

IN SOCIETY

TRAITS OF A NEIGHBOR

She has her floor swept dishes done. You'll find her in the sun.

After midnight, she's in the lock, you never see her chimney smoke at ten o'clock.

In her garden she shovels and a spoon, she has her lazy lettuce light of the moon.

As you walk you see a woman in a dream, she gets her borrowed butter and you back cream.

It looks like a meadow she mows the place, she has the clover standing Queen Anne's Lace.

A Few Figs from Edna St. Vincent Millay.

On the solid rock the ugly sea stand; and see my shining palace upon the sand.

MISS DUNHAM HONOR GUEST

For the pleasure of Miss Dorothy Dunham who will leave in the near future for Portland, where she will enter St. Helen's Hall, Miss Helca Abbey entertained at the Abbey home, Tenth and Lincoln streets with an informal dancing party one evening during the past week.

INTEREST MANIFEST IN BUSINESS AFFAIR

Much interest is being manifested by members of the Oregon Federation of Business & Professional Women's clubs in the home welcoming dinner to be given Saturday evening, Sept. 12, 6:30 at the Multnomah hotel, ball room, mezzanine floor, at which time all delegates who attended the seventh annual convention of the National Federation will give reports as to the happenings at Portland-Maine, telling of some particular activity in which they took part.

Miss Adella Prichard, who has just completed her second term of office as national president, having just returned from New York where she turned over to her newly elected successor, Mrs. Olive Joy Wright, the work of the federation, will bring a message of great importance to all club members, her subject being: "What the Federation Brings to Us." Her contact and experiences during the past two years when she had headed the organization composed of 701 active clubs, with a membership of some 45,041 business women, enables her to know just what the national federation means and brings to each and every one.

Miss Martha Gasch, corresponding secretary of the state federation, was appointed Oregon's official representative of the national executive council, which is composed of one representative from each state. Miss Gasch participated in all meetings of the council, and land, Maine, in order to assist in lining up the newspaper publicity, this work brings her in contact with and familiarizes her with the leading women of the federation. Her topic will be "Outstanding Women."
