Swanson's Herpicide Goes To Grain Field

This locust plague in Egypt you read about in the bible is old stuff, according to Harry Ackley, old-time Klamath lumberman, who has deserted his time-honored profession for wheat farming on Tule lake. Ackley arrived in town yesterday from his thousand-acre cloid-busting operations below Merrill, and promptly gave forth an interview which is expected to astound the scientific world. "You know," said the former timber shark, "I believe the pine beetles are working on my wheat, and I have come up here for advice in the matter. Jim Swanson has offered the suggestion that I buy up a few thousand gallons of Herpicide and give the fields a shampoo. I have taken that under advisement, but it don't look too practical to me."
"However, I expect to have a pretty heavy crop, with what the beetles don't get now, and the ducks and geese don't get this fall. I am going to have wheat which will run sixteen feet to the first limb, and she will cut out about 85 per cent 'shop' and 65 per cent 'clear.'"

A booster for Klamath county and Klamath Falls and every legitimate industry therein—that's the Klamath News.

The CASE Combine

A New Labor-Saving Machine for Harvesting and Threshing

THE Case Combine is a great labor-saving device. It cuts a swath 12 feet wide, at two to three miles per hour, threshes and delivers the grain, cleaned and ready for market, at the rate of 25 to 40 acres per day. The entire mechanism is operated by a special 25 h. p. Case engine. A Case 15-27 tractor or one of similar power, or 8 to 12 horses will handle the outfit in the field. When extra grain wagons are used, three men can easily do all the work of harvesting and threshing with this machine. Efficient work in both cutting and threshing is assured by the following Case advantages:

- The machine is supported on three large, very substantial wheels and a smaller front wheel. This arrangement gives the machine great stability, yet enables the header to follow contour of ground without affecting position of the thresher.
- Header is very easily controlled—adjustable from 4" to 36" from ground.
- 24x42-inch thresher—ample capacity to thresh, separate and thoroughly clean the grain under all conditions.
- All grain delivered to front end of shoe sieve whether machine is going up or down any ordinary grade.
- Header can be folded up, reducing width of machine for transporting, or can be disconnected when machine is required for stationary threshing.
- Steel construction throughout, insuring great rigidity and durability.
- We shall be glad to show you one of these machines whenever you are ready. Call up or come in for complete information.
