Search Ended

CADIZ, Spain (UPI)—Spanish authorities called off their search Saturday for the bodies of six persons who were among the 50 killed in a plane crash near the Strait of Gibraltar.

A Danish consular representative said he was informed that the search was canceled after three days without results. About half the crash victims were from Denmark.

Oil Study Begun

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Interior Secretary Stewart L. Udall Saturday ordered a study of the residual fuel oil import program with a view toward eliminating all restrictive controls that presently govern it.

Udall had attempted earlier this week to eliminate the controls over imports to five New England states and Florida. The move aborted in a last-minute legal dispute over whether he had the power to do this. There were varying reports about the role of the coal lobby in the switch.

Quake Kills 250

SANTIAGO, Chile (UPI)—Authorities Saturday placed the official death toll in last Sunday's massive earthquake at 250. The number of bodies recovered was 80.

"To this we must add 170 persons buried at El Cobre as a consequence of the bursting of the El Soldado tailings dam," Undersecretary of the Interior Juan Hamilton told reporters.

Seeks War Halt

MOSCOW (UPI)—Soviet Premier Alexei Kosygin said Saturday night that "all states to whom the cause of peace is dear should actively join the struggle to stop the aggression in Indochina."

Kosygin spoke at a Kremlin dinner in honor of Pakistan President Ayub Khan, who arrived in Moscow earlier in the day on a 10-day official visit.

The official news agency Tass quoted Khan as saying "we have been eagerly looking forward to the visit to the U.S.S.R."

Tax Reprieve

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Taxpayers who would suffer "undue hardship" by paying the government all the income taxes they owe on April 15 will be permitted to pay after the deadline, it was announced Saturday.

Commission Sheldon S. Cohen of the Internal Revenue Service (IRS), said the nation's tax collectors would give "sympathetic consideration" to persons who found they owe extra taxes this year because of payroll under-withholding and are short of cash.

Victory Claimed

WASHINGTON (UPI)—I. W. Abel claimed a clear victory Saturday in the United Steel Workers presidential election and said he would lead the giant union on a more liberal course in the future.

Gun Charges Hold Couple

A Medford man was arrested for carrying a concealed weapon and his wife was charged with pointing a firearm at another person late Friday night following an incident involving them, a .22 pistol and four young men.

Booked at city jail were Archie Dale Richardson, 24, and his wife, Mary Ann, 19.

Police said the four young men were walking on the sidewalk at Ninth and Pine when they became embroiled in an argument with the Richardsons and another man, who were riding in an automobile.

Officers said the four—Richard Yamashiro, Robert Linn, Mike Balaske and Homer Gillfillan—approached the car, and as they did, Mrs. Richardson warned them off with a .22-caliber revolver.

The four reported the incident to police and a patrolman stopped the Richardsons' auto as he was traveling to the scene.

Police said an initial search of the Richardsons' car failed to turn up the gun, but a second search at police headquarters revealed the pistol under the dashboard.

Thieves Hit KF Building

Burglars escaped with more than $500 in cash and checks from the Franklin and Quinn Distributing Company, 1500 Esplanade, Friday night or early Saturday morning.

Police said the building was entered via a small side window and the burglar or burglars pried open the door to an office. An envelope containing $501 in cash and checks was taken, as was another envelope containing an undetermined amount of cash.

Police also investigated the burglary of Don Divens Marine Supply and Sporting Goods, 123 North Spring. This burglary also occurred Friday night or Saturday morning. A back door was pried open and $5 in cash was taken.

flames of controversy and misunderstanding."

The speaker said "While I think it is always good for Republicans to join in facing problems — it should be accomplished under the auspices of the regular party organization."

'No Comment'

Packwood said he had "no comment at all" on the Central Committee action.

The vote of confidence for Smith was not unanimous. Multnomah County Vice Chairman Mrs. Damon Greer said she opposed it "because Smith has made statements that have not helped unify the party."

Smith has been critical of a special committee headed by Packwood and the former secretary of state, Howell Appling Jr., which worked outside the regular party organization last year to get Republicans elected to the Oregon Legislature.

An air of optimism prevailed at Saturday's session. It was revealed the party had a $15,000 surplus, and a near $40,000 budget for fiscal 1965-66 was approved.

Still Life

Smith said "I am amazed at how much life there is in the old elephant. People are anxious to revitalize the Republican party. We have a good basic organization for next year's campaign."

The state group endorsed a resolution calling for passage of SJR 1 by the Oregon Legislature. The resolution petitions Congress to call a convention to amend the U.S. Constitution so state legislatures could consider factors "other than population" in apportioning one House of bicameral legislatures.

The resolution is aimed at the "one man, one vote" U.S. Supreme Court ruling that states had to apportion legislatures on the basis of population.

The Central Committee also noted that the Senate-approved resolution had been sent to Packwood's House Elections Committee on Feb. 24, and that no hearing on the measure has yet been scheduled.

Thirty-one of Oregon's 36 counties sent delegates to the Central Committee meeting. Smith termed it a record turnout of delegates.

mal functions of a heart, with excellent blood pressure.

The heart surgery on the dog was a part of scientific work being done by Baylor and Rice Universities under a grant from the Public Health Service. The eventual goal is to produce an ARTIFICIAL HEART than can safely be implanted in a HUMAN patient.

Question:

Is the time coming when human beings can be kept going more or less indefinitely, like an automobile, by the addition of new parts when the old ones wear out?

In Peterboro, Ontario, (Canada) the other day, police saw a crowd gathering in the street and rushed up to see what it was all about.

They found a man lying on the street. The handle of a knife was sticking out of his bloody-looking shirt. His brother was bending over him anxiously, fear and horror written on his face.

An ambulance was called.

The man was rushed to the hospital where three doctors, alerted by phone, stood by for an emergency operation.

When the victim, groaning in pain, was gently eased onto the operating table and his shirt was opened, the words APRIL FOOL were found written on his chest with tomato juice and cranberry sauce.

In many ways, it's a weird world we're living in.

Wallace Ally Preparing Dynamite Laws

BIRMINGHAM, Ala. (UPI)— mite from its manufacture un-

urday he will support legislation being drawn up by a close political ally to choke off the Birmingham bombers' dynamite supply.

Federal, state and local law enforcement agencies also vowed to continue investigating the latest bombing "until it's solved."

The reward for the capture of the bombers who Thursday dynamited a Negro home and tried to blow up the homes of Mayor Albert Boutwell and City Councilwoman Nina Miglionico rose from $50,000 to $65,000. One anonymous group offered $11,500.

Circuit Solicitor Earl Morgan, Wallace's former executive secretary and longtime friend, was busy with other local officials drawing up legislation to have introduced to the May 4 regular session of the Alabama Legislature. The measure would place strict controls on dyna-

Morgan said he talked with Wallace Saturday by telephone and the governor assured him of "supporting the legislation proposed by the Jefferson County group."

Morgan said Wallace would have his top legislative leaders introduce the measure. House Speaker Albert Brewer and Senate Floor Leader Pete Mathews were expected to introduce and guide the legislation to passage.

Wallace went to Vanderbilt University in Tennessee Saturday, where he told an audience at the university's "forum" series that he had "no apologies to make" for the treatment of Negroes in Alabama. He said they are treated well.

Negro leader Roy Wilkins addressed the forum earlier, and after Wallace's speech Wilkins told reporters that Wallace was [illegible] personality not a racist. Gov. Wallace is part of the system we object to."

Civil rights demonstrators in Camden took a weekend breather and Selma was quiet, as it had been in recent days. Both towns open their voter registration books Monday, but officials say they expect no trouble.

Leaflets were passed out in Selma, Camden, Marion and Tuscaloosa urging a "downtown boycott." The leaflets carried a long as we can't register to vote, we shouldn't buy."

The drive for stiffer controls on dynamite was intensified with the discovery here Thursday of three more time bombs. One, at the home of Negro accountant T. L. Crowell, exploded injuring Crowell's 13-year-old son. A 50-stick bomb at the home of Mayor Albert Boutwell and similar device at the residence of Councilwoman Nina Miglionico were disarmed.

Youth Jailed After Crash

Terry Lee Isabell, 18, of Grants Pass, was charged with attempting to elude an officer early Saturday morning after his auto was trapped in a dead-end street, climaxing a chase by police at speeds up to 55 miles per hour.

A policeman reported he saw Isabell's auto traveling at high speed on Esplanade at 12:10 a.m. Saturday. The officer gave chase with his red light blinking.

The policeman said Isabell turned off his headlights to avoid detection during the chase through residential areas. The policeman clocked Isabell at 55 miles per hour at one point.

The chase ended when Isabell turned onto Hawthorne and was trapped at the street's end.

A teen-age girl with Isabell was released by police.

Crash Hurts Woman, Son

A woman and her son were injured Saturday afternoon in a three-auto, chain reaction pile-up on South Sixth Street at Martin.

Mrs. Naomi Brewer, 47, and her son, Calvin, 12, were taken to Klamath Valley Hospital for treatment of whiplash and head injuries respectively.

Police said they were passengers in a car being driven east on Sixth by John Ira Brewer, 49. The family lives at Mills School.

Officers said the accident developed when an eastbound 1956 coupe driven by David O'Brian Story, 17, 4247 Gary Street, stopped preparatory to making a left turn onto Martin.

Police said the Brewer auto stopped behind Story and was struck in the rear by a third eastbound car driven by Kenneth Edward Free, 18, 137 Mortimer. The Brewer auto jumped ahead into Story's car.

Free was cited for following too closely.

In another accident investigated by police Friday afternoon, a pedestrian, Art Dye, 79, 230 South Eleventh Street, was injured.

Police said Dye was walking across Main Street at Third when he was struck by a station wagon being driven west on Main by Ann Baird, 53, 465 Adams.

Dye complained of back and leg injuries. The auto's driver was cited for failing to yield right-of-way to a pedestrian.
