OFFICIAL PAPER OF THE CITY OF KLAMATH FALLS

"Let us have faith that right makes might, and in that faith let us to the end dare to do our duty as we understand it"—Abraham Lincoln

WHERE'S THE FALLS?

After several years of agitation it begins to look, at last, as if real action is under way to change the name of Klamath Falls by striking off the Falls. There would be nothing wrong with Klamath Falls if we had the falls. But unfortunately, we have no falls. It was with no little disappointment that the writer, like scores of others, looked forward to coming to Klamath Falls, with a keen desire to see the falls found none here.

It is to be hoped that the Rotary will carry out its plan to take the proposition of changing the city's name to the council and that the council will see the wisdom of it. The city improved its name wonderfully when it changed Linkville's name. The new step contemplated will be the last unliking toward perfection.

Klamath, unlike hundreds of other Indian names is a beautiful one. The KL construction is distinctive, like that of the beautiful Kalua with its romantic moonlight and song.

SELLING OF THE PARK

The city park board is doing a wise thing by asking $62,000 for Riverside park from either of the railroads, or both, if the property is divided between them. There is nothing outlandish about the price, considering its desirability as a city park site, and the remarkably few available park sites in Klamath Falls.

There is nothing unreasonable about the price of $62,000. Give it away, some one has suggested. This isn't Christmas. Christmas is six months away and the city is well nigh flat broke now. Give it away nothing. Its a cold business proposition, but a fair one.

IN THE NAME OF THE FARMER

It is predicted that the so-called Farm Bloc in the coming session of congress will include an attack on the tariff schedules in its program unless the Bloc can secure passage of a measure to assure some form of price fixing on farm products by the federal government and establishment by the government of an agency that shall buy the farmers' export surplus.

The whole program is carried on in the name of the farmer when, as a matter of fact, the rank and file of American farmers are not today asking for petting and coddling at the hands of the government.

The disgusting part of the situation is that the farmer is used as a dummy around which political schemes are cooked up and foisted onto an uninformed public. The tariff question which should be considered purely from a scientific, business standpoint, is used as a political football and the public pays a terrific price for watching its use in the political game.

HEART AND HOME PROBLEMS

How Can She Save Her Husband?

Here is a wife who loves her husband even if he is under the evil influence of another woman. She wants to save him. How can she? Her letter says:

Dear Mrs. Thompson: I would be a happy married woman but for one thing: my husband has another woman in his life. And not a nice woman. You know the kind. He has told me that he would give her up, but I always find that he hasn't. She sent me some letters he wrote her and wrote me the awfulest letter. I know Mrs. Thompson she is trying to part us. She said in the letter she loved my husband and hoped I wouldn't live with him. He is a good husband but for this. He never speaks a mean word to me. Gives me money every time I ask him for it, and buys me everything I want. He treats our baby boy, four years old, the same way. I can't understand why he does the way he does. He has just told me again that he would give her up, but he has promised me so much I can't believe him. I am a good wife and not bad looking. I have nice clothes to wear. I don't know what to do? Would you leave him? I know he will never leave me for another woman. I have started to leave him but he begged me to give him another chance. I love him, Mrs. Thompson, and want to live right and want him to live right. It hurts me to know the way he does.

A WORRIED WIFE

Perhaps this woman does not know that there are laws to punish her kind. She could be punished, for instance, for sending that letter through the mails. Or merely as a bad character. Tell your husband that you love him, but that he must reform himself completely, and that you will not stand for any backsliding. Help him break loose from this woman's influence by quietly complaining about her to police; a word of warning from them probably will be sufficient. Take the matter up with the chief of police personally. If your husband does waver, actually leave him. Drastic action will bring him to his senses, and he will beg you to come back.

GRACE: The wedding reception usually is held immediately after the ceremony. If it is a church wedding, the reception is given at the bride's home, at a country club, or even in a hotel. The best man usually attends to the ring, feeling of the minister, etc.

L. R.: Since the boy's parents have been frequent visitors in your home, there is no reason why you shouldn't make a friendly call upon them when in their town. I didn't think they would misinter-

PATIENCE, PLEASE

I am always anxious to help as much as I can, and as quickly as I can; but I must remind those who write to me that I receive letters from hundreds of persons and cannot answer every one as promptly as I would like.

It usually is several days before answers to letters are published in this column; sometimes it is longer than that. If the answer to the letter you are interested in does not appear immediately, it is because there are many others ahead of it. Every letter that comes to me receives careful attention, you may be sure.

DINNER STORIES

Paderewski arrived in a small western town about noon one day and decided to take a walk in the afternoon. While strolling along he heard a piano, and, following the sound, came to a house on which was a sign reading:

"Miss Jones, Piano lessons 25 cents an hour."

Pausing to listen he heard the young woman trying to play one of Chopin's nocturnes, and not succeeding very well. Paderewski walked up to the house and knocked. Miss Jones came to the door and recognized him at once. Delighted, she invited him in and he sat down and played the nocturne as only Paderewski can, afterward spending an hour in correcting her mistakes. Miss Jones thanked him and he departed.

Some months afterward he returned to the town, and again took the same walk.

He soon came to the home of Miss Jones, and, looking at the sign, he read:

"Miss Jones, Piano lessons $1.00 an hour. (Pupil of Paderewski.)"

Picture postcards of a hotel carry this message:

"This hotel fully equipped with automatic sprinklers. Statistics show loss of life has never occurred in a sprinkled building. In case of fire you may get wet, but not burned."

To one traveler this brought some thought and he wrote thereunder the following prayer:

"Now I lay me down to sleep. Statistics guard my slumber deep. If I should die, I'm not concerned; I may get wet, but won't get burned."

TODAY'S RECIPES
Pepper Stuffed with Rice—Wash and remove the seeds from as many sweet, green peppers as desired. Scald them if you wish. Cook an onion in one tablespoon of butter until a light brown, and half a cup of cooked tomatoes and a cup of cooked rice. Let simmer a few minutes, season with salt, pepper and a little sugar, then fill the peppers with the mixture and bake half an hour or until the peppers are tender.

Green Bean Salad—One pint green beans, two tablespoons onion, chopped, two tablespoons bacon fat, two tablespoons vinegar, one cup bean liquid, one tablespoon sugar, salt and paprika. Cook beans in boiling salted water until tender, drain and reserve one cup of the liquid; mix while hot with the rest of the ingredients. Thoroughly chill before serving.

Lemon Padding—Four two cups milk over two cups fine dry bread crumbs; add a quarter teaspoon salt and a quarter cup sugar, one well beaten egg, grated rind of one lemon, three tablespoons lemon juice and one tablespoon melted butter. Pour into buttered baking dish and bake in a slow oven forty minutes. Serve with creamy pudding sauce; beat one egg until
