MRS. AYOE TO TEACH MUSIC AT MASTER SCHOOL
The formal opening of the Master School of Musical Arts at Klamath Falls which took place in the form of a reception given to the director of the school, Mrs. A. Ayo, on Wednesday, April 22 in the Fairmont hotel, San Francisco, was a very important affair, being attended by over 400 guests, numbering among them all the guests who were in the city at that time for the spring musical festival, as well as representative residents musicians from the Bay region.

The "try-outs" for Mrs. Ayo's school were held the following Saturday and six scholarships were awarded. Regular classes for voice instruction began on April 27, to be succeeded by various classes in the different branches of musical instruction, as each master arrives. Yesterday a reception was tendered to Josef Lievenko, the great pianist, whose classes begin the next Monday and for which a very large number of pupils are enrolled. Any one desiring more detailed information of the school's activities can receive same by applying to Mrs. A. J. Ayo, here in to Allen Seckle's manager, Fairmont hotel, San Francisco.
