WE PROSPER

It certainly is a "grand and glorious feeling," when we hear some speaker tell of the hard times in other parts of the country, to know that Klamath county is enjoying one of the most prosperous years she has ever known.

Within the past week a man speaking to a gathering in the chamber of commerce rooms told of the past year in Montana where over 180 banks failed and where there is practically no business.

We regret to learn of the misfortune of other localities but they certainly emphasize the wealth of Klamath and, with proper publicity, farmers all over the middle west should have their eyes directed this way.

Plenty of water when all else in the West is dry; rich land and bounteous crops with a convenient market; these are the things that make prosperity in these days, and Klamath is prosperous.

One paper from a nearby county seat tells the people that a "building week" has been constructed in that city this year. Building permits in Klamath Falls run from 10 to 30 per week.

Comparisons are not always proof and are quite often undesirable, but compare this county and this city with any other place anywhere and see what reaction you get.

Klamath is extremely prosperous!

JUST FUN

Ardent young professor—Let me teach you how to love.

Fair pupil—How many girls are going to take the course?—Boston Transcript.

"Henry," said his employer sternly, "you didn't expect me back this morning?"

"No, sir," said Henry.

"I suppose you are aware that when I came in I caught you kissing the stenographer?" And his employer glared at him angrily.

"Yes, sir," replied Henry, without blushing, "but, if you remember, sir, you told me to be sure and do all your work while you were away."—Philadelphia Ledger.

Doctor—I see your rheumatism is much improved. Did you use all that liniment I prescribed for you?

Patient—No, Doc; I ain't used any of it. The druggist put on the bottle "For external use only," and I ain't been outside the house yet.

BUSINESS AND THE INCOME TAX

(Grants Pass Courier)

Portland business men are combatting the state income tax and seek its repeal at the coming election in November. After a thorough investigation, it has been found that there has been a big withdrawal of capital from industrial enterprise in Oregon and that much more money will be taken from Oregon industry if the law is not repealed at the coming election.

While the income tax is a good law, Oregon is premature in its application for it undoubtedly works a hardship on the state's business development. Not until the other western states come to the income tax should Oregon allow the law to be effective. Then Oregon industry will not be handicapped in competition with Washington and California, which are already far in advance.

Evansville Courier—Remember how in the good old days a woman "could do anything with a hairpin?"

Fort Worth Record—One way for a man to avoid a second invitation to any house is to leave a burning cigarette parked on the edge of an expensive mahogany parlor table.

Jersey Journal—Everything is against man. By the time he outgrows his taste for green peaches he begins to think he understands women.

St. Louis Star—It has been demonstrated that women are more easily aroused in correcting abuses in party government. They have less sympathy for the shortcomings of officials than men. It consequently is expected that as soon as they get their bearings they will be more insistent upon management in the interest of the community rather than for the party.

OLD CHUMS TO KEEP TOGETHER EVEN IF SICK

HOT LAKE, Ore., Sept. 20.—(United News)—After "running around together" for more than 50 years, A. S. Rutherford and G. L. McGregor, Civil war veterans, aren't going to let a little thing like illness separate them.

When Rutherford was forced to come to the Hot Lake sanitarium here from Ontario, McGregor packed his things and came along. Although he was not in need of treatment, McGregor took a bed next to Rutherford's and the two have continued their happy friendship.

"What's good for one is good for one is good for other," is the way McGregor expressed it.

PORTLAND, Sept. 29.—(United News)—A dissolution of the Oregon Grocer's association was asked in a suit filed today in the federal court by John S. Coke, United States district attorney against the association and individuals of the organization, charging a combination restraint of trade. He also asked for a permanent injunction against price fixing and concerted action to prevent competition in the grocery trade. The defendants include: Lang & Co. Mason Ehrman & Co. Wadhams & Kerr Brothers, Hudson & Gram Co., Wadhams & Co., Allen & Lewis, T. W. Jenkins & Co., M. Sellar & Co., and Marshall Wells Co.

Review of Livestock Market by Federal-State Livestock News Service

For Week Ending Sat. Sept. 27

GENERAL CONDITIONS: Trading on livestock and its products during the week was very ordinary with weakness developing on most all commodities on account of the over-supply of calves on the market for the past ten days. Prospects at close for an exceedingly large carry-over of veal carcasses into next week.

CATTLE: Receipts of cattle totaled about 2,600 which compares with 2,500 a week ago and consisted mostly of Californias with a few loads from Nevada and Oregon. Excessive receipts of western range cattle at most middle western markets during the week indicated a large supply which added no strength to the local situation. Some in the trade believe that it will be a month yet before the bulk of the grass cattle are consumed and any advance in the market noted due to light supply while others contend the supply of cattle will be adequate but make no estimate as to how much are good grade cattle. A little more activity was reported from Klamath Falls section, one large operator in the bay district purchasing a sizeable string of steers, part of which may enter feed lots and others be handled to killing plant. A few loads of fed cattle were received during the week from packers ranches and one concern which is generally long on cattle turned four loads of steers to another section of the market at $7.75, these being from California. A four load shipment of fairly uniform Nevadas figured around this idea while the bulk of the week's unloads were medium cattle which entered the books on a basis around $7.00, $7.25 and numerous other loads were handled to original owners account. There has been a plentiful supply of the lower grades. She-stuff was in liberal supply with the market on this class of material about steady for the week. Good uniform dehorned cows are quotable up to $5.25 but none arrived and the bulk of the fairly well covered cows brought $4.75, $5.00 with numerous loads lots down to the common and canner grade.

CALVES: The calf market has been practically demoralized the entire week, unloads from Arizona, California, Oregon and Nevada for the past three weeks figuring 2,000; 1,500; and 1,400 respectively with liberal hold-overs in coolers from day to day. This supply of good veal but heavy in weight has caused sellers to be on the defensive with declines on the dressed carcasses figuring $2.00, $4.00 per cwt. Some concerns were endeavoring to save losses by skinning the calves, keeping the hides and turning the carcasses to freezer account. A few loads of good 210, 250 lb. calves brought $7.50 but a number of loads were handled on commission or came from packers own ranches in the interior of the state. Prospects at the close of the week were for a curtailment in unloads but the supply in coolers, freezers etc., of dressed calves will be sufficient for a week. Good to choice under 200 lb. veal have been scarce since the bulk of receipts have consisted of good grade range calves averaging over 200 lbs. Heavy calves from 260 lbs. up have been weak account their plentitude.

HOGS: The hog market is steady when compared to last week with the bulk of the larger packer hogs coming from within the state and costing laid down about $11.25, $11.50 and averaging 180, 200 lbs. grading good to choice and yielding 10 per cent more edible pork than Californias. About the top side of the California market is $11 for medium quality hogs and most operators maintain there is no money in them on account of their low yield although it is probable that good to choice grades would bring a little higher figure. A few medium quality 250 lb. hogs brought $10 and smooth packing sows scored $5 with some killers claiming that packing sows are now being held in the country for another crop of pigs.

SHEEP: The lamb market continues steady with good to choice under 75 lb. lambs scarce, some concerns quoting $13.00 as the top on full wools but none were noted at this figure with the bulk of the supply now coming from the islands and carrying considerable weight. These lambs have been weighing 40 lbs. up and are selling dressed about $3.00 per cwt. less than 33, 35 lb. dressed lambs. Most concerns are looking for light lambs but growers seem anxious to hold on anticipating a higher price while operators here state that there are probable more lambs on feed this year in the state than at any time in recent years. Small bunches are reported here and there which in the aggregate may make a supply well on towards the new year. Some Utah feeds are offering lambs on contract for December and January delivery in this market indicating a desire of Utah feeders to market their fed lambs in this state during the winter months. There is an inquiry for good light ewes around $4.50 and yearling wethers around $7.50.
