BOOTLEGGER IS WORRIED WITH BIG OVERHEAD

SAN FRANCISCO, Oct. 15.—(United Press)—It's not the initial cost—it's the overhead and upkeep that worries the bootlegger.

Peter Firpo, after being arrested for the third time for bootlegging told the federal prohibition agents just that. "You guys won't let me alone long enough to make a stake so's I can throw the game," he told the pro men.

"Every time I get fined, I just naturally got to go back to legging in order to pay the money I borrow to keep out of jail."

RIM ROAD NOT PASSABLE FOR AUTOMOBILES

Recently Attempted Trip Ends As Car Gets Stuck In Drift On Edge of Cliff

Around the rim of Crater lake at this time of the year is not possible for automobiles.

Mrs. D. Anderson of Aspgrove brings this clearly to the attention of the public by a story of an attempted trip on which she was a guest of Mr. and Mrs. John Copeland of Klamath Agency.

While visiting at the Copeland home two weeks ago a motor ride along The Dalles-California highway was taken and, the weather being pleasant, a trip around the rim was thought practical and was attempted.

The party went in by the Sand creek route and turned to the left onto the rim road. The first few miles were fine and no snow drifts struck until well up to the rim. The first of these being small were easily negotiated.

Finally a six-foot drift was encountered and the car buried its front end out of sight. An attempt to back resulted in the rear end of the car going down and the front end coming up. The bucking motion is likened by Mrs. Anderson to the bucking of a horse.

Finally Copeland went on foot to where he had seen a forest ranger working and got him and some shovels and they dug the car out and returned without attempting to go farther.

As the place where the car was stuck in the snowdrift was very near the edge of the rim and the car worked sidewise at times, there seemed danger frequently of the whole outfit sliding into the lake.
