Two Governors Lead Movement to Make Mexico "Dry" Nation

Emilio Portes Gil (left), governor of the state of Tampaulipas, and Aurelio Mauriquez, governor of San Luis Potosi, are leading a prohibition movement in Mexico. Governor Mauriquez now is rigidly enforcing a dry law in his own state.

ing Klamath county as well as other portions of Oregon with his family.

From Westwood—Among the tourists in Klamath Falls yesterday was H. Garfield Oates of Westwood, California, who is stealing a few weeks off from his much big load of duty in order to enjoy Crater Lake and a trip to British Columbia by way of Portland. Oates is affiliated with the Red River Lumber company of Paul Bunyan fame, where he serves as mechanical engineer. Aside from that Oates also serves as president of the Westwood Automobile club, the third largest auto club in California.
Oates and his wife left last night for Modoc Point, where they will spend the night before continuing on their journey.

Editor Here—Mr. and Mrs. John G. Miller and daughter, Miss Georgianna Miller, and Mrs. J. L.
Copper, all residents of Red Bluff, California, were among the tourists to arrive in the city last night.
Miller is editor of the Red Bluff News, a real live paper, which is making itself heard in northern California. The party are leaving today for Crater Lake, planning to return to the valley through the Medford entrance and then home, where Miller will sit himself down to his desk and read copy from the fruit of "embryonic" reporters for another season.

Petaluma—Frank Ecklin of Petaluma, was among the interesting southern visitors in the city during the past week, a guest in the homes of Mr. and Mrs. L. A. Brannan and Mr. and Mrs. Joe H. Foster. Ecklin is with the Pioneer Hatchery of Petaluma and is enjoying a three weeks' vacation on the northern coast for a time. The visitor is making a tour of Oregon and plans to go as far north as Seattle before his return to Petaluma.

To Coquille—Joe H. Foster made a hurried trip to Coquille, county seat of Coos, leaving on Tuesday evening and returning during the latter part of the week. Foster is a brother of Mrs. C. E. Mulkey, widow of Superintendent Mulkey of the Coos county schools, who was killed Friday when a tree fell across his car on the north side of Coos Bay.
