DAILY PEGS

Written by Westbrook Pegler

est to the ex-premiers of France, who must outnumber anding army by now, and the ex-lieutenant governors of 46 United States, the most obscure residents of oblivion ex-champions of the ring.

he bid with the warped lips, the scrambled ear and ble-deck of brass teeth, who wanders up to the door ght club and requests the courtesies of the profession, the remark "I am an ex-champion of the world," would as far by stating "I am a democrat," or "I am a mem-the human race."

it is up to a champion, therefore, to take all the cheers while he is champion, because he's a long time dead he's dead.

you don't read much in the papers any more as to Jess his favorite flower, vegetable or color, and the patent the ads cease to boast that he got the way he is by takregular doses of Blippi's Barley.

A few years ago Jess was always misquoted. He isn't ed any more. Nobody quotes him at all.

he Lynch was a chunk of a hero in New York when he the bantamweight title, and they ran special wires to the de whenever he fought. A few nights ago he was whip-some novice down in Pennsylvania and the news made the size of a 50-cent want ad.

There are a lot of champions around—Jeffries, Papke, McAuliffe, Pete Herman, Kid Williams, Al McCoy, Wilson, Jack Britton, Fred Welsh, Willie Ritchie, Abe Bat Nelson. The ex-champion soon learn to say "thank for every time his name is mentioned in print.

The Good Old Days

Most of us can remember when a man's right hand was his grain drill. With a sack of seed hung from a shoulder, we trudged wearily across the acres, dipping rhythmically into the sack and flinging the seed broadcast. We thought we were doing a good job, too! But we've learned a lot since "the good old days." And we are still learning. We know now that there can be just as much difference in the kind of sowing done by grain drills as there was then in the sowing of different men.

SPECIAL—10% Discount of 6-foot Size, Single Disk.

Kentucky Grain Drills

When you drive into your fields with one of these grain drills, you can rest assured your grain will go into the ground right. None of it will be cracked, nor will there be any spots skipped, or seed bunched. The seed will be evenly distributed, deposited to the exact depth you choose, and properly covered. Every seed and every acre will get a square deal.

Get one of these splendid drills. It insures the best yield it is possible for your seed, soil, and weather to produce.

For 100 per cent satisfaction, you can bank on our McCormick-Deering line, which includes Kentucky Grain Drills.
