

OVER POPULATION IS THE ROOT OF EUROPE'S MENACE

LONDON, May 15.—Europe's problem is over-population, and unless it is solved the crash of the European plan will be heard amid the clash of arms as Europe engages in another war, according to Count Michael Karolyi, first president of the short-lived Hungarian republic, who recently visited the United States under a gag agreement with the American state department, which prevented his speaking on politics.

"Europe's leaders are of the old school," Karolyi said in an exclusive interview with the United News, manufactured articles and threw

They have one fixed idea—that by every means, public opinion should be diverted from the main issue of social problems, and the remedies of them. So they talk of nationalism, of patriotism, of tradition.

"If we back these men, we must be prepared for the consequences that will follow naturally.

"The sort of talk by which these leaders keep people's minds off the real remedies for Europe's maladies will bring the crash of the Dawes plan, and of all the plans for European reconstruction, and the crash will be heard amid the clash of arms when the war begins. So long as people fail to understand these facts, there can be no economic reconstruction.

"Europe is over-populated. It was possible before the war for all Europeans to support themselves labor in time of peace and cheap only because raw materials were pouring into European countries, and these people worked them into these articles back into the world's markets. They had the money and the markets to do it then. The war lost Europe the money and the markets and the energy of her people—and left the same population of 400,000,000 who cannot live under the old conditions.

"The three possible remedies are emigration, birth control, and the colonization of Europeans in Europe.

"But as regards emigration, the United States and Canada virtually have ruled out that possibility. Russia is closed. The opportunities in South America are limited.

"The whole reactionary crowd of ideologists is opposed to birth control. The rulers of Europe want more people, the more the better. Unemployment is had when viewed from an objectionable, but it means cheap labor in time of war, when millions would volunteer because they would rather die quickly in battle than slowly at home of starvation.

The horrors of war is less to them than the horrors of peace, with its slow decay, its disease and demoralization.

"Colonization of Europeans in Europe would mean giving the land to the people. People in over-populated countries would go back to the land and learn to support themselves. But that would mean the breaking up of the feudal system of big estates. So I have little hope that any of these solutions will be applied."

Unusual But True

(Over Last Night's Leased Wire)

WASHINGTON, May 15.—Corn farmers who feared that the prohibition drive would render their crops useless for beverage purposes need not worry. There are 148 other uses for corn besides whiskey, the department of agriculture announced. Corn can be used to make almost anything from axle grease to face powder.

LONDON, May 15.—There are eight ways of promoting marriage according to the international society of philology which classifies them as follows: youthful, pompous, vicarious, humble, successful, unsuccessful, resultless and renewed.

CHICAGO, May 15.—Prohibition agents analyzed some of the 70,000 bottles of "Haig and Haig," "Peter Dinkum," "White Horse" and "Sandy McDonald," seized here Thursday and said that its supply had been distilled from hair tonic, perfumes and commercial alcohol.
