No little excitement was caused during the races when five cars, everything from Fronto Specials to Studebaker chassis, started with the drop of the flag, only four ending in the first of the three laps. Phil Lennon, driving the Lennon Dodge, wove a frantic hand, calling for help to rescue a fallen one farther down the track. There was excitement for a moment, especially among the young boys, who, regardless of danger, scrambled across the track, in front of the whizzing racers anxious to get a front seat in the reported tragedy. The "tragedy" however, turned out to be only to the effect that the driver lost his chance on the $500 purse, when he took a curve too sharply and "bit the dust" with his Ford engine fuming in the track a few feet ahead.

of those found dead, shortly before the ship buckled. Apparatus Stolen Klein said the court officially found the members of the crew who were killed died due to accident in line of duty. "There was no negligence," he said. "Any charge of misconduct is unfounded. It is not plausible that a member of the crew would premeditate destruction of the craft, while he himself was aboard her." The court first identified the dead, then called all available witnesses including surviving members of the ship who testified concerning the wild antics of the craft before she crashed. Progress of the inquiry was delayed by the theft of important apparatus.

U. S. SIMPLY UP AGAINST IT IN AERIAL DEFENSE

Nation's One Real Aerial Expert Pleads For Preparations

SAN ANTONIO, Texas, Sept. 4. (United News)—"There is no limit to the things we need for the development of air craft in this country," said Col. William Mitchell, air officer of the 5th corps area and deposited assistant head of the army air service. Colonel Mitchell talked freely about the Shenandoah Thursday night, but would make no statement for publication, other than to express his regrets. "In the past a great portion of the new devices which have originated in this country have been taken up and utilized by foreign countries to their advantage," the colonel commented. "In other words, the conservatism of the war and navy departments has been such that it has been impossible. "Conservatism in the war and navy departments has actually stifled inventive genius in aviation. All these government agencies are something like Professor Simon Newcomb, who proved absolutely that you could not fly in the air; no use to fool with it. That is the kind of stuff we have been fighting against and are still fighting against."

Former Residents Return—Klamath Falls, where they formerly resided was sufficiently attractive to Mr. and Mrs. James Lytle, until recently of San Francisco, to cause them to return to this city.

LAKEVIEW ALL READY FOR ITS GREAT ROUNDUP

LAKEVIEW, Sept. 4.—With Miss Ruby Gibson of Warner Valley, chosen as the rodeo queen, Lakeview is all prepared for the annual round-up, which will be held at the local rodeo grounds, September 5th, 6th and 7th.

Miss Gibson is only 16 years of age, but she was reared on a cattle ranch and is considered as a regular cowgirl in these parts.

Many Riders Coming Riders from all over the country, all the old horses and many new ones, are on the list of performers who will do their deviltry before the crowds that gather in Lakeview September 5th, 6th and 7th.

A herd of wild horses that outnumber any band of wild horseflesh that ever graced a Lakeview arena, has been gathered together during the past two weeks. In addition to the Lakeview string of some forty horses, twenty-three head of the best buckers of the Big association have been secured, as well as some fifteen or twenty of the wildest to be found in the Plush country.

Indians to Participate The 1925 round-up will see more of the Indian participation than ever before, under stimulus of the big prizes in a contest for the best war dancing teams to perform during the celebration. Free beef, fuel, light and water will be provided for all visiting Indians, in addition to the handsome prizes, and the Indian will have his fair share of the glamour of the round-up. Word from the Klamath lead officials to expect a record crowd. Three relay strings will be brought by various Indian owners for participation in the Indian relay events.

The ever-thrilling chariot race will hold a paramount place on the program. At least two chariots, and possibly three or four, will be on hand to make the giddy whirl of the track. Gene Henry, Dalie Givans and Harold Bell will be the star performers in the event.

Other activities for the evening entertainment are being arranged in the way of shows and merry-go-round.

WEATHER CAUSES POSTPONEMENT KIWANIS' SHOW

Pirates Of Penzance May Be Seen Tonight If Weather Permits

Inclemency of the weather last night postponed the second and last presentation of the Kiwanis musical comedy, "Pirates of Penzance" until this evening, when tickets and reserved seats held for Friday night, will be good for tonight.

Reports on the streets yesterday were to the effect that the cast had promised even a "bigger and better" show if possible, for their last performance.

The weather man also promises a "bigger and better" night than even Thursday night, when the natural setting proved ideal for the splendid work done by the members of the cast.

If advice of those who had seen the work will have an influence upon those who were unfortunate in missing it the first night, there will be no vacant seats left in the grandstand.

The Kiwanis are exceedingly sorry that the show was necessarily postponed last night. Many Medford and Ashland people journeyed over here early before the rain started, and were disappointed at not seeing the show, the object of their coming.
