TOURING PLANES MAKE SAFE TRIP

OMAHA, Sept. 29.—The sixteen planes touring the middle west in the Edsel Ford reliability contest, arrived here in good conditions between 4 and 5 p. m., and airmen announced that the machines have shown nearly 100 per cent performance in the flight to date.

The trip has been without incident thus far and the pilots are having little difficulty in maintaining their schedule. Tuesday they flew from Chicago to Moline, Ill., where they were entertained at lunch by city officials. The planes then proceeded to Des Moines, Iowa, where they arrived at Fisher field at 2 p. m., hopping off shortly after 3 p. m. for this city.

The flyers expect to hop-off for St. Joseph, Mo., Wednesday.

MALIN FARMERS FAVOR TULE LINE

Eighty-one farmers of the Malin district have signed a petition favoring building a main line railroad through Tule lake district, which will give a direct eastern outlet, it was announced today by Dr. F. M. Trout, mayor of Malin, and president of the Malin Commercial club.

The petition, directed to the interstate commerce commission, declares that the eastern route through Tule lake, as well as through rail facilities to Portland and San Francisco, is the railroad development most urgently needed now in the entire state of Oregon.

Heretofore Malin has been considered one of the strongholds of the Oregon trunk railway, which is formally opposing construction of the Southern Pacific's line through the Tule lake district.

The Malin petition reads: We, the undersigned farmers and residents of Malin district, Oregon, believe that the building of a main line railroad through this great body of agricultural land, giving us direct eastern outlet, as well as through rail facilities to Portland and San Francisco, is the railroad development most urgently needed now in the entire state of Oregon, and we hereby respectfully request the interstate commerce commission to give this expression of our desires most serious consideration at the forthcoming hearing on Oregon railroad development.

Tax payers of Klamath county are responding more readily than usual according to the tax collector's office yesterday, when scores of property owners throughout the county made a visit to pay off the last half of their 1924 taxes during the early days of the week.

TAX PAYMENTS IN COUNTY SPEED UP

Payment of county taxation began on Monday afternoon and it is especially urged that those who have taxes to pay or tax problems to settle do so during the early part of the week in order to prevent the repetition of the last days of the tax week in April, when the office was swamped with people and the employees of the office were worked many hours over time.

Monday, October 5, is the last day for the payment of taxes for the last half of 1924, without penalty or interest.

Italy's Employees Are Paid $450 Year

ROME, Sept. 29.—United News.—The payroll of Italy comprises 516,000 employees, earning on an average of $450 a year, according to a recently published statement of the ministry of finance.

These figures are claimed to represent the maximum efficiency of the state machine under the fascist regime on the one hand, and the closest economy in its operation on the other.

The average cost of every employee has risen from $300 in 1908, under the Giolitti government, to the present figure, which despite the change in monetary conditions and the high cost of living, marks a distinct gain over the depreciation of the currency.

Reduction of the personnel of the state and improvement of the status of the employees retained were the goals of the fascist government when it entered office. After two years of experiment it has evolved the following administrative organization: The civil service comprises 110,000 employees, at an expense of $53,976,923. The teaching staff of the state is made up of 14,000 instructors, costing $8,692,311. The military establishment embodies 150,000 members entailing an outlay of $53,869,231. The railway personnel numbers 176,000 men at a salary of $88,307,692. A fifth category, labor, includes 67,000 dependents drawing $14,831,153. The total expense of these five categories reaches $218,777,310. Members of the civil service draw approximately $445 a year; teachers $625; military men $345; railway employees $490, and workmen $225. still be alive. Such determination apparently, depends upon good luck and good weather. With these advantages the marine derricks March and Century may be able Wednesday morning to lift the vessel's stern to the surface, when will be wrenched apart.

Divers Working
Six or more divers were to work throughout the night, exploring with in the hull, and it was felt that other bodies might be brought up. Night work was facilitated when a Westinghouse company representative brought a newly invented system of powerful lights designed to illuminate the interior of the 8-51 and thus reveal the situation at the bottom of the sound.

Divers who penetrated the pierced hull and brought out the bodies of William C. Teschenbacher and John L. Gibson had been unable to determine whether any of the victims of the implacable Davy Jones might

ICE everyday helps keep sickness away

Food doesn't have to be spoiled to be unhealthful. Many ills of children and grown-ups, too,—are due to food kept in the changing temperatures of a pantry or "kitchen cooler." Science says you cannot keep perishable foods pure and wholesome without proper refrigeration. The safe way—the only sensible way—is to keep ice in your home all the time!
