

Editorial and Feature Page of Klamath News

THE KLAMATH NEWS

Owned and Published by

KLAMATH NEWS PUBLISHING COMPANY (Incorporated)

Officers and Directors: Nate O'Brien, president; Byron H. Hurd, vice-president; Ben H. Stevenson, secretary; Walter Stronach, treasurer. (constituting the owners of the entire outstanding stock issue).

B. H. STEVENSON Managing Editor
J. W. McDONALD Editor
WALTER WEST Business Manager

Entered at the Postoffice at Klamath Falls, Oregon, as second-class matter.

Published every morning except Monday.
Office 1. O. O. F. Building, 102-122 So. Fifth St.
Telephone 877

Address all communications and make all remittances payable to the Klamath News Publishing Company.

In ordering change of address, subscribers should always give old as well as new address.

Subscription Rates—All Subscriptions Payable in Advance
Delivered by Carrier, per month $.50
Delivered by Carrier, six months 2.50
Delivered by Carrier, one year 5.00
Outside Klamath County 5.00

Full leased wire, United News and United Press.
(Longest in the world.)

OFFICIAL PAPER OF THE CITY OF KLAMATH FALLS

"Let us have faith that right makes might, and in that faith let us to the end dare to do our duty as we understand it"—Abraham Lincoln

CARELESSNESS WITH FIRE INEXCUSABLE

The fire demon is taking an increasing toll every year in this county, on account of careless folks in the mountains. They ride in comfortable automobiles, throw smoking stubs of cigars and cigarettes into the brush and leave live coals in their camp-fires. Such habits are dangerous even in the city, where there are paved streets, tiled floors and electric stoves; but they are fatal to the future of our forests.

Fires swept over thousands of acres of timber land last summer and fall. The time of year is approaching again when such fires may be expected. Every citizen who goes into the mountains should have impressed upon his mind in some manner the tremendous fire responsibilities that rest upon him along the roads, trails, and in the camps.

DO WE WISH TAX EQUALITY?

Our theory of government is based upon the principle of equal taxation. There is a constitutional desire to treat all men alike in the matter of their financial relationship to the government—civic or national. But the government and all its political subdivisions keep issuing a regular flood of tax-exempt securities for public undertakings of all kinds, thereby furnishing a loophole for thousands of persons to escape all taxation. This is a wheel within a wheel that is working backward. If there were not so many tax-exempt securities, there would not be so much extravagance.

If we are sincere in our demand for tax reduction and tax equality, why do we not change our tax-exemption laws which permit such unfair distribution of the tax burden?

DOES ADVERTISING PAY?

(From Kansas City Club News.)

Advertising has made the Victrola Dog famous.

It has put Castoria down your throat, left bristles in your gums, and then came along with a Rubberset and took them out.

It has put Sozodont, Pebecon and Pepsodent on your teeth.

It has put a Gillette against your hayfeild.

It has put Arrow collars around your neck and Ingersolls around your wrist.

It has jammed your feet in Holeproof sox, put Paris garters on your legs and Tiffany rings on your fingers.

It has worn out your jaws on Wrigley's and posted you on what to buy to cure corns, warts and bunions and ingrowing toenails.

Go anywhere you want to, do anything you wish, and advertising has had a hand in it—absolutely. And then some people ask, "Does advertising pay?"

Finishing Up the Spring Sowing!

HOUSEHOLD HINTS

MENU HINT
Breakfast
Sliced Pineapple
Toasted Corn Flakes
Cornmeal Griddle Cakes
Coffee
Luncheon
Spinach Omelet Tea Biscuits
Strawberries and Pineapples
Iced Tea
Dinner
Roast Stuffed Leg of Veal
Potatoes
Buttered Green Beans
Prune Ice Cream Wafers
Hot or Iced Coffee

TODAY'S RECIPES
Cornmeal Griddle Cakes—Scald one cup of cornmeal with one cup boiling water, let cool. Beat one egg well, add one teaspoon sugar, one teaspoon salt, the scalded cornmeal, one cup white flour sifted with one teaspoon baking powder, and one cup or more of sweet or sour milk. If sour milk is used add half a teaspoon of baking soda to it. Mix to a smooth batter, not too thick, and bake on hot griddle.
Spinach Omelet—Make omelet as usual folding in leftover chopped spinach just before putting it into the frying pan. A cream sauce may be served with it.
Stuffed Leg of Veal—Have the butcher make a pocket close to the bone in the leg of veal, into this put a good chicken dressing of bread crumbs moistened with melted butter, and well seasoned with onion and sage, pepper and salt. Roast, allowing about twenty minutes to the pound. Put the potatoes around the meat about an hour before it is done and roast.

Prune Ice Cream—Pick over and wash one cup of prunes and soak over night in one and one-half cups cold water. Cook in the same water until soft, remove stones and press prunes through a sieve. Add one cup sugar, four tablespoons lemon juice, a few grains salt and one and one-quarter cups cream, beaten until stiff. Freeze as usual.

SUGGESTIONS
Whenever a black coat or dress has become shiny from wear sponge it in equal parts of ink and strong tea before pressing.
Add a pinch of baking soda to tomato, cabbage, beans, cauliflower, etc., while they are boiling and they will be easier to digest.
Flour should be kept in an absolutely airtight vessel to prevent it from absorbing moisture and becoming musty.

right" will not be true. Might is the sovereign of the world, and not opinion, as many philosophers aver. It is right that what is just should be obeyed; it is necessary that what is strongest should be obeyed. Might without justice is tyrannical, but justice without might is helpless. Pascal observed that "Justice is subject to dispute; might is easily recognized and is not disputed. So we cannot give might to justice, because might has gained justice, and has declared that it is she herself who is just. And thus being unable to make what is just strong, we have made what is strong just."

European Meet to Tell Suzanne If She Is Fit

The form she displays in the international clay court tennis championship tourney at St. Louis, France, beginning May 27 will decide for Miss Suzanne Lenglen, (upper photo) French tennis star, whether she will defend her world title later in the year. Her chief rival in the St. Cloud tourney will be Mlle. Vlasto (below).

A booster for Klamath county and Klamath Falls and every legitimate industry therein—that's the Klamath News.

HEARD AND HOME PROBLEMS

A pitiful story is told in the letter of this neglected wife:
Dear Mrs. Thompson: I am just another married woman who has worried herself sick. I have four children, three by my present husband and the other by my first husband, who died when the boy was six months old. I have had three children by this second husband in two years and three months and only one of them walks. My husband is very mean to us. I do all my own housework. The house is always clean, and I do everything I can to please him. He gives me no money unless I beg him to, but spends his money each week for drinks. He has told me to put the children in an orphan's home, and that he doesn't care what I do with myself. I wouldn't think of putting my boy, now seven years old, in a home. I wonder if I could get him a good home in the country and try and keep the three small ones and get support for them from their father. My parents are all dead, and I have no people here. Please tell me what to do.
J. C.

Your husband's neglect is shameful. Go to the county judge's office and tell your story. Your husband can be made to provide for the children. If it is possible, endeavor to obtain separate maintenance, so that you can give your children a better chance of happiness.
HE DOESN'T TRUST WOMEN
Dear Mrs. Thompson: I am worried. I am a young married woman of 24, and have a little daughter of 18 months. I am unhappy and it is because my husband doesn't trust me. The fact is that he doesn't trust any women. And Mrs. Thompson, there is not a woman on earth who can be any truer to him than I am. And he is forever saying that he is going to leave me. We have bought a little home. He makes good money and is saving. But I have to lie to him when I buy any clothes, as he saves so—they cost too much. I am good looking and he says that I make the men look at me and things like that. Shall I take my baby and leave him? I can make my own living.
PEGGY.

You are not playing fair with your husband, and yet you expect him to trust you. When you want clothes induce him to go downtown and look in the shop windows and show him how much the clothes

Children's Picture Cross Word
HOW TO SOLVE
The words start in squares and run down. Only one letter each white square. The words are found in the will form words, puzzle—the first word is the drawing. Below the other words.

DINNER STORIES
He informed his sweetheart, aged 24, that she was sending her a rose for every year of age. To the florist he gave the order to send to the lady two dozen of the finest red roses he could procure. "He is a very good customer," remarked the florist to the assistant, who was packing the bouquet, "so put in an extra half dozen."
The engagement was wrecked.

There is reason to believe that there may be petroleum in the English Hill country, and Lord Cowdray, the British oil magnate, some time ago began to bore for oil at various places in Derbyshire. While engaged in experimental boring his agent sent him in a bottle a sample of the first crude petroleum struck. Lord Cowdray was in a hurry to go out when it arrived, and gave it to one of his men to deliver to the analyst with a note. The servant was also in a hurry. He set out to visit his wife, and took the letter with him. Later in the evening he saw what he thought was the bottle on the sideboard, and with a guilty conscience hurried out to deliver it. In the morning Lord Cowdray received the following telegram: "Yours is the first find of the century. You have struck paragon."

A member of the house of commons not up in a debate and said that Winston Churchill was evidently suffering from beri-beri, as a sign of that disease was a swollen head. Afterwards Churchill corrected the member, and said that swollen feet, not head, were the sign. "That makes no difference," was the artful reply. "All I meant to convey was that you were too big for your boots."

A booster for Klamath county and Klamath Falls and every legitimate industry therein—that's the Klamath News.

Running down
Word 1. In the
Word 2. A carriage
Word 3. A carriage
Word 4. A carriage
Word 5. A carriage
Word 6. A carriage
Word 7. A carriage
Word 8. A carriage
Word 9. A carriage
Word 10. A carriage
Word 11. A carriage
Word 12. A carriage
Word 13. A carriage
Word 14. A carriage
Word 15. A carriage

YESTERDAY'S ANSWERS
Word 1. In the
Word 2. A carriage
Word 3. A carriage
Word 4. A carriage
Word 5. A carriage
Word 6. A carriage
Word 7. A carriage
Word 8. A carriage
Word 9. A carriage
Word 10. A carriage
Word 11. A carriage
Word 12. A carriage
Word 13. A carriage
Word 14. A carriage
Word 15. A carriage