Do You Know That As These Words Are Being Written It Takes 40 Bushels Less of Wheat To Buy a Binder Than It Did in 1913, Before the War?

In the crop year 1913-1914 it took 166 bushels of wheat to buy a binder. Now it takes only 125 bushels to buy a much better binder. (Not counting freight in either case.)
It was poor economy to use an over-repaired binder in 1913, but it will be worse economy to run a worn-out machine in 1925. You cannot afford the risk. Grain prices are too high for that! When you consider the larger binder capacities and the crop-saving improvements, a new binder in your grain may pay back its full purchase price in harvest or two, in the savings in and time.
Don't take the chance of a break or steady loss of high-priced grain season. Harvest this year's crop with a brand-new McCormick grain binder.
We'll gladly show you over these grain, labor, and time-saving point out the features that make a binder the logical purchase for a farmer in this community.
