

DEER SEASON IS OPEN THIS MORN; MANY K. F. HUNTERS HEAR CLARION

Black Tailed Deer Of Eastern Cascade Slopes Will Be First Victims; Many Deer Reported Off Jenny Creek Near Lost Town Of Pokegema

Today opens the season for the sport of sports!
Deer hunting is on, officially proclaimed.
Klamath sportsmen, many of them, left early this morning before daybreak, and even more left last night, camping for several hours with a short snatch at sleep, in order to be on the grounds first thing today.
Red shirts, red caps, red neckties, in fact all manner of red garments were worn by hunters, who have learned the lesson of many hunters.

According to mountain rangers, the deer are exceedingly plentiful this year, and the sport for which sportsmen have been so patiently waiting is ripe.

Black-tailed deer, which roam the eastern slopes of the Cascade mountains, will be the first of the season to feel the harvest of the hunter. Another favorite spot is farther south, near the California line, off Jenny creek, where, in the little lost town of Pokegema, the deer are said to be feeding fearlessly.

One of the "big affairs" of the season is the deer barbecue, which is scheduled for Sunday, September 13 at the Crooked Creek hatchery, when members of the Klamath Sportsmen's association and their families will gather for the big barbecue of the year.

Game wars throughout the state who are particularly interested in the hunting season, especially the deer season, have spent several months prior to the opening date, in warning the hunters throughout Oregon in the laws of the hunt, and stressing the sportsmen's own code of ethics in the rules and penalties of the game laws of Oregon.

In the game laws of Oregon, a small booklet published for the protection and propagation of game birds, game fish and game animals, such rules in connection with deer hunting may be found. A number of these include the following chapters: Coupon must be attached when killed; disguising sex prohibited; female, spotted fawn and deer of the first year protected at all times; must be tagged after hunting season closes; open season and bag limit; unlawful to hunt at night; unlawful to hunt with automobiles, etc.; unlawful to sell hides; unlawful to trap, ensnare, etc.; unlawful to use dogs to hunt.

Why Washington Is Leading

Everybody is in action here. Roger Peckinbaugh is leaping out of the way as Catcher Cochrane, of the Athletics, slides to the plate to tag the Washington shortstop. His umps, Tommy Connolly, right on top of the play, signifies Peckinbaugh is safe. It was the first of the crucial games, and Washington won, 7-3.

Tables Are Turned; Pirates Slipping, As Well As Washington

NEW YORK, Sept. 9.—The drum majors of both major leagues were struck in the region of their aplomb in the course of Wednesday's ball games but neither of them dropped the baton.

There were only three games on the carte du jour, but two of them involved the leaders.

In the one at Pittsburgh, the Pirates, who have been indulging in some dangerous relaxation after their arduous tour of the eastern cities, were trimmed again by the Cubs. The score was 9 to 7 and inasmuch as the Giants were not engaged for the day, the Pirates lost half a game of their lead, being now 7½ games in front. The Cubs won in the tenth inning when they scored 3 runs. On the whole the effort was rather loosely organized on both sides, the Cubs committing two mistakes and the Pirates being charged with four.

Inasmuch as the Giants still have a date with the Pirates in Pittsburgh the present is not an opportune time for the Pirates to lose any ball games, random or otherwise. If the Giants should pick themselves up and begin another dash, as they are quite likely to do, they might snatch that series from the Pirates and also gather in the pennant in the last games of the season.

The notorious tendency of the Pirates to fold up in the final crises of the schedule may not have been completely cured, after all.

In Philadelphia, the Athletics divided their series with the Senators, taking Wednesday's final game 9 to 7. This one, like the one in Pittsburgh was a display of free hitting in which the jack rabbit ball may have been given another chance. It left the Senators a lead of seven games, and it was the Athletics' second consecutive victory, after they had lost a dozen without interruption.

The Red Sox and Yankees, disputants over the right to be called the worst ball team in either league, had a game in Boston. The Red Sox won, 5 to 4.

Kid Kaplan Suffers Case of Cold Feet

NEW YORK, Sept. 9.—(United News)—Louis Kid Kaplan, featherweight champion, is entertaining a convention of malaria germs and will not be able to fight again until the indoor season in the new Madison Square Garden is well started.

Although malaria is accompanied by cold feet, Scotty Monteth, manager of Kaplan, insists that this is an effect rather than the cause.

Kaplan recently took what is technically known as a pasting from Babe Herman, but got a draw decision in his home country, Waterbury, Conn.

If Kaplan wants to box again in New York he will probably find the boxing commission insisting that he give Herman a return match.

Hawaiian's 'Whale' Costs—Congress

WASHINGTON, D. C. Sept. 9.—(United News)—Hawaii is the nation's greatest asset in the Pacific and should be heavily taxed while the Philippines, the country's greatest liability, should be immediately returned to the Philippines, in the opinion of Congressman David H. Keenan of Kentucky, who recently returned from a tour of the Far East.

"Leading Filipinos are naturally intelligent and desire independence," he said. "There is no fear of Japanese aggression because the islands are too far from the Japanese."

With a party of eleven, Keenan, Kitchel, and other members of the Hawaiian League, he said, was dominated by militarists and a few business men and refused to listen to the independence plea.

2 TITLE FIGHTS FOR THIS MONTH

Mickey Walker Meets Dave Shade Sept. 21; Paul Ber- lenbach Fights Jim Slat- tery Friday

NEW YORK, Sept. 9.—(United News)—The air is so crowded with the uproar of critical doings in tennis and baseball that two championship fights on the program for the immediate future in New York are receiving about as much public notice as the quarter finals of the junior metropolitan hop-scotch championship.

Paul Berlenbach is to defend the light heavyweight championship of the world Friday night in the Yankee stadium against Jimmy Slattery, and on the night of September 21 Mickey Walker will risk the welterweight title at least in a fight with Dave Shade, barring the unforeseen. Berlenbach and Slattery seem to be about a stand-off in the reckoning of the probabilities. Paul hit much harder than Shade, who knocked Slattery cold a few weeks ago, and therefore has a chance to win by a knockout if he can hit Slattery squarely. However, Slattery is a tip-top boxer, with a flitting style, who always fights best against slow moving bodies, of which Berlenbach is one of the slowest.

There still is some skepticism as to whether Walker will ever enter the ring against Shade. Although the fight is less than two weeks away, little is heard from the promoters.

The abandonment of either bout would cause less anguish at this time than in normal weeks of the summer season, because the interest of the customers is divided between the Davis cup matches in Philadelphia, the national men's tennis championships next week, and the baseball races.
