

O. A. C. TO AID IN FIGHTING WORMS

Meetings for mapping out a more intensive plan of attack against the worm visitors in Klamath county were held at Merrill and Malin Saturday evening. The Merrill meeting was under the direction of Frank W. Sexton, acting county agriculturalist, and C. D. Chorpentuz, emergency assistant, during the worm infestation, had charge of the meeting at Malin.

The purpose of the two meetings yesterday evening was to discuss the worm problem and to outline additional measures for its control.

Telegrams appealing for advice in handling the worm menace were sent to the entomology departments of both O. A. C. and California university. In addition, the telegram to the Corvallis school requested the personal assistance of an expert entomologist in checking the pest.

A man from Corvallis will probably be sent to assist Sexton and Chorpentuz in handling the situation in Klamath county. The request for outside assistance was not made until tests Saturday morning showed the arsenic-bait used in combatting the worms was apparently of no avail.

County Club Leader Sexton estimated that approximately 60 per cent of the second cutting of alfalfa in this territory was a total loss unless the worms were checked.

Former Klamath Man Killed in Coos Bay

Word of the death of C. E. Mulkey, superintendent of schools in Coos county was received here some time ago and his many friends will be grieved to know of the sudden death of one who held many friends in Klamath Falls.

Mulkey was returning from inspecting a school across Coos Bay when passing through a wooded section, a tree blown down by a wind storm fell directly across his car, killing him instantly. The tragedy occurred near North Bend.

Both Mr. and Mrs. Mulkey are well known in Klamath county, having taught school here for some time nine years ago. Mrs. Mulkey was before her marriage, Miss Mattie Foster, a sister of Mrs. L. A. Brannan of Klamath Falls and of Joe H. Foster of Round Lake.

Mrs. Mulkey has been asked to accept the unexpired term of her husband by the Coos county court and it is probable that she will accept as she was in close contact at all times with the work in which her husband was interested.

World Censorship Of Movies Is Near

GENEVA, July 25.—The first step toward a modified international censorship of movies is seen in the request of Sir Eric Drummond, Secretary-General of the league of nations, that all governments furnish the league with information of steps taken to ascertain the effects of moving pictures on the moral and mental well-being of children.

The move was launched by the advisory committee on the traffic in women and children and was approved by the league council.

UNUSUAL REQUEST IS ASKED OF ATTORNEY

PORTLAND, Ore., July 25.—Out of the more or less personal files in the offices of the United States attorney comes this story of a woman's unusual request. The names, because of the personal nature of the letter, were not made public.

Several months ago a woman, whose home is about fifty miles from Portland, in a remote farming country, accessible over miles of bumpy roadway, was indicted by the grand jury on a charge of misuse of the mails.

She was sent for to appear before the bar of justice for arraignment and to enter plea. She explained to the officers that a baby was expected in her family, and asked that the trip to court be delayed. Last week, Assistant United States Attorney McGillchrist, thought the wheels of justice had been idle long enough, so he wrote the woman and told her to report at once at the court procedure.

This answer came to him: "Dear Mr. McGillchrist: "I am sorry to disappoint you, but I cannot bring the baby out in warm weather. Neither can I say when I could come as it is uncertain."

Maybe not until the baby is about two years old. "Neither could I go then, until I could have my own attorney and I would have to earn the money first to pay him. "If it is so necessary for you to see me now you could drive out here some Sunday and talk things over. Then some of the details could be made plain. If you could let me know when you could come, I will have a chicken dinner cooked for you." The rest of the letter told how to reach the woman's home
