In Klamath

The U.S. Army Corps of Engineers has proposed that the County Civil Defense facility at the Courthouse be improved at a cost of some $3,300 to the federal government, Jim Watson, county civil defense director, told the Herald and News Friday.

The proposed improvement work is in line with government policy for increasing protection against possible nuclear attack at its various warning points located throughout the nation. A warning point is a civil defense center which has a direct telephone line linking it with the Air Defense Command at Colorado Springs, Colo. Klamath Falls is one of 10 such stations in Oregon included on the Air Force hot line.

Funds have already been allocated by the corps for the project, which is still under study by the County Board of Commissioners, Watson said. Under the proposed agreement, the army engineers would have installed in the civil defense office, at the basment of the courthouse, an extension telephone to the hot line located at the county jail.

In addition, engineers would install an emergency generator provided by the corps as well as an emergency ventilating system. The necessary wiring, lighting, switches, fuel storage tanks and other items would also be provided at the expense of the government.

If approved by the Board, the corps would also erect a five-foot high wall, three feet wide, in front of the basement windows of the CD office. The wall would be set back three feet from the building. All equipment would remain the property of the government on loan to the county.

The improvement work is to be performed by private contractors who are to bid on the project, Watson said. Upon payment by the government, the county is to transfer title of ownership for the equipment to the State Civil Defense Director at Salem.

Estimated cost of various phases of the project follow:

Construction of five-foot high wall, $1,200; furnishing and installing emergency generator, $1,100; same for ventilation system, $200; miscellaneous expense, wiring, switches, etc., $800.

The county would be responsible for all work and services performed in the operation of the protected area.

Workshop Okayed

Directors approved the sending of one member of the district administration to a workshop on disadvantaged children July 26-Aug. 6 in Salem.

They also approved the hiring of former district clerk Dale Goode on a part-time basis to help with preparation of the 1965-66 school budget. The first public meeting on the proposed budget is scheduled Feb. 20.

Cyclist Hurt In Collision

A 16 - year - old motorcyclist was slightly injured Thursday evening in the collision of his machine and an auto on East Main Street.

Police said the youth, Jimmy Harold Dill, 1640 Summers Lane, received a scraped leg in the crash.

They cited him for failure to keep his vehicle under control.

Police said Dill was attempting to pass a car on East Main, near Wantland, when the auto turned left into a service station, and the vehicles collided.

The second driver was identified as Edward Conrad Keys, 44, 1972 Fremont, who told police his turn signal was on before he started to turn.

No Change Predicted In Basic School Aid

SALEM (UPI)—A Ways and Means subcommittee decided Thursday to tell local school boards it did not foresee a change in the planned basic school support payment of $152 per census child for the 1965-66 fiscal year.

The advice, proposed by Rep. John Mosser, R-Beaverton, still must be approved by the full Ways and Means Committee.

The lawmakers took the stand despite a warning from the Portland School Board that it was opposed to any further increase in basic school support unless changes were made in the distribution formula. The payment was $133 per child for the 1964-65 fiscal year.

Under questioning from Mosser, Board Member John C. Beatty said Portland might attempt to have legislation introduced which would cut the amount of money which could be distributed to local districts.

Eighty per cent of the money distributed to the schools is in the form of flat grants, but 20 per cent is set aside for equalization, to help districts with low taxable property value.

Effort Made

Beatty said the Portland board, which gets none of the equalization money, "is making a concentrated effort to arrive at a more equitable formula." He hinted there was substantial backing around the state for such a move.

He asked the subcommittee to delay action on Mosser's motion for two weeks to give supporters of a new formula time to try to win approval in the house education committee.

However, Chairman Carrol Howe, R-Klamath Falls, said he planned no hearings on the subject for at least a week, and Mosser told Beatty "I think you're an awful long way from having the number of votes you need to do anything about this in two weeks."

Mosser pointed out the State Department of Education must advise local boards of the probable support payment by March 1, and to change the formula after that time would confuse school budgets all over the state.

Invariably, they come through with the facts. Or, at least, with an interesting and plausible answer.

Incidentally, here is another lead as to the possible origin and meaning of this word YOUL.

Could it not possibly have come from the word YULE—which is an old name for the Christmas season. The term YULE comes from the Anglo-Saxon word for the months of December and January.

The months of December and January come near the middle of the normal winter season.

So—

Maybe—
