CHANGE IN PLANS

NEW YORK (UPI) — Conventionally, the living room area is at the front of the house. It might make more sense, though, in many cases, to put it at the rear. The living room should have an attractive view; the front of the house usually faces the street. It also should have privacy; there is generally more privacy at the rear of the house. And the terrace, most often located behind the house, is an ideal place onto which the living room can open. If the same or complementary materials such as quarry tile or ceramic mosaic tile, are used on both the terrace and living room floor, the result will be an impression of comfortable spaciousness.

Honor Roll Reported

PAISLEY—Two senior students, Theresa Murphy and Bob Barricks, topped the honor roll at Paisley High School for the fourth report period with a perfect grade point of 4.00.

Other seniors with high scholastic marks were Dan Thompson, David Brattain, Edna Vernon, Velma Roper and Beulah Blair.

Only one junior was listed: Penny Schmidt. Sophomores on the honor roll were Elaine Foster, Ron Schmidt, Ariel Brattain and Jordan Green; and three freshmen: Linda Goeres, Lola Gerking and Kathy Bagley.
