BASE CHAPEL KINGSLEY FIELD

William A. Thoresen
Protestant Chaplain

Francis J. Bortos
Catholic Chaplain

To provide for the spiritual needs of personnel in the armed services, the churches of America provide clergymen to serve as chaplains. At the present time, there are over 1,100 chaplains serving on active duty in the United States Air Force.

At Kingsley Field, there are two chaplains assigned to serve the base and four smaller sites in Oregon and northern California. In addition to conducting the religious program of his major faith group, each chaplain performs many other duties in training, counseling and advising military personnel and their dependents.

The chaplains share the same facilities for their worship, educational, service and social activities. The Base Chaplain is responsible for coordinating these activities and scheduling use of the chapel, the chapel annex and the religious education building.
