Hughie McQuillan Is Set Back $750

NEW YORK, Sept. 14.—Hughie McQuillan, once a mighty pitcher on the Giants' staff, now under suspension and beset by many troubles was fined $750 Monday for falling behind in the payment of alimony to his wife, who is suing him for a writ of separation.

The actual charge against McQuillan was contempt of court for failing to comply with an alimony order requiring him to pay $500 a month during the baseball season. The fine when paid will be applied toward the reduction of Mrs. McQuillan's claim.

McQuillan's lawyer said Hughie was absolutely broke but had managed to raise $400, which was accepted as part payment of the $750 fine. Hughie will have one week to raise the other $350, but in the meantime another alimony payment of $250 will fall due.

Big League Baseball Is Getting Refined; Goslin Apologetic

WASHINGTON, Sept. 14.—(United News)—The formal apology once unheard of in professional baseball, is becoming a downright fact, as the game gains in refinement.

Babe Ruth recently apologized to Miller Huggins, the Yankee manager and Goose Goslin, star outfielder and hitter of the Senators, was reinstated Monday, following a brief suspension, which was not to be lifted until he begged the pardon of Bucky Harris, the young manager of the champions.

Goslin let two fly balls get by him in Sunday's game, with the Athletics, each of which went for a triple and Harris, in the new courtly manner, of the baseball manager, expressed the opinion that Goslin should have caught them in his hip pocket.

Then there were words and Goslin was fired off the squad and fined $100. He was told that he could get back on the team by apologizing and Monday he was reinstated with permission to play in a game with the Tigers.

Giant of the Skies Meets Disaster in Storm

When the Shenandoah broke away from her moorings in Lakehurst, and with her nose ripped off and her covering badly torn, battled and conquered a terrific storm, it was proclaimed she never would meet with a fatal accident. But the elements were too much for her crossing Ohio, and the Queen of the Skies broke in two, with loss of life and vast damage.

Jud Short Shot His Deer But It Was Day

Jud Short, deputy game warden at Crooked Creek hatcheries was in Klamath Falls yesterday, bound in the general direction of the News office, a shot gun, double barreled, in hand.

Well, after this, we'll go a little slow on this particular type of venison barbecue publicity. At any rate, Jud was injured while bagging a deer. But it wasn't in the moonlight that he shot him. For proof, look at the almanac. There isn't any moon until day after tomorrow.

KLAMATH PRAISED IN PORTLAND PUBLICITY

In a recent issue of the Portland Commerce, affiliated with the chamber of commerce of United States, and other civic publications, the editorial is devoted to the forest fire prevention of Klamath county sponsored in the Stop Forest Fires campaign of last year. One paragraph especially stresses the importance of the movement that found birth in Klamath county: "The Portland chamber commends the enterprise of the Klamath county sister organization, and will be very glad to co-operate in any direction to attain the ultimate of a thoroughly educated, alert people for the protection of one of nature's greatest beauty spots and finest recreation areas that may be found upon the continent."

S. P. IS CIRCULATING PETITION IN MERRILL

Petitions are being circulated by farmers of Merrill. It was learned last night, endorsing the Southern Pacific company's program which provides for the building of a new main line to the east through Tale lake with a system of feeder lines radiating from Klamath Falls. The petitioners are all farmers of the Merrill vicinity or business men in that town who are directly interested as shippers or travelers in bringing about the railroad building without possibility of long delay.

OWNER OF 680 TRACT HERE INSPECTS LAND

W. B. Allen of Los Angeles, owner of 680 acres of fine Merrill valley land, arrived in Klamath Falls last night to view for the first time the land he had purchased. The acreage is well known to Klamath residents as the Anderson place. With Mr. Allen came C. C. Chase of Glendale, automobile dealer, and F. H. Treat, realtor, who will interest himself in the sale of the Anderson land. Klamath county has a most favorable name over the coast, according to the visitors, with the land discussion pointing toward rapid settlement within the coming ten

Sportsmen Venison Barbecue Attracts Many at Hatchery

A mule tail deer weighing in at 250 pounds! Food prepared by experienced chefs, fit for the gods, chefs who could wield a mean basting spoon. With these two things at hand the venison barbecue of Sunday at Crooked Creek hatchery lacked nothing and proved the biggest success of the year. The affair was sponsored by the Klamath County Sportsmen's association.

Mark Howard and Dr. W. R. Boyd were delegates to "Bring home the bacon" for the palates of the hungry 200!

And a mule tail fell from a whizzing bullet and contributed his part in the success of the barbecue.

Speakers before and after the "feed" at 2 o'clock Sunday afternoon included E. F. Averill, of Portland, state game warden, M. H. Bauer of Corvallis, member of the game commission, William Coleman, Medford, state screen man, Captain A. E. Burgdoff, ex-state game warden, Nate Otterbein, Bill Lee and O. D. Matthews of the association. To Matthews goes much credit for the success of the annual function.

Four men, with much care as to their ability and nationality were picked to barbecue the venison. They were E. F. Duffy, known as "Paddy," Roscoe Largent, one of the wickedest cooks in Klamath, C. C. Johnson who pled a swift fork and Hans Christiansen, a cook by nature.

Although the deer was not brought to camp before late Saturday night many hands made light work and two hands didn't spoil the broth.

ARE WOMEN APPRECIATIVE? 'We are', says Society Leader

The most trying period of a woman's life is during the "dangerous age," as it is called, meaning the years between 45 and 55. Interest in life gradually fails, they have a worn-out appearance and their nerves are always close to a "ragged edge." A well known society woman who had always been a leader, found herself living almost the life of a recluse, with no interest in life, and no thought of the future. One of her closest friends told her of Kath, the Gland Tonic, and advised her to try it at once. She found she was soon imbued with a new interest in life, her mental and physical efficiency were restored, and there were no more tell-tale wrinkles. She says, "Why should I not tell women of Kath? From a prematurely old woman without any interest in life, I have become active, strong and vigorous, and my friends compliment me on my youthful appearance. I but feebly express my feelings when I say that I think Kath is the most wonderful tonic ever made." Kath, the Gland Tonic, is a combination of Extracts of Glands and Iron Phosphate, and builds up wasted and under-nourished glands. For Sale by: C. H. UNDERWOOD (Advertisement.)

Be sure of your furnace!

Your comfort—even your health—depends on the kind of heat you obtain from your furnace. That kind of heat depends on the construction of your furnace and the skill with which it is installed in your home. Health requires an abundant circulation of warm moist heat! Not just heated air. Comfort requires adequate heat at minimum expense and effort.
