CHINESE BRIDGE PARTIES GIVEN

Society of Klamath Falls was bidden on Thursday and Friday afternoons to the most delightful affair of the season, when Mrs. Thomas C. Campbell and Mrs. Charles Wood Eberlein presided over a bridge tea in the Hall annex.

In its every appointment the Chinese motif was observed. Gorgeous brocades, Chinese brasses, candelabra and in the bridge favors and tally cards, the Oriental theme was prevalent. Miss Betty Hauger and Miss Jean Hauger, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. H. E. Hauger, garbed in Oriental robes received the guests.

Presiding over all was a huge Buddha expressing the motif to the fullest extent. Miniature figures in brilliant robes, Chinese Hunt heads and yellow chrysanthemums completed the charming idea of the east.

Another interesting innovation carried out during the afternoon series was the manner in which partners were obtained. From the pages of fiction and the pages of history to the modern figures of today, characters of romance and interest were presented and the two linked in history were given as partners. At one table King George played with Queen Mary. At another, Mary Pickford and Douglas Fairbanks and still another Romeo and Juliet.

At definitely appointed tea tables Mrs. H. N. Moe and Mrs. George I. Wright poured on Thursday afternoon. On Friday afternoon Mrs. W. O. Smith and Mrs. Charles S. Moore presided at the tables.

MRS. EMMITT IS HOSTESS ... For members of the Happy Hour club, Mrs. R. A. Emmitt entertained at her home on Pine street. Flowers gathered from the Emmitt garden were used throughout the rooms, carrying out the color scheme of lavender and marigold.

Guests of the afternoon were Mesdames Abbie Walker, Amelia Whitlock and George Barth. Others present were Mesdames W. Temple, W. Steinmetz, F. Summers, O. M. Hector, W. P. Johnson, L. Ruemich and Mrs. Emmitt.

Mrs. W. D. Cofer will entertain at her home on 521 Alameda street in a fortnight.
