Wife Held By Police In Shooting

A 27-year-old Klamath Falls woman was lodged in the city jail early Sunday in connection with the shooting of her husband, Lewis Gibbons, 205 West Oregon, following an argument at the family residence, city police have disclosed. The victim received outpatient treatment at Klamath Valley Hospital for hip and leg wounds he sustained from two shots fired from a single-shot .22 caliber rifle, officers stated.

The district attorney's office reported that city police are to sign a complaint sometime today formally charging Mrs. Gibbons of assault with a dangerous weapon.

Officers, summoned to the shooting by Mrs. Gibbons, observed the victim sitting in a cab in front of his home and arranged for his transfer to Klamath Valley Hospital. Inside the dwelling, they found two men sleeping on the floor and Mrs. Gibbons sobbing, "I shot him. I shot my husband. I shot Corky."

Gibbons declined to comment on the shooting.

G. Bailey Death Told

Grant William Bailey, 67, former instructor at Oregon Technical Institute, died at Klamath Valley Hospital March 28, following a two-week illness.

Mr. Bailey, who was retired, was stricken at home with a ruptured aorta. He had not been previously ill. The family came to Klamath Falls in 1947 and he served as a mechanics instructor at OTI for 13 years. He was a native of Waldon Grove, Mo. On June 10, 1937, he was married in Corvallis to Wanda St. John. He was a member of the Corvallis Lodge, No. 1413 BPOE. The family home is at 1968 Earl.

Funeral services will be in O'Hair's Memorial Chapel at 10:30 a.m. Wednesday, March 31. Elks graveside services will be held later in Oak Lawn Cemetery, Corvallis.

Survivors include the widow, Wanda of Klamath Falls; son Gerald, Dixon, Calif.; daughter, Betty Jean DeSanti, Hayward, Calif.; mother, Mrs. Myrtle A. Bailey, Eugene; brother, Harold N. Bailey, Roseburg; sister, Mildred Isabell Calder, Eugene; also six grandchildren.

Earl Coble Succumbs

Earl Russell Coble, 60, a resident of Klamath County since 1937, died March 27 in Ponderosa Nursing Home following a long illness.

He was a native of Cedar Creek, Mo., born April 26, 1904, to Mr. and Mrs. Walter Coble. After coming to Klamath Falls he was employed in the logging industry by Kesterson Logging, Cranes of Bly, and Barclay Logging of Sisters, Ore.

He is survived by son, Eddy Coble, daughters: Carolyn Hirschbock and Glenda Coble, also four grandchildren, all of Klamath Falls; mother, Allie Coble of this city; brothers: Walter Lee Coble, Houston, Tex., Capt. Don R. Coble, U.S. Army; Hobart Coble, Oakland, Calif.; sisters, Mrs. Gennie Hunter and Nadine Baraboo, both of this city; Blanche Barr, Denver, Colo.; Elsie Dysart and Thelma Degon, Sacramento, Calif.; and Geraldine Coble, Portland, Ore.

Funeral services will be at 2 o'clock Tuesday at Ward's Funeral Home, concluding services at Eternal Hills Memorial Gardens.

Pallbearers are Mel Crompacker, Kenneth Collin, Erwin Brower, Granville Herr, William Hireshy, and Don Kissee.

Supreme Court Rules For Temporary Lockout

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Supreme Court held today that employers may resort to temporary lockouts to strengthen their bargaining position in union negotiations.

The ruling broadened an employer's right to shut down his business and lay off workers to bring pressure for reduction of union demands.

Six justices joined in the decision. Three others concurred in the finding in the case but said the court went too far in authorizing the use of the employer weapon in bargaining.

In another case, the court also strengthened employer rights to use lockouts when a union tries a "whipsaw" strike aimed at one firm in a multi-employer bargaining unit.

This case involved six grocery stores in Carlsbad, N.M. The court held that the single struck employer and five other firms had a right to hire temporary replacements to work during the walkout.

The decision said this counteraction was justified to preserve the companies' united front and avoid succumbing to union divide-and-conquer tactics.

May Close Business

In a third major labor case, the court decided that an owner has a right to close his entire business for any reason he wishes but said he cannot shut down just part of the operation for anti-union purposes.

This 7-0 ruling involved the Darlington, S.C., Manufacturing Co., which closed its mill in 1956 after a majority of workers voted to be represented by the AFL-CIO Textile Workers Union.

The National Labor Relations Board (NLRB) found both the Darlington Co., and Deering-Milliken, Inc., guilty of an unfair labor practice. The 4th U.S. Circuit Court of Appeals overruled the NLRB.

The Supreme Court sent the case back to the NLRB for further consideration and made it plain that if the Darlington plant is part of the Deering-Milliken operation, the closing would probably be found an unfair labor practice.

In other rulings today, the Supreme Court:

—Declined to grant a hearing to a San Pedro, Calif., dishwasher who was compelled by a judge to submit to sterilization rather than go to prison for non-support of his children. The man involved, Miguel Vega Andrada, appealed to the high court after the California Supreme Court refused to hear his case.

—Agreed with a lower court decision that the President may postpone action on bills passed by Congress if he is out of the country. Ordinarily a President must either sign, veto or let a bill become law without his signatures within 10 days after a measure is sent him by Congress.

—Agreed to decide whether private leased wire customers are entitled to refunds because of delays created by law suits in putting reduced rates into effect. The case involves a group of meat packers, the American Telephone & Telegraph Co., and Western Union.

—Affirmed orders requiring lower railroad freight rates on grain received from barges at Mississippi River ports.

Prisoner Dies In Cell

A 44-year-old Wyoming man died in his cell at the Klamath County jail about 2:50 a.m. today, after he was transferred here from the Chiloquin jail where he suffered an epileptic seizure, the Herald and News has learned.

Dead is Ray Lavere Howell, Kemmerer, Wyo., who was observed driving eratically near Collier Park about 11 p.m. Saturday, and arrested by Oregon State Police for driving while under the influence of alcohol.

He was lodged in the Chiloquin jail where he became stricken and then was transferred to Klamath Falls where treatment was more readily available, Oregon State Police reported.

Reliable sources said that Howell had consumed coffee and doughnuts in the jail dining facilities and then retired to his cell about midnight before his death.

Several hours later a cell mate heard him gasp and upon investigation found that Howell had succumbed. An autopsy was scheduled for later today.

Two Youths Held In Auto Theft

Two Klamath Falls youths have been taken into protective custody by juvenile authorities in connection with the theft of an automobile belonging to Thomas Applegath, 1505 Canby Street, city police disclosed Monday. Apprehended by police officers Sunday were Michael Wayne King, 16, 2335 Darrow Street, and Michael William Trembley, Rte. 3, Box 1404, who fled on foot after a patrol car officer observed them driving the stolen car southbound on Kit Carson Way about 5:34 a.m., Sunday. The youths abandoned the car and parted company near Esplanade and Eldorado, with the officer pursuing Trembley, operator of the automobile.

The latter, taken into custody moments later, implicated King, who was lodged at the juvenile ward of the city jail later that afternoon. Police records indicate that King admitted involvement in another case of a missing automobile which was reported stolen March 25. In that instance, King told officers that he and another youth took the car to go for "a joyride."

Applegath told police that he left the ignition keys in his automobile about 9 p.m., Sunday and about 3 a.m. the following morning he noted the car was missing from its parking place.

Trembley said later that he and King were walking along the street when they noted the keys in the ignition of Applegath's car. They drove off in the car to have something to do, Trembley told police.

Meet Ready On Budget

The final hearing on the proposed 1965-66 Klamath Falls elementary school district budget will be held at 7:30 p.m. Monday in the school administration building, 475 South Alameda Avenue.

The budget approved by the budget committee calls for total expenditures of $1,401,901, which is an increase over the 1964-65 spending of $1,353,298. However, due to outside income increases, the levy was cut from $924,074 in 1964-65 to $920,797 in 1965-66.

Members of the public will have an opportunity to speak on the proposed budget at Monday night's hearing, the final step before adoption by the school board and publishing of notices for the budget election May 3.

The final hearing on the proposed Klamath Union High School budget will be held next Monday, April 5.

The Salvation Army, founded in London by William Booth, celebrates its 100th anniversary in 1965.

FRESHMEN SIT-IN — Yell leaders of the state champion KUHS Pelicans led student body in yell during pep assembly honoring their state champions at 10 a.m. today. Students sitting on the floor in foreground are Klamath freshmen. A championship parade was scheduled by the student body for 2 p.m. as the Pelicans reveled in their newly-won glory.

KITE FLYING TIME — The winds that plague approaching spring can serve a very useful purpose, as these youngsters find out. Paul Zimmerman, left, 939 Eldorado, and Mark Caldwell, 1304 Crescent, display their prowess as kite flyers, working in the safety of wireless Kit Carson Way park. Flying kites serve as an effective barometer to indicate spring has arrived.

Experiment Sale Noted

A small sale requiring the use of cable yarding equipment has recently been completed on the Chiloquin District of the Winema National Forest. This experimental sale, purchased and logged by Jim Legget, was designed to test the feasibility of logging steep rocky slopes. These areas have been passed over in previous years because of the special logging problems involved.

Legget's experience shows it is possible to log such areas at a reasonable cost. He used a three-quarter yard crane equipped with a boom, and yarded logs up to 400 feet slope distance. Logs were yarded on snow covered ground, which minimized soil disturbance. Damage to young growing trees was very minimum.

The Winema Forest has many acres of ground too steep to log safely with tractors. The development of an economical cable log yarding system will make several million board feet of timber available for sale on this steep ground.
