OLD OREGON WINNER OVER WASHINGTON

State University Team Upsets All Forecasts When It Defeats Strong Huskies

UNIVERSITY OF OREGON, Eugene, Nov. 5—(Special)—By an extraordinary display of fighting spirit and football knowledge, the University of Oregon upset all forecast in its defeat of the heavy and experienced University of Washington team Saturday. Washington was conceded a big advantage before the game, but Oregon played the Huskies to a stand-still, triumphing 7 to 3 after one of the most bitterly-fought contests seen here in years.

Coach Maddock, who was one of a handful of football men willing to predict publicly an Oregon victory, is highly pleased with the outcome. Oregon students, alumni, and other supporters are jubilant. The team got away at the beginning of the season to a slow start, playing a tie game with Willamette university. Since then Oregon has developed rapidly. In the Washington game, Maddock's eleven took advantage of every opportunity and of every weakness, followed the ball throughout the game, and displayed a brilliant defensive game.

Oregon was able to make yardage through the heavy and experienced Washington line. Oregon scored its touchdown through the opposite defense, and the Maddock men broke up a surprising number of Washington passes when their successful completion would have meant long gains and possible touchdowns.

This week Oregon is getting ready for what is regarded as the hardest game of the year, the contest with Idaho at Moscow. Idaho has scored victories over Washington State College and O. A. C., winning each game with a big margin. Stanford won from the Muscovites by a field goal. Critics say Coach Warner's players were lucky to score against Idaho.
