No Big Announcement By Northern Railroads

western traffic manager of the Northern Pacific; A. J. Witchel, chief engineer of the S. P. & S.; P. E. Thian, of St. Paul, valuation engineer of the Northern Pacific; and G. V. Lintner, construction engineer of the S. P. & S.

Off For Bend
The entire party of visiting dignitaries leave this morning at 9 o'clock for Bend, where they are scheduled to board a special train for Portland at 7 o'clock tonight.

The real purpose of the visit of these officials at this time is believed to be the desire to look over the ground here first hand, advise with the engineers in charge of the surveys, and then to finally decide on which route the invading Northern roads will follow, via Sprague river, or around the west side of Upper Klamath lake.

WILL NOT PART WITH OLD CAR

After Driving 1917 Car 134,000 Miles Modoc Man Says It Is Better Than Ever

Powell & Dale, local Willys-Knight dealers, believe that they have received one of the most unusual requests ever made of an automobile man.

Behind the wheel of his 1917 Willys-Knight, R. Livesay, of Modoc Point, drove into the Powell & Dale garage the other day and inquired as to whether it would be possible for him to get a late sedan body to fit the chassis of his old car, stating that as the motor is constantly improving, he felt that it would be poor policy for him to put his money in a complete new car.

"And the best part of it all," remarked Mr. Powell, in speaking of the incident, "is that Mr. Livesay stated that although he has driven his car over 134,000 miles he has never had to spend five cents on motor repairs. I'll say that that is a record that will be mighty hard to beat. Last spring Mr. Livesay drove all the way from Tia Juana to Klamath Falls in high gear, and I'll venture to say that there are mighty few 1917 cars on the road today that will duplicate this performance."

Mr. Powell has written the factory in an effort to secure the new sedan body with radiator, hood and fenders to match.

EUGENE LUMBER MAN IS IN K. F.

Robert A. Booth of Eugene, president of the Booth Kelly Lumber Co., and owner of a thousand acres of Klamath county timber, arrived here yesterday with the big party of visiting Hill railway officials.

Practically the entire party made a hurried trip by auto yesterday afternoon to the Sprague river country, returning at 7 o'clock last night. Jack Kimball, local Weyerhaeuser representative, led the caravan.

Charles Donnelly, president of the Northern Pacific, and head of the party of visiting railroad men, is making his first visit to the Klamath country at this time, and at his request, Mr. Booth rode in the Donnelly car, carrying huge colored maps, showing the route and general lay of the country visited.
