Jazz Girl Tries To Wiggle Out Of Second Trial

Insanity Plea Is Entered Again By Defense In Trial Yesterday

SAN FRANCISCO, Aug. 13.—(United News)—Dorothy Ellingson, whose mad career of dancing and gin drinking in the jazz palaces of San Francisco finally led to murder, was examined again by alienists Thursday night in her cell at the city prison.

Superior Judge Louderback ordered the procedure upon the defense claim that the girl was subject to temporary insanity because of prenatal influences. Results of the examination are to be presented in court when completed.

Confession Introduced
The 17-year-old defendant received a setback during the day when her confession that she killed her mother, Mrs. Ann Ellingson, was admitted as evidence. It was fought strenuously by the defense upon the ground that she was "unduly persuaded" by the police, but the court upheld the prosecution. According to the document, which created a sensation at the time it was first announced by police in January, Dorothy had quarreled bitterly with her mother over continued wild parties, drinking orgies and association with the slick-haired youths of the city's night life.

Father Aids Defense
While Mrs. Ellingson was dressing on the morning of January 13, Dorothy secured her brother's revolver and returned to her mother's room. Mrs. Ellingson was tying a shoe lace, when Dorothy fired at her, from behind, the confession stated.

With this confession in the records, the defense is expected to rely almost entirely upon its temporary insanity plea.

Joseph Ellingson, the girl's father, paved the way for this type of defense, when he testified, late Thursday, that for several years before the death of his wife he had been convinced that Dorothy was unbalanced mentally.

MAN BURNS TO DEATH IN FIRE

Day Lumber Company Mill Threatened By Flames Of Incendiary Fire

BELLINGHAM, Wash., Aug. 12.—(United News)—William Engle, 70, watchman, was burned to death in a fire which swept through a store, bunkhouse and postoffice at Big Lake, in Skagit county, early Thursday.

Evidence showed the fire was incendiary. It apparently had been started in three places. Engle was warned with others, but was trapped when he went back into the bunkhouse for some clothing. About $25,000 damage was done. The Day Lumber company mill and the rest of the town barely escaped from the flames.

Baby Born With A Full Set Of Teeth—Girl Too

LOS ANGELES, Aug. 13.—Day-old Max Flores can go on a beefsteak diet any time now. The youngster was born with a full set of perfectly formed teeth. Mr. and Mrs. Louis Flores are the proud parents, thank you.

K.F. Men Are Given Army Commissions

Martin E. Ramsby and Linn W. Nesmith, both of Klamath Falls, were given commissions in the army officers reserve corps yesterday at Washington, it was learned here last night. Ramsby was commissioned a second lieutenant of infantry. He received his military training at Oregon A. C. Nesmith, who was given a first lieutenantcy in the quartermaster's corps, is a veteran of the World war, and an overseas man.

Boy Slayer, 17 To Stand Trial

High School Athlete Must Take Chances For Killing Prof.

SEDALIA, Mo., Aug. 13.—(United News)—Hollow-eyed and exhausted from fear-tortured days and nights, Everette Adams, murderer of a New York school teacher, arrived here Thursday in the custody of officers "to face the music and get this terrible thing over with."

Friday the 17-year-old Wilmington, Ohio, high school athlete will be formally charged with first degree murder in the criminal court here, according to the plans of Roy W. Rucker, prosecuting attorney. Boy Is Intelligent
If the charge is allowed the handsome, intelligent youth whose troubles started when he got in a jam with a girl at high school, may go to the gallows. Missouri statutes provide that persons under 18 may be tried only in juvenile courts. Recently, however, the supreme court ruled that persons under 18 may be tried in the criminal court if the trial judge is convinced the defendant has sufficient mentality to realize the gravity of the offense committed.

"I am sure Adams will be tried in criminal court," declared Rucker Thursday. "The boy was old enough to know what he was doing."
Father Broken Hearted
The debonaire young slayer was accompanied by his father, Henry Adams, Wilmington policeman, and Ben South, chief of police, in Wilmington, when he came here Thursday. The father, who rushed to his son's side when the crime became known, is too stunned by the tragedy to be able to discuss it. Every detail of the brutal killing has been reiterated by young Adams, including the mad flight to Warden City, Kas., where he was arrested on suspicion Tuesday. "I haven't the slightest idea what we'll do," his father said brokenly. "His confession contains every word of what happened, all of it on account of trouble with that girl."

Pickford Abductors Are Found Guilty

LOS ANGELES, Aug. 13.—Chas. Z. Stevens and Claude Holcomb, two of the defendants in the Mary Pickford kidnaping trial, were found guilty of conspiracy late Thursday night. The third defendant, Adrian J. Wood, was declared not guilty. The jury deliberated six hours. The defense attempted to show that Charles Z. Stevens, Claude A. Holcomb and Adrian J. Wood were the innocent victims of an attempt by Home and Raymond to glorify their police careers, with a sensational coup. It was also charged that a police informant pled the defendants with drink and obtained "confessions" from them while police officers listened in from an adjoining room.

"My Buddy" Sung At Taps Of Fagan Of The Rainbow

GARY, Ind., Aug. 13.—Radio will sing the requiem Saturday at the funeral of William Fagan, East Chicago war veteran, who died from gas poisoning. A Chicago tenor, comrade of Fagan in the Rainbow division, will sing the song "My Buddy" over the radio from Chicago, as funeral services are held in the Fagan home.

NORTHERN LINES OPPOSE S. P. PLAN TO BUILD SOUTH

Modoc Northern To Cornell From K. F. Would Not Be Benefit To Klamath Is Opinion To I. C. C.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 13.—(United News)—The Oregon Trunk railway asked the interstate commerce commission today for a hearing to determine whether the application of the Central Pacific railway to construct a new line from Klamath Falls to Cornell, Calif., would adversely affect its own proposed extension. The Oregon Trunk line said it would not oppose the application of the Central Pacific unless it "would adversely affect the consideration of a mutual application for the right to build a line of railroad southeasterly from Klamath Falls, to a connection with existing lines in California."

The Central Pacific line proposes a 40 mile branch connection with Southern Pacific lines in California. New Road Wouldn't Help
In its reply to the commission's questionnaire the Oregon Trunk stated that the proposed Central Pacific construction would be a public benefit only if connection were made with existing line in California, pointing out that this evidently is not the intention.

The construction of a 40 mile line southeasterly into the agricultural area would not bring about development of that district it was claimed, but would furnish a connection with Klamath Falls only. Expected traffic does not justify the proposed line as presented in the application.

WILCOX PITTED AGAINST BOB JR.

OSHKOSH, Wis., Aug. 13.—(United News)—Roy P. Wilcox, of Eau Claire, Wis., several times a candidate for the governorship will carry the standard of the republican conservatives in the coming election to fill the vacancy left by the death of United States Senator Robert M. LaFollette.

Wilcox was elected unanimously at the republican state convention here Thursday night on the first official ballot. The conservative standard bearer has long been a vigorous opponent of LaFollette. Wilcox's nomination came suddenly after Dean H. Russell of the University of Wisconsin telephoned the convention before the third informal ballot that under no circumstances would he accept the nomination. On the first informal ballot he had received 257 1/2 votes, on the second ballot he received 279 1/2 votes. One more informal ballot was taken with the votes scattered before the first official was cast and Wilcox elected.

Forest Fires Still Raging in Mont.-Ida.

MISSOULA, Mont., Aug. 13.—(United News)—Fire hazards in the forests of Montana, northern Idaho and eastern Washington remained at the peak Thursday, officials at district headquarters announced. Many blazes are under control, while others are spreading to leave disaster in their wake. The largest crews assembled in five years have blazes in the Clearwater, St. Joe and Lolo forests surrounded by trenches and under control. High winds today swept the Rode creek fire in the Kaniku forest of Idaho, two miles beyond bounds that were thought effective. More men have been rushed to combat the 17-mile blaze north of Libby, which has spread over 20,000 acres.

Drops Bottle Right On Bill Leven's Toe

Circumstances conspired against Pat Hogue last night. Hogue dropped a bottle. Which was bad enough. But what was worse, State Prohibition Director Bill Levens was standing in front of the Hall hotel, where the bottle dropped. Which was worse. Hogue, who lives two miles west of Klamath Falls, was arrested for possession, and his car turned over to the sheriff for confiscation.

Tall Ones Here Out For Blood

K. F. Gents Over 6 Feet To Wage War For Longer Beds And Bathtubs

Longer beds and bigger bathtubs! The late Thomas R. Marshall, when asked what the world needed most declared: "A good nickel cigar." Tom was all wrong. Longer beds and bigger bathtubs are the paramount needs of a nation, and this will be the object of Klamath Falls business men, six feet and over, who will form a Longfellow club in the chamber of commerce at 8 o'clock Monday night, sign a charter and everything, in order to be enlisted among similar organizations in the state.

"Longfellow Club"
Men who groan when they sleep in petite Pullman berths, men who could not dampen their knees in bathtubs without the use of a sponge, and even men who curse the winds when their hats are pulled off by the city awnings. These men, and no others, are bidden to attend the meeting Monday evening to get the "Longfellow club" under way. The project was originated in Marshfield by business men who advocated the installation of longer beds and longer bathtubs in hotels in order that the long fellows may have comfort. In Klamath Falls the title is held to date by Everett O. Nord of Mungler Service laundries, who measures six feet three inches without his cement slippers.

Plenty of 'Em Here
Horace W. Bridgford of the Pelican Bay Lumber company follows closely with six feet two to his credit, tying with Dr. H. D. Lloyd Stewart, who is also six feet two. Fred Morley, Klamath sleuth, measures six feet, an inch and a half in his stocking feet. And Fred is assisting in sleuthing down the others whose names have not been learned.

Ed Pike of the Pelican Bay Lumber company comes in for his share of glory in the "Longfellow club" (Continued on Page Two)

He Has the Fever; He's Only Eleven

SAN FRANCISCO, Aug. 13.—(United News)—Robert E. Stevens, 11, had eleven cents and a date with his girl. Rather than disappoint the girl's desire to see a movie, Robert went without breakfast and hustled downtown to sell some papers. Business wasn't good and Robert worked all the harder. Then he fainted and found himself in the emergency hospital. When last seen Thursday evening, Robert was hurrying to the girl's home to explain why he hadn't kept the date.

RAIN ENDS LONG DRY SPELL IN PORTLAND

PORTLAND, Aug. 13.—(United News)—Rain fell here Thursday afternoon, ending a drought in which no rain fell for 61 days. Thus the longest dry period in the history of the local weather bureau came to a close. Records showed the longest previous dry spell was in 1883, when 67 successive dry days were recorded.

Naval Plane In Arctic Zone Is Stuck In Floes

MacMillan Expedition To North Pole Slowly Pushing Ahead

WASHINGTON, Aug. 13.—(United News)—One of the naval planes with the MacMillan expedition was nearly wrecked by an iceberg, which drifted into the harbor at Etah, Greenland, where the airplanes were moored. The report of this near disaster from Commander MacMillan followed earlier reports that he and members of the expedition are growing impatient over the bad weather which is hindering them, with only 17 days of flying time left, and new difficulties arising.

Fuel In Relays
The messages received by the national geographic society here indicated that the naval fliers would make another attempt Thursday to set up their advance base, stating that the planes would leave during the day for Flagger bay to put in a cache of fuel oil. MacMillan reported that it will be necessary to make 10 flights over the high peaks of Ellesmere Island in order to lay down sufficient fuel to make a temporary base worthwhile.

Radio Picked Up
The last message from MacMillan Thursday said: Wind blowing hard from the north, but with clearing weather. Small icebergs driven by wind and tide constantly threatened the planes. One narrowly missed the Na-2, which was tied to the stern of the Bowdoin and drifted swiftly down upon the Na-1. Quick and efficient work by Williams and Rejnarsz of the Bowdoin crew, later assisted by Bennet and Sorensen of the navy, averted what looked like at least a badly damaged plane, and possibly a complete loss.

Constable Shadley Pleads Not Guilty

Indian Officer Charged By Girl With Brutal Attack To Be Tried Saturday

A plea of not guilty was entered in Justice Ed Kendall's court late yesterday afternoon by Henry Shadley, Indian police officer and constable of Wood River, who is charged with the alleged assault and battery of Mrs. Leona Hoover, Indian woman of Chiloquin. Shadley will be tried before Justice Kendall Saturday morning at 10 o'clock. Shadley, it is alleged, struck a young Indian girl, about to become a mother, down with his hands and kicked her while she was on the ground.

LONE BANDIT ROBS U. S. POSTAL CLERK

CHICAGO, Aug. 13.—(United News)—A lone bandit robbed a postal messenger enroute from the Chicago, Burlington & Quincy railroad depot to a bank in Kewanee, Ill., according to word received at railroad headquarters late this afternoon. The sack contained no valuable mail, according to road officials. The bandit escaped in an automobile stolen from the messenger, the message said.

DRESS ABLAZE, 10-YEAR-OLD GIRL RESCUES FIVE FROM BURNING HOME

ALAMEDA, Calif., Aug. 13.—(United News)—With her clothing aflame, Lena Southard, 10, saved the lives of her five younger brothers and sisters when fire destroyed their home Thursday. The youngsters had been playing with matches while their parents were away from home. Lena was in the front of the house when the fire started in the kitchen, ran back and carried her six months' old sister to safety. When she returned for the second child her clothes were in flames. Hastily dousing herself with water, Lena continued her rescue work. On her fourth trip she was overcome by smoke and was carried out, with the remaining members of the family, by firemen. The girl's burns may cause her death, it was said at the emergency hospital.

ENFORCEMENT OF LIQUOR LAWS IN K. F. IS APPARENT

4 Months And $400 Fine Is Meted To Possessor Of Beer "Foundry" Raided By State Man

A new order of justice to Klamath Falls bootleggers and liquor possessors is apparent, with the results of prohibition arrests, and sentences of the past few days. Where liquor law violators in the past have been entirely freed or let off with light fines, the pendulum seems to have swung in the other direction. An arrest yesterday afternoon, followed by swift sentence by Acting Justice of the Peace Ed Kendall last night, is cited as an example.

Six hundred bottles of real beer were found by State Prohibition Officer McBride, Deputy Sheriff Burke and Police Officer Brown, who late yesterday afternoon arrested Lloyd Oesear of 1237 Lakeview avenue, charging him with the unlawful possession of liquor. Oesear appeared before Justice Ed Kendall and entered a plea of guilty.

Greenk Gets Jolt
With two cases of the bottled liquor as evidence before Justice Kendall, Oesear was given a sentence of four months in the county jail and a fine of $400, which he had failed to provide at a late hour last night. Oesear, who is said to be an American Greek, came to Klamath Falls three weeks ago from Kelso, Wash. Since that time he has been employed as a painter. According to McBride, 446 bottles were found on the floor, a 55 gallon barrel was full of the bottled liquor, as was a 10 gallon keg, and a wash boiler.

San Diego Independent To Start Daily Publication

SAN DIEGO, Cal., Aug. 13.—(United News)—Announcement that the San Diego Independent will enter the morning daily field here August 30, was made in full-page advertisements in all San Diego papers Thursday. The Independent will be controlled by Franklin O. Schroeder and J. H. Howell, prominent coast newspaper men. It will be published every morning except Monday. Mayor John L. Bacon of San Diego will edit the first edition, delivery of which will be made over the suburban area by airplane. The Independent will have full United News leased wire and United Press Saturday night wire service.

Slipped On A Banana Peel; Slipped In Can

LOS ANGELES, Aug. 13.—It was Dennis Kelly's fate to slip into jail on a banana peel. When Dennis fell on his hip pocket, he broke a bottle he carried there. In the bottle was a brown colored liquid with a strong odor. The odor wafted to the sensitive nose of Federal Prohibition Agent Jim Robb. He removed the banana peel, helped Dennis to his feet, then helped him to jail. Dennis will stay there until he can raise a $300 fine.

CHAPLIN'S HEART ACTION MENDED BY HIGH LIFE IN CITY

ORF, Aug. 13.—(United News)—Charlie Chaplin's condition has improved, but previous promises that comedian would be up Thursday, his physician that Chaplin would be day or two. It is now that he has been suffering from trouble. Dr. J. B. Macmillan said the statement that a heavy round of pleasure and entertainment following Chaplin's arrival had knocked him out. "Mr. Chaplin was taken ill Sunday with cardiac trouble and I found him with low blood pressure. This condition has been superinduced by overwork and his tedious trip from the coast, aggravated by the intense heat in New York. His condition has improved and he will be out in a day or two."
