BOBBITT TALKS TO FULL HOUSE SUNDAY NIGHT

All Seats Taken in Christian Church When Popular Pastor Talks on Vital Issue

Crowded beyond seating capacity was the Christian church Sunday evening when Rev. W. E. Bobbitt delivered his address on "The Strife Between the Ku Klux Klan and the Catholics."

This was the third of a series of lectures having to do with the immigration problems of the country and kindred matters which are now confronting the American people.

Bobbitt handled this rather difficult subject with fairness to both sides, speaking in criticism of both organizations and also in favor of each in some particulars.

The first point stressed was that from all available information the Klan is not primarily or mainly an anti-Catholic organization but is for the purpose of upholding American institutions and traditions and to stand for the enforcement of the laws of the country.

In speaking of the Catholic church Bobbitt said that the loyalty of the members of that organization to their leaders and the obedience to orders from those higher is commendable and the people of other denominations would do well to follow their example in some of these matters.

That Bobbitt sees some hope for the future was made part of the address, he stating that both sides will be compelled to recede from the positions taken to a certain extent and, Bobbitt says, there are indications that this will be done.

The seating facilities of the Christian church will be increased for subsequent lectures which will be given each Sunday evening. Next Sunday the lecture will be on "Was Jesus Sane?" which will answer a statement frequently made that "if Christ was on earth now he would be put in an insane asylum."

Other lectures on popular themes will be given all during the fall and winter.
