

CONTEST CLOSES 9 P.M. MONDAY

Contest Closes 9 P.M. Sharp; Prizes To Be Delivered On Monday

With the determination of cinching one of the two grand prizes in The News' great prize contest, contestants are today gathering in every subscription possible so that they can walk off with the highest honors when the final award is made at The News office tomorrow night.

The race is close, and so far there has been very little difference between the leaders and those at the bottom of the list. So little, in fact, that a very few subscriptions would bring the lowest contestant in the list to the top. And the realization of the fact is driving the contestants in every nook and corner, trying to gather new and renewal subscriptions so that they will be acclaimed the winner when the awards are made tomorrow night.

Listen, folks, today you have an opportunity that you may never have again. An opportunity to do a real kindness. Help out your favorite in the list by giving him or her the benefit of your renewal subscription. It is not costing one cent more in paying your subscription now, in fact you are saving money, and will not be bothered with the monthly payment. And then your subscription payment alone may be the deciding votes for your favorite, in which they may receive a small fortune. For that is what the two grand prizes are. A $3000 home on an acre of ground, and an Essex touring car, are the first two prizes.

Don't wait for the contestants to come around and see you today or tomorrow. They are all out working hard these last few hours and may not be able to get around and see you. If you have already given them your subscription give them a second payment. A second payment at this time will count for twice as many votes as the first payment did.

The ballot box at The News office has been locked, and will remain locked until the closing hour, tomorrow night, when the judges will open the box, count the votes of each contestant and then award the prizes.

In making your report tomorrow, be sure that you have written the names and addresses of the subscribers plainly so that there will be no mistake in entering the subscriptions. Contestants should not neglect to sign their names to the collection stubs, and in case of second payment be sure that you have written it on the stub, marking also the amount of the first payment.

Promptly at 9 o'clock tomorrow night, the doors of the contest department will be closed. No one will be permitted to enter the contest department after that time for the purpose of turning in subscriptions or renewals. Those inside by that time, however, will be waited on before the contest is declared closed by the judges. The judges will then count the ballots and the prizes will be awarded.
