

"Let us have faith that right makes might, and in that faith let us to the end dare to do our duty as we understand it."—Abraham Lincoln.

The Radio on the Farm

Simple Sets Can Now Be Installed and Operated

Much attention is being given to radio for the rural dweller from the standpoint of simplicity of operation and reception.

Like all new inventions, radio is going through a state of progression to eliminate complicated mechanical devices and make it more enjoyable for the everyday operator.

Radio engineers are constantly at work perfecting as nearly as possible every feature of radio and are making great strides in broadcasting and receiving equipment, particularly along the lines of rural reception and better reception during hot weather. Many improvements have already been made in the receiving equipment to simplify operation, so that a farmer coming in from the fields or a tired business man can, with a simple turn of the wrist, get the station he desires.

Any rural dweller can install a receiving set, and without any help whatsoever from the outside, operate it to advantage. This is encouraging news for the farmer, for radio furnishes a great link in the chain of attractions that will help keep the young people at home, no matter if they live on far removed farms or near great cities.

A Good Example

Law for One Is Law for All

Two Washington fire guards were arrested for smoking and for leaving camp fires burning in the forest they were "protecting." An Oregon man was fined $100 for refusing to help put out a fire he had started, saying that he had lived here for 47 years and he "knew all about fires."

The northwest has just gone through a bad fire season; it would have been worse if extraordinary precautions had not been taken. It will take a lifetime to put many burned-over areas back to the condition they were in last spring. A law that punishes the careless, defiant or criminal user of our forests, is a good law that needs rigid enforcement.

Happier Lives

Farmers Are Entitled to Every Convenience

In an address recently on the subject of agricultural education and the necessity for applying scientific methods to farming, H. M. Atkinson, chairman of the Georgia Railway and Power company, said:

"My company realizes that agricultural and industrial development go hand in hand. Industry furnishes the home market for the farm product. It is my aim and desire to make electricity available for the farm. Some of the results of this would be:

1. Greater use of machinery on the farm.
2. Substitution of mechanical for man power.
3. Greatly increased production per man.
4. Conservation of human life and strength.
5. Greater comforts and conveniences on the farm.
6. Less drudgery in the home.
7. Greater opportunities for recreation.
8. Greater attractiveness and interest to farm life.
9. Farm and country life will become more desirable than city life.
10. The mechanical problems will interest the young men and keep them on the farms.
11. Happier lives.

"I want to call to the attention of you young farmers the importance of exercising your privileges of citizenship and your duty to vote. It is vital that you, as farmers, take an interest in governmental affairs. You should see that the right men are elected to office and that taxes are reasonable, and not so excessive that they will decrease, rather than increase revenue, by driving industries and citizens out of the state."

Secretary Hoover declares that until there is thorough reorganization of government administrative functions, further reductions in expense of government cannot be hoped for. He believes that proper adjustment would result in an annual saving of $250,000,000.

The Combination

Dinner Stories

They sat at table, he and she, and gazed into each other's eyes, what time he mechanically consumed the food which was set before him.

"Ah," she said, "I am glad you like it. Mother says there are only two things I can make properly—potato salad and marmalade tart."

"Indeed," said he, "and which is this?"

A delegation from Kansas visited the late Theodore Roosevelt at Oyster Bay some years ago. The host met them with a coat and collar off, mopping his brow.

"Ah, gentlemen," he said, "de-lighted to see you. Dee-lighted. But I'm very busy putting in my hay just now. Come down to the barn with me and we'll talk things over while I work."

Down to the barn hustled president and delegation.

Mr. Roosevelt seized a pitchfork and—where was the hay?

"John!" shouted the president, "John! where's all the hay?"

"Sorry, sir," came John's voice from the loft, "but I ain't had time to throw it back since you threw it up for yesterday's delegation."

The London consul of a continental kingdom was informed by his government that one of his country women, supposed to be living in Great Britain, had been left a large fortune. After advertising without result, he applied to the police, and a smart young detective was set to work. A few weeks later his chief asked how he was getting on.

"I've found the lady, sir."
"Good! Where is she?"
"At my place. I married her yesterday."

Suggestions

Rubber gloves have become as much a part of the modern house-keeper's wardrobe as her aprons. Surgeons' rubber gloves are soft and pliant, and are, of necessity, made so that the surgeon may retain his sense of touch, qualities that make them highly desirable to the housekeeper as well. Buy at any surgical supply store what is known as "surgeons' seconds." That means there is some flaw that would make the gloves unsafe for actual surgical use. But for the housekeeper the gloves are not impaired. And the price is so small that what otherwise might be a luxury is really an economy. Dust inside of gloves well with powder before and after using, making sure they are thoroughly dry before putting them away. Their service when so cared for is remarkably long.

It is hard for the casual visitor to New York to understand why they call the other ones burlesque show houses.—Dayton News.

Children's Pictorial Cross Word Puzzle

Running Across.
Word 1. "Bah, bah, black shee" have you any —
Word 4. One who rides.
Word 5. A military force.

Running Down.
Word 1. Heated slightly.
Word 2. Command.
Word 3. To kneel in supplication.

YESTERDAY'S PUZZLE ANSWERED.

Sunny Dick Says

"An Act of God" is Only Verdict in Aftahip Probe.—Poor God, He's always the goat.

U. S. Senators Will Arrive Sunday; to Start Hearing Monday, Federal Building, Cattle and Reclamation to Be Heard During Day.—The good listeners amongst them are assured of a good time.

Klamath County as Proven Best Country Conclusively Shown. High Sugar Content.—If producing sugar beets has the same effect on the price of our sugar that producing timber has on the price of lumber we buy, how can they expect us consumers to get excited?

Bonanza Is Big Winner in Fair. Excellent Community and Individual Exhibits.—Next thing Bonanza will want to become a suburb of Klamath Falls.

Flotilla of 18 Destroyers Are Sent After PN-9-1.—Dear Wilbur: Aren't you afraid some of your warships will over that plane?

Klamath Has Terrific Dust Storm Followed by Rain Squalls.—Cheer up. The same that blows the skirts sky high blows dust into the manly eye.

Lakeview Round-Up in Heart of Most Thinly Settled Section of the United States.—In a district where everyone has to ride from babyhood to get anywhere some great riding could be expected.

Talk about nailing your colors to the mast, the Central Community club nailed their potatoes to the wall to form their name. They had everything from ideas to peanuts. Klamath produces some remarkable things.

Judging by the surprising array of Klamath county fruits, a small boy could have had his choice of 20 different kinds of stomach ache. Most of the pears, apples and plums looked pretty green yet.

Our postoffice returns, which indicate a wonderful growth in Klamath, must be right, because the boys' and girls' club work exhibit showed an increase of 50% over last year.

Heart & Home Problems

By Mrs. Elizabeth Thompson

WANTS TO MARRY A GIRL WITH A PAST

Few of us who profess Christianity have Christ's consideration for the fallen woman. This young man has:

Dear Mrs. Thompson: I am a young man of 21, and am very much in love with a girl of 18.

She is very good looking, but has been cast aside by my friends because of the life she has lived. I am going to tell you about her life as I know it. We met about a year ago just after her marriage had been annulled. When she was at the age of 15 her parents died, leaving her alone. At the age of 16 she married, living with her husband only a short time, until their marriage was annulled. After that she had no home and no folks and made her home with every one and ran with any man that came along. This went on for about six months, then I met her.

From that day to this I have loved her. She has always kept her place when with me, because she says I am different. She laid her past life before me, and said she was not worth fighting for. I helped her, showed her the bright side of life, and since then she has tried and succeeded. She went away to college for a year, so she could forget the past, and has lived her life beyond question. My folks do not want me to marry her. They threaten to disown me if I do. But I would rather give them up than lose her. Don't you really think she deserves something when she has tried so hard to get on? Do you think a man would show a man her past and tell her the life she has lived. If she meant to do that, do you think it would be worth marrying her?

The most Christian of us tries to be forgiving and to be very sure of yourself, and her, then marry her and go on where you will be free from gossip and prejudice of the part of persons who profess Christianity but do not practice it.

Dear Mrs. Thompson: There is a little hunchback boy living near door to us. He never plays with the other children, and is so lonely that I just feel like to do something for him. He wants his mother to feel like I think she is very something. I think she is very something. The fact that one of her children is deformed. Please advise me.

If you have the opportunity the boy to do little things for you. This will show him that you can be useful in some way. It is important, however, not to press any feeling of sympathy for him, for the deformed child that of all things. It is not to resent your advances, but to give him a little money, or give him a suitable book that will interest him but not make him waste his deformity. Let it be a book that will make him dream and imagine himself one of the best or he might like one of the construction toys.

One of the most beautiful fables in the English language written by the weather man is: "Fair, with gentle winds."—Toledo Blade.

STEP-WORD PUZZLE

(PATENT APPLIED FOR)

Copyright, 1923, King Features Syndicate, Inc. Great Britain Rights Reserved.

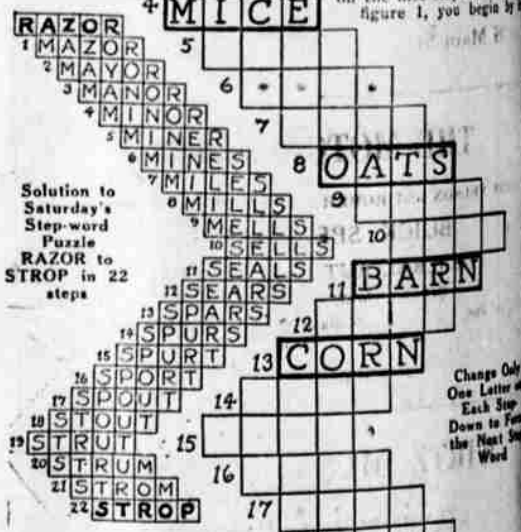

(Reproduction of this title, "STEP-WORD" or of the design, contents or subject matter in any form, without the express consent of King Features Syndicate, Inc., is prohibited.)

By ARTHUR WYNNE,

Originator of the Modern Cross-Word Puzzle.

Here is something new in step word puzzles. Today's puzzle has no definitions to guide you in reaching the solution. Can you solve the puzzle without them? We begin with the word RATS in the top row and end with TRAP on the bottom step. But before we reach the end we change RATS into MICE in four steps. A few steps later we change MICE into OATS, then BARN, then CORN, then CHEW before the final ending into TRAP.

To change RATS into MICE in four steps you simply drop one letter at a time and substitute a new letter to spell a four letter word. For instance on the first step down from figure 1, you begin by dropping the 'A' and substituting 'M' for 'R'.

Solution to Saturday's Step-Word Puzzle: RAZOR to STRAP in 22 steps.

tering the word RATS in the four blank spaces. Then erase one of the letters and substitute a new letter to spell another four-letter word. The "R" can be lifted out, for example, and an "M" substituted to spell MATS. Then you repeat the performance in going from step 1 to step 2 and so on until on step 4 you reach MICE. In four more steps, after making a one-letter change on each step, you reach OATS and so on until you reach TRAP.

On the thirtieth step, the solution to today's puzzle will appear tomorrow together with a five-letter step-word problem.

The solution to today's puzzle will appear tomorrow together with a five-letter step-word problem. The solution to today's puzzle will appear tomorrow together with a five-letter step-word problem. The solution to today's puzzle will appear tomorrow together with a five-letter step-word problem.