

SPORTS DONE BROWN

BY NORMAN E. BROWN

For many weeks to come Gene Tunney will draw the bulk of attention in the heavyweight circles.

He deserves such attention. His victory over the much-talked-of veteran, Tommy Gibbons, gives him some claim to fame.

But lets not form any wrong impressions concerning the young man—as much in justice to himself as for any other reason.

Tunney stands out as one of the best young heavyweights in the game. Because of his recent knock-out victory he holds the edge in drawing power at least, over Jimmy Slattery, Paul Berlenbach, Young Stribling and Jack Delaney.

But he cannot now be called a great heavy.

There is no reason for ranking him above Firpo—the man who knocked Jack Dempsey out of the ring.

He has not met Firpo. He fought a worn out vet when he met Carpenter.

He has licked no one of real importance. Giving him the credit due him in his fight with Gibbons, the fact that the St. Paul man was but an aged shell cannot be overlooked.

Tunney has already been likened to Gentleman Jim Corbett in boxing skill. Those who seek to pay Gene this compliment must have forgotten how good Corbett was.

The main thing in Tunney's favor is his youth, and the present situation in the heavyweight division. The next logical opponent for the young Tunney will be the winner of the Harry Willis-Charlie Weinert battle. Both of these men are ring grandpas.

By the time Tunney disposes of one of them and steps into the ring with the champion, the latter will be an old man in ring parlance, and out of the habit of fighting. In the meantime, however, Tunney may find trouble for himself if he takes on one of the aforementioned younger men. A draw verdict or a defeat even on points at the hands of Slattery, for instance, would lower Tunney's stock.

The kind thing to do to Tunney is to give him plenty of encouragement and let him alone. Let's not build him into a false idol and then watch him go on the rocks of torch-light parades and ballyhoos.

Close followers of the thoroughbreds are trying to dope out these days the chance Flying Ebony, Kentucky derby winner, has of winning the classic at Latonia June 27. Precedent is against Cochran's horse. No nag that has won the Churchill Downs event has ever repeated at the Latonia track. This despite the fact that the track owners, as a special inducement for the Kentucky prize winner, have annually agreed to give a $5,000 bonus to the owners of the Kentucky horse in case of victory in the eastern race.

The list of Kentucky winners who have tried and failed, include such wonderful nags as Behave Yourself, Exterminator and Black Gold. The latter had won two big derbies and a minor stake race when he tried to win the Latonia event.

Eddie Kealey, New York structural iron worker, born in County Cavan, Ireland, and now weighing the tidy poundage of 197, is one of the newer aspirants for Jack Dempsey's crown. The most interesting thing about him is that he is a southpaw fighter, the only one in the game today, and one of the few in heavyweight history. Peter Maher, great old-time battler, was the greatest of left-handers.

SID TERRIS WINS OVER PAL MORAN

DEXTER STADIUM, BROOKLYN, N. Y., June 18.—Sid Terris, New York lightweight, and one of the leading contenders for the crown vacated by Benny Leonard, won a one-sided 10-round bout from Pal Moran of New Orleans, here tonight.

Although Moran showed great gameness, he was completely outclassed by the fast-stepping Terris, who took every round by a wide margin. The bout was witnessed by 15,000 fans.

In the semi-final of six rounds, Jackie Snyder of Brooklyn, was awarded the judges' decision over Joe Souza, California bantam.

DEFENSE DAY TO BE HELD IN K. F. JULY FOURTH

National defense day, which is set aside by the president each year, for the mustering of the military strength of the nation, has been set for July 4th this year, and the following letter addressed to Mayor Goddard from Governor Walter M. Pierce, will set the machinery in motion for proper observance of the day in Klamath Falls:

"President Coolidge has named July 4 for the national defense test this year, and I am asked by the government to proceed with the test in the state on that date.

"While I have not yet been furnished with the detailed plan of the government, which, I am advised, will be sent as soon as possible, yet I learn that the test is to be identical with that held last year, except in the matter of date. There is so little remaining time that I am asking you as mayor of your city, to act immediately.

"Recalling our co-operation in this important patriotic duty last year, you and your community have a very definite idea of the requirements. You will appreciate that there is no time for the organized system of detailed instructions, which we had ample time for a year ago. Therefore the task will devolve upon you and your committee, with very little assistance from the general committee named by me.

"Will you please name your committee immediately, have your local committee meet and formulate your local plans within the next week, and urge upon all that they lend their best endeavor in carrying out the defense test spirit. It would be highly appropriate to have a speaker in connection with your Fourth of July program, who will deliver an appropriate patriotic talk on the duty of our national security. You might also enroll one-day volunteers, if time permits, as was done last year. The hour of program and other details, of course, is within the discretion of your committee.

"The general committee will communicate with you on this subject, giving you any suggestions that may arise from the government plan, when it is received, but the time is so short that I respectfully recommend that you and your committee proceed without waiting further advice.

"I would appreciate a reply, outlining your plan for the defense test.

"Yours very truly,
"Walter Pierce,
"Governor."

The mayor has called a meeting next Tuesday night with Klamath county army reserve officers, in the council chamber at the city hall, to devise ways and means for putting across the national test here.

Owl Cafe Is Minus a Good Cook and Waitress

The Owl Cafe is minus a good waffle tosser this morning. And a good waitress too. The good waffle tosser and the good waitress have gone plumb wrong. They just up and married last evening at 5 p. m. before Justice Sping at Chiloquin. They had planned making their wedding a secret, but murder will leak out. Oh, yes. The names? None other than Roscoe Largent and Tillie Brandage. The newlyweds will honeymoon at Spring Creek.
