

ITALIANA BOULEVARD AND REST IN GAY PAREE LOOK LIKE BROADWAY

By STEVE HANNAGAN
(United News Special Correspondent)
PARIS, Aug. 23.—The Americans are here—from LaFayette and every place else.

They are divided into two groups—those who see Paris via guide books and rubber-neck wagons, and those who glimpse life from bar-room, bedroom and taxicab windows.

The former see less, but view it more accurately—there are few headaches found in art galleries.

Tired business men, college boys and girls with wealthy fathers, cloak and suit buyers from the larger stores, school teachers of both sexes and wives who must impress their neighbors, make up a few regiments of the spending, pleasure-bent invaders.

There also is a number of antique dealers here—mostly men searching for a drink of alcoholic beverage that hasn't been tinctured with an essence of something.

An elderly couple from Indiana, halted on the rue de la Prie, blurted in ironic frenzy that they had been saving the oats and corn profits for years to come to winter in Paris to see the French people.

It seems that American crusaders, blazing the trail with flags adorned with dollar signs, have almost converted the picturesque race that gave us Joan of Arc and indigestible food.

But France never will be annexed if those who like a wee drop have their way. They might then have to make the three weeks' cruise to the orient for a drink.

One American suggested that there are enough visiting voters here to elect a president of the United States. A war veteran tartly retorted that there were enough pool book entrants over here in 1918 to defeat any issue, but they couldn't vote. Both had been drinking German beer in a bar conducted by an Englishman.

The only visual evidence that a war was conducted over here are a few of the trenches and shell holes that are more profit bearing to bus owners than Chinatown to New York sight-seeing companies. There is some agitation to move the holes nearer Paris, so that more people can see them.

After hearing a few college boys give their yells in Montmartre, a Frenchman who speaks English said: "That recent trial about evolution in Dayton, Tenn., was unnecessary. The Americans descended from the Indians."

He couldn't explain where the Indians came from, and was fined one round of drinks.

There will be a lot of loans floated by American banks as a result of this year's battle of Paris, but few of them will receive newspaper notice.

Paris, in summer, is as devoid of Frenchmen as Alaska is of summer resorters in bathing suits, but the Americans have more fun with the city's facilities than the natives could.

JUSTICE KENDALL GIVES ALIEN A SEVERE LECTURE

Mike Pudoff, native Russian, charged with the possession of a moonshine still, hung his head as he stood before Acting Justice of the Peace Kendall yesterday morning.

"Pudoff," Kendall said, "you come to the United States from a country torn with strife—you came here to get away from that sort of thing and, presumably, to become a useful resident of this community. You were welcomed here, you were offered every advantage accorded native Americans.

"You know about the 18th amendment, and the Oregon laws. You know that you should not violate the prohibition laws.

"I'm going to let you off easily—but I'm not doing it for your sake. I'm doing it for your wife, and for your children. In the future I would suggest that you spend more time with them."

Pudoff, arrested several days ago, was ordered to pay a fine of $500.

GIRL OWN ATTORNEY FINED

COQUILLE, Ore., Aug. 23.—When Miss Hazel Pense, 29 and pretty, was arrested at Bridge on August 8 for alleged bootlegging, she announced that she would plead her own case and be her own counsel. As an attorney, however, she failed, and was sentenced to 60 days in jail and fined $250.

Million Bootleggers

In U. S.; Prohi Cards Are Placed On Table

WASHINGTON, Aug. 23.—(United Press)—With Assistant Secretary of the Treasury Andrews' 24 prohibition administrators appointed, and his cards on the table, under ground reports reaching the treasury department by way of the prohibition intelligence service are to the effect that bootleggers are cunningly their wits to invent some new method of operation proof against his campaign.

More than one million bootleggers operate in the country, according to various estimates. Reports of the United States district attorney for Washington tend to bear out the figures, at least for the national capital. It has been estimated by his office that 5,000 bootleggers in Washington, or one to every 100 inhabitants.

Jardine Kicks Taylor Out On Second Request

WASHINGTON, Aug. 23.—Termination of the services of Dr. H. C. Taylor, chief of the bureau of agricultural economics of the department of agriculture was announced Thursday.

Some time ago Taylor was asked to resign by Secretary Jardine but he refused. According to reports Jardine several days ago while taking treatment at a local hospital again requested Taylor to leave his department and the department announced Thursday that his appointment "had been terminated."

Defense Battles To Strike Confession

LOS ANGELES, Aug. 22.—The insanity plea of Dr. Thomas W. Young, eccentric dentist, who is on trial for the slaying of his beautiful society wife, Grace Grogan Young, has been side-tracked by the defense counsel in favor of a plan, which calls for a bitter legal battle against the doctor's confessions being admitted as evidence.

"I don't care whether Dr. Young is found sane or insane by the two alienists, who have been appointed by the judge to study that question," John S. Cooper, member of the defense counsel, declared tonight.

"The real fight of the defense will be waged next week when we will contend the confessions were taken after Dr. Young had been tired out by constant questioning."

Flexstone

(Approved by Underwriters Laboratories)

Make sure the roofing you buy will stand the fire test

JOHNS - MANVILLE Stone Roofing will stand many other roofing tests. And it meets a double test not only does it withstand destructive force of fire, Flexstone lasts indefinitely under the action of sun and elements. What is of interest, it sells at a low price. Costs practically same as the better roofing but with Flexstone is fire resistant and being all mineral it does not rot, disintegrate or out.

Lowest Cost-Per-Year Roofing

Flexstone is a mineral fabric, composed of impure asbestos fibre, waterproofed with natural asphalt. Formed in rolls—smooth both sides or with a surfacing of red, green, blue-black crushed slate, or feldspar. Also in the form of individual or strip shingles. Can be laid by anyone with a hammer is necessary. On a cost-per-year basis Flexstone is the most economical roofing you can buy.

Registration—Our Service Obligation

Flexstone is also covered by the liberal terms of Registration policy of the Johns-Manville Company means that their responsibility does not end with the service promised. You can register your roof through us. Let us explain this protection.
