South was probably the most embarrassed player in the U.S. team trials for the World Championship when he found himself declarer at three clubs.

West's one-pace opening was a proper 11-pointer since he had little or bid any more spades and North assumed that his partner had a lot of clubs and nothing in the other suits.

South returned to dummy with a heart and led a second club. This produced the queen, king and ace of spades. West returned the king of trumps in order to clear that his side might not even be in the suit. South took that club trick and led a second heart for South to ruff.

Now West drew the last trump with the king and proceeded to cash three more heart tricks for down only one, but a loss of 11 International Match Points because every North-South pair played four hearts and South was in.

West was confused but not confused enough to either doubt or change his bid.

South used to poor North vulnerable overcalls by his partner and South felt that his opponents could almost surely make four spades. It appeared that his king of spades was right under the guns and South decided to confuse matters by bidding three clubs. He succeeded admirably.
