Event No. 5
Bucking contest for the cup of the world—Purse, $100; first, $300; second, $150. Riders for each day named by drawing. Horses named by the management, to draw for all mounts, six riders to be chosen for each day to ride in the semi-finals, not less than three to be chosen from the six to ride in each contestant to ride as the judges may deem necessary.

rup with BOTH feet against the horse's shoulder and begin scratching the minute the horse leaves. Rider must scratch FORWARD FIRST THREE JUMPS IN THE SHOULDER, and then scratch HIGH BEHIND. Rider simply holding feet against the shoulder and NOT scratching and not moving feet, coasting, or spur buttoning will not be considered scratching and will be marked accordingly.

This event is a contest for real bronk riders, who have confidence in their ability to ride REAL bucking horses, and who are willing to follow the rules by opening up as they leave the starting place. Riders will be given credit according to the masterfulness of the manner in which they ride, the amount of scratching done, the chance they give the horse with due consideration to the roughness of the mount. A rider playing safe will not be considered very high in the markings; should a rider make an honest effort to keep scratching forward and back, and in the opinion of the judges cease scratching only to keep from being thrown, and should the horse in the opinion of the judges to be too rough for continuous scratching, then the rider shall receive credit for the amount of scratching done by him, but should a rider make a ride without any effort at or accomplish enough scratching, then he shall be DISQUALIFIED. Judgment shall be based upon ease, gracefulness, masterfulness of the rider's maneuvers, amount of scratching and the roughness of the horse combined.

Rider must leave the starting place with rein in one hand and hat in the other; rider will not be permitted to change hands on the rein, or use other hand to take up slack, but must keep free hand in the air at all times, showing one hand free from rein, saddle strings, horse, or mane. Rider's rein hand must be absolutely free, showing daylight from leaving the starting place until the whistle is blown.

No horse will be turned loose until the rider says "Go." Everything the rider does from time he says "Go" until whistle blows will be considered, whether for or against him; after horse has been picked up nothing will be considered against rider unless he fights or abuses the horse and then he shall be DISQUALIFIED. Judges will not require a rider to ride a horse after it has ceased to buck, or after a horse shows fatigue, when in the opinion of the judges a rider has made an honest but unsuccessful effort to make a horse buck, then he shall be given another horse. Should a horse fall, and in the opinion of the judges, that the animal was not lullied down or over by the rider, his ride shall be judged up until the time the horse fell, and it is the judges to decide rider may be given another horse; all riders must give horse its head upon leaving the starting place, in other words, horses must have enough slack in rein to permit him a fair chance to buck. This contest cannot be called a draw, but must be ridden to a finish.

Spurs—All spurs must have loose rowels so that they cannot possibly be locked, spurs with such large holes that free turning is obstructed by pressing against the horse are barred.

Offenses—The following offenses will disqualify contestants: Falling to be ready when name is called, properly equipped as called for by rules; being bucked off; changing hands on reins; not giving horse its head upon leaving starting place; riding on spurs; or failing to scratch as per rules; losing either one of both stirrups; pulling leather; touching saddle, string, mane or horse with either hand, cinching a horse too tight; abusing or fighting horse after time-keeper has ordered animal picked up.

Also, any attempt upon the part of the contestant to violate or take unfair advantage of the rules will result in the barring or rider from further participation in any event at this contest. Saddle, chaps, boots, or any part of rider's clothing or equipment must not be taped, resined, gummed, wet or stuck up, tacks in booth or stirrups in an endeavor to assist rider from losing stirrup are barred.

Judges—There shall be three mounted judges to judge the actual riding; one of these judges shall judge all riders on left side, one on the right side and the third shall follow behind the horse and rider. The association saddlers have authority to examine any contestant or his equipment for fraudulent means of riding any time during the contest. A judge will immediately disqualify any contestant for cheating a horse in any manner, when it is plain to the judges that rider is purposely cheating the animal from doing its best. The riders standing the highest in marking the first two days are eligible for the day money, in order of their standing. In case any two riders are considered equal, after witnessing the ride made all through the contest by two men, the judges shall pick the horses for them to ride to a finish. No two judges shall consult alone; all three judges must consult on all questions that arise where these judges must pass upon, such as giving a rider an extra horse, etc.

Substitutes—Substitutes will not be permitted in any event or contest.

The committee shall select competent judges and their decisions will be final.

Best All-Around Cowboy CHAMPIONSHIP

Best to be presented by the association, valued at $150, to be presented to the best all-around cowboy making the most points at the round up of 1925. Winner must enter in not less than two competitive events, points to be divided as follows: All other competitive events: first

Bucking	40	20	10
Roping	35	15	7
Relay	25	12	6
Chariot	10	5	5

5 points, second 3 points, third 1 point.

Contestants and participants assume all risk to person or stock while upon the grounds. The management extends an invitation to the world, no one barred, every one welcome, but only upon conditions stated.

General Rules—The committee assumes no liability for injuries to contestants, their stock or damage done their property. Owners, contestants and assistants assume all risk.

The committee proposes to run the program on schedule time, and each participant must be ready when called for his event.

When, in the opinion of the arena director, a sufficient number of contestants are present for an event, no delay will be permitted because of the absence of other contestants.

According to the rodeo directors, a state Humane society officer is on hand and has given notice to the directors what events they can put on here and what they can't. The directors are of the opinion that as long as there is no cruel and inhuman treatment accorded any of the animals here, the Humane society representative here is clearly exceeding his authority when he rules out certain events here, which are permitted at all other shows.
