Marriage Void For 'Dead Ringer'

OMAHA, Neb. (UPI) — The beautiful Omaha wife of "dead ringer" John (Fritz) Johnson is expected to take action to have their marriage annulled in the next few days.

That action was announced Tuesday by Johnson's Omaha attorney, Harry Farnham. Fritz would not comment, saying "anything I have to say will come from my attorney."

Farnham said Mrs. Johnson is taking the action because both she and Fritz have realized their marriage is void under Nebraska law. He said both the pretty 24-year-old model and her flamboyant husband realize he is still legally married to an Akron, Ohio, woman.

The Ohio woman, Mrs. Lawrence Bader, declined to comment on the proposed annulment. Her husband disappeared on a Lake Erie fishing trip in May of 1957 and was declared legally dead in 1960.

Fritz was recognized and identified as the missing man while he was attending a sports show in Chicago. Since then, he has steadfastly denied any knowledge of any former life in Ohio. However, fingerprints indicated that he and the missing man are one and the same.

New Jersey Police Smash Plush Teenage Gambling Casino

HAWORTH, N.J. (UPI) — It appeared to be just another home in a well-to-do neighborhood but hundreds of dollars changed hands in the basement where teen-agers had crowded behind gambling tables in a Las Vegas atmosphere.

Police Chief Gaston Michel disclosed Tuesday that his men had broken up the plush gambling casino, operated by three teen-agers and catering to a teen-age clientele. An anonymous tip, apparently from the parent of a youth who fell too far into debt, led police to stakeout the home on Feb.10.

There was nothing suspicious about the brick and frame slate gray house—a $40,000 split-level home with a spacious lawn.

Michel said the casino operated one night a week under strict security measures. Two cars of 1952 vintage were used to pickup the young clients and bring them to the home.

The driver stopped the car at the garage door and honked the horn twice, Michel said. Someone in the house then pushed a button to open the doors. Inside, the players identified themselves over an intercom system before they were admitted. Then the car backed out and went to pick up other customers.

Red and blue spotlights illuminated the gambling room. A croupier in black tie greeted the players and led them to a three-section dice table covered with pink felt. Michel said the table was marked with lines and betting odds in a professional manner.

More than 50 boys gambled in the casino while their parents "thought they were out skating or sledding," the chief said. They ranged in age from 15 to 17. One won up to $300 and another was in debt for $192.

"I was shocked," Michel said when he announced that the gambling operation had been smashed.

Arrested in the raid Sunday were the adult owners of the home, Mr. and Mrs. Oscar Olsen, and their maid, Mrs. Minnie Chatham. Three teen - age bankers, one the son of the Olsens, who allegedly split the take were held for juvenile court action.
