OREGON JOURNAL TELLS WONDERS OF THIS COUNTY

Description of Klamath county is the almost full page article in last Sunday's Oregon Journal by Marshall N. Dana of that publication.

Dana was here during the county fair and irrigation congress and traveled over a great part of the rich farm lands tributary to this city. He describes the country and emphasizes the great possibilities of the farm areas. He talks of the town too, but he does not compliment it as it is now, though he sees a great future when the city really gets organized to go.

The article is illustrated with characteristic scenes of this section and carries a map showing the irrigated farm areas of the county.

It is a great boost for Klamath and will do a large part in attracting settlers here.

HIGH TEACHERS GUESTS AT FORUM LUNCHEON

The forum luncheon tomorrow will be especially for the teachers of the high school who will be guests of the chamber of commerce. A special program will be given which will include a vocal solo by Miss Eloise McPherson and a violin solo by Miss Catherine Walton and Miss Betty Ramsby as piano accompanist. The chairman of the day will be Rev. T. A. Meryweather.

SHANGHAI HOLDS AGAINST ARMY OF GOVERNMENT

SHANGHAI, Sept. 22.—(United News)—General Lu Yung Hsiang's Chekiang troops still were in control of Shanghai today holding out against the Kiangsu armies which were attacking the city despite the desertions and the great superiority of the enemy forces. There was widely scattered fighting over the weekend. General Chi Hsies Yuas evidently withholding his main forces in the hopes that the defenders would either surrender or abandon Shanghai without further fighting. Lu however, appeared determined to fight to the last and rejected the new appeal of the Shanghai merchants for an armistice.
