Glover's Scholarship Contest Closes June 15, 1925 at 10 P. M.

This contest has been the most successful of any year. There was a decided change in the votes this week. While Miss Crocker holds her place in the lead, Young Colwell of Merrill is a close second, making a big jump this week. Miss Frances Short and Miss Marion West were close in the race for the one thousand votes of the week, but Miss Short won the votes, putting her at 65,340, but still in fourth place. All contestants are requested to be present at the next two counts, which will be Friday 12, at 6 p. m., and Monday 15, 10 p. m. These two counts will tell the story of who will go to school at the expense of Glover's Jewelry Store. Every cent spent with us helps your favorite to win. The merchandise books they are selling are good for trade as long as they last, and doubles their votes. Every cent you spent in our store helps one of these young people to get a six months' business course, tuition paid, traveling expense and $10 toward books. The second prize is a $50 watch, third prize, $25 in trade. "The Store of Honest Treatment."
