

OUTSIDE HOUSE TO CARRY FULL STOCK IN K. F.

Western Auto Supply Sees Great Opportunity In Klamath Country

The Western Auto Supply company, the biggest retail automobile accessory firm in the west, if not in the entire world, is making plans to open a store in Klamath Falls within a very short time.

The Western Auto Supply company has a commercial history that reads like a tale from the Arabian Nights. Started originally as a small business by George Pepperdine, its founder, in Kansas City in 1909, the concern grew until it became necessary to embark in the retail business and open up a store where merchandise could be displayed. The opening of the first store was such a success from a business standpoint that new stores were opened from time to time until there was a heavy chain store organization in the middle western states. It became necessary for Mr. Pepperdine to leave Kansas City for his health and he moved to Denver, and then to Los Angeles, where the first store of the present Western Auto chain was established in 1916.

Large Concern

The Western Auto Supply company now has stores in practically every city and town of commercial importance in the western states. Their stores reach as far north as Bellingham, Washington, east to the Rocky Mountain district where Denver is represented with its "Western Auto" organization.

Mr. George Pepperdine, founder of the company and its present head, attributes the growth of the Western Auto Supply company to the sales policies of the organization. "From the time when I sold my first automobile accessories by mail in Kansas City 14 years ago," stated Mr. Pepperdine, "it has been my determination to sell to motorists the accessories they needed at a price that was consistently low when the quality of the article was considered. I made up my mind that I would sell nothing that I could not stand squarely behind with an offer that if it was not found exactly as represented or did not render a reasonable amount of service for the money invested, the matter would be adjusted to the satisfaction of the purchaser. This, in short, is the Western Auto sales policy. We live strictly up to it. Therefore we are careful that all merchandise sold by our stores be standard and worthwhile equipment that has a proved value. There is nothing cheap about "Western Auto" accessories or supplies. Our stores handle no shopworn merchandise. Our tires are all built to our own rigid specifications by some of the biggest tire manufacturers in the country.

Liked In Oregon

Oregon motorists have demonstrated their confidence in us by giving our Oregon stores their patronage. In our store to be opened shortly in Klamath Falls, we will carry the same high grade merchandise that is carried at the other stores and the same fair prices will prevail. The opening of this store is intended to make it more convenient for Oregon motorists in this locality to patronize "Western Auto," and also to do our bit towards the merited increase in the commercial establishment of the city."

John Hogan Nearing Death in Southland

Friends of John Hogan, an "old-timer" of the Klamath country, who happen to be planning a visit in the south, will do more than a kindness if they will stop in Oakland for a brief time and visit with Hogan at 2817 E. 14 street where he is confined to his bed in the Little Sisters of the Poor hospital.

This is the word received yesterday from Hogan's daughter, Mrs. Martha Seede, who returned from the south Thursday.

Hogan is failing fast, tuberculosis has its grip upon him and a crippled hip has left him in a critical condition.

He begged to be removed to Klamath, which he loves so well and where the majority of his life was spent when he rode the ranges with his cattle years ago. Hogan owned a ranch also on the upper Klamath lake. Due to his serious condition his request could not be granted, but friends who will be in the south soon are urged to visit the old man.

BRITISH DIVORCE COURTS DELUGED

LONDON, Aug. 13.—Divorce actions are deluging British courts faster than the judiciary can handle them. Increasing acceptance of a single standard of consideration as between men and women is responsible for many of the suits. Women are blamed for the mounting number of actions, not because of their misdeeds but because they now are on an even footing with men with regard to obtaining divorces and seem to take advantage of it. Divorce court judges are the busiest in England. Twelve hundred husbands and wives already have swarmed into the London divorce courts this year, and there still are four months to go of 1925.

Waiting petitions are stacked in heaps a foot high on many judicial desks. For many of these there is no hope for action this year.

Wholesale Divorces

Whole batches of suits some times are disposed of almost simultaneously on the wholesale principle. But other cases involve many years, many dollars and many witnesses—so many that weeks are required to bring out the sensational disclosures and complications.

Ninety-six decrees were made absolute in one snappy day's work not long ago, and even blase old London gasped.

"The women are responsible for most of this," says the Mrs. Grundy. It has been two years now since misconduct with another woman began to be considered ample reason for permitting a wife to rid herself of her husband. Even with this added avenue of escape, the number of divorces in 1925 may not exceed the big years of 1919-20-21, when many of the first fruits of the war being harvested.

Yank Soldiers of Fortune Fight for Dime a Day

Disproving the idea that modern warfare has made the soldier of fortune a romantic thing of the past, the seven Americans shown here, world war heroes, are risking their lives for 10 cents a day to fight for France in Morocco. All of them have fought in the uniforms of several countries. They are, left to right (seated) R. H. Weller, Edmund L. Gros, Charles Sweeney, Lt. Col. Parker, Lieut. Col. Kerwood, (standing) Major Pollock, Graham Rolton, L. C. Holden. Sweeney, son of a Seattle millionaire, has been in Mexican, Ecuadorian, French, American and Polish armies; in the latter as brigadier-general.

TALL ONES HERE OUT FOR BLOOD

as does Dr. E. Dietsch. Jim O'Brien claims the highest distinction when he and his two sons point out 100 percent. Jim Jr. and Marcus are in the six foot class. Their Dad is press operator of the Klamath News.

All Six Footers

The Hardenbrook brothers have often quarreled among themselves in the matter of "who's the tallest." Some say Byron is by an inch and others say Everett reaches the height of six feet one and three quarters easily. They are both eligible for charter membership however.

Paul Noel, commonly known as "Doc," Klamath Falls dentist, has an hard time sleeping in one of "them darn short beds" as anyone and he has pledged to be on hand to assist in the formation of the club.

Abe Barnes of the White Pelican hotel was the first to be approached on the subject of the Longfellow club and Abe replied that he couldn't sign the charter for he knew nothing about poetry. But Abe is the one to be on hand Monday night as he may be influential in the installment of longer equipment in the hotel.

Longer Caskets!

T. P. Henderson of the K. D. company and C. A. Henderson, county agent fall under the category of those who spend many a sleepless night when their feet persist in poking from under the covers and hitting the cold iron rails.

Earl Whitlock, and here's where the sad part comes in, could not be reached last night, but he will be asked to become a member, not only because he is over six feet tall, but because he could make the Longfellos more comfortable in after life. (Whitlock's the mortician).

Mo's store is represented by Albert May who stoops under the awnings of the store every time he enters or leaves the buildings. May is a strong advocate for the abolishment of awnings, anyway.

Scores of others will be enlisted in the next few days and officers will be elected at the Monday meeting. Material from Marshfield is being sent so the "low-down" will leave no doubt in the minds of Longfellows.

Remember fellows, Longfellows, one and all, make the Klamath organization go over with a bang, as they are in Portland this week.

Principal of High School in Reunion

An unheralded family reunion is being enjoyed by Paul Jackson, principal of the Klamath county high school, when his five brothers and their families are in the city from California, Washington and Arkansas.

Mr. and Mrs. Jackson returned Wednesday evening from a month's visit in Seattle. Upon their return they found notes to the effect that Jackson's two brothers from Fresno, Calif., were in the city, and had met accidentally with their two other brothers, one from Washington and one from Arkansas. A telegram was received yesterday, announcing the arrival of another brother from the north, who arrived last night.

The visitors plan to take a trip to Crater Lake today. Those in the party will be Mr. and Mrs. Paul Jackson of Klamath Falls, Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd Jackson and son Lloyd, Jr., and daughter, Dorothy, Mr. and Mrs. Clyde Jackson, all of Fresno; Mr. and Mrs. Luther Jackson of Burlington, Wash.; Mr. and Mrs. Eugene Jackson of Little Rock, Ark., and Mr. and Mrs. Bennett Jackson, of Bremerton, Wash.
