

NEBRASKA READY FOR HARD GAME

YORK, Oct. 2.—(United Press)—While most of the life-size teams are kicking the upper part of tough opposition, Nebraska is preparing to meet the greatest football team of the generation, "Red" Grange.

of the country would be much about Illinois. Nebraska were it not for one case, and the Nebraska victory over Notre Dame in Grange is promised for an appearance against Philadelphia, one of the greatest teams in the country, and naturally this has led to research into the coming of the hurrying cleats on the heels of so many distinguished players that any team which could meet Notre Dame, as Nebraska also commands a hearing in the neighborhood.

backfield is reputed to be composed of players who run dashes in the open, and the description of the team is just a little less awe-inspiring. Therefore, with advance notice too vague to permit of detailed speculation on the results, the east will watch this exciting part of the corner of one eye. How high the wreckage soars, Nebraska plays a Middlebury team, which is stiffened by the continued presence of six hearty young athletes who took part in last year's football with Harvard.

HI GRIDSTERS TO BATTLE MEDFORD

With one victory to their credit, Klamath county high school gridsters will leave at seven o'clock this morning for Medford, where they will meet the second of their valley foe. The men will leave from the Elks temple.

Eleven men in good condition, in company with their coach, Dwight French, will meet Medford at 2:30 p. m. on even grounds, both teams well matched in weight, with the enemy having a shade on the Klamath men with experience.

The loss of "big Bill" Bessler, who is still out with a badly sprained ankle from the Grants Pass game, the line-up is practically the same as that of the initial game of the season. Morgan will be put in Bessler's position, which he will fill well, although more than 20 pounds lighter than the heavy tackle.

Klamath Falls Man Is Honored by Club

Friends of LeRoy Wright, who left the latter part of the week for Corvallis to enter Oregon Agricultural college, will be glad to know of his election as social chairman of the Achean club on the O. A. C. campus. The organization is one of the most active in the college, and Wright is taking a position which means work, according to O. A. C. students.

Gets Chance to Show His Training

"Pip" Koehler, Penn State pitching star, tried out by Jawm McGraw at Sarasota last spring and sent to the Reading club of the International League, has come back to show the Giant boss what the year in fast minor league company has taught him. He has a wonderful chance to win a regular berth with McGraw next year.

SPORTS DONE BROWN

If one could read the innermost thoughts of Manager Bill McKechnie of the Pittsburgh Pirates and Fred Clarke, his strategist, would one find the case of Johnny Rawlings giving them the most worry as the world series nears?

It's a good bet at least that the accident to that veteran is giving them concern. For with the snapping of Rawlings' ankle in a game some time ago the team lost its best "money player."

To Rawlings must go much of the credit for that late season spurt which sent the Pirates into the lead and then carried them far enough ahead of the Giants to outdistance the four-time champions.

As has been chronicled before Rawlings warmed the bench until conditions forced Manager McKechnie to send the vet to second and Eddie Moore to the outfield. The Pirates' spurt had its inception in the first few games the team played after Johnny entered the lineup.

Now Rawlings will be lost to the team for the coming melee with the Senators. It's a good bet that McKechnie would have started Rawlings at second in the series mainly because of his "luck" and his ability to play best with the stakes high. Had the Pirate bosses decided to keep Moore at second they would have felt easy in the thought that Rawlings was there on the bench ready to go whenever needed.

Now the team will take the field minus its best infield reserve man, and it is an old adage that the strength of a team can be reckoned by its second defense.

However, the injury to Rawlings may give Lafayette Thompson his great chance. This is the youngster the Pirates recalled from Kansas City when the accident to Rawlings left them short handed for infielders.

Kansas City scribes and fans say that Thompson's chief asset is unshakable courage. This is what is needed more than anything else in a young player who is thrown into the breach the way Thompson was

LOUISVILLE AGAIN DEFEATS BALTIMORE

LOUISVILLE, Ky., Oct. 2.—Louisville again won from Baltimore Friday, taking the second game of the "little world series" 3 to 1.

Joe Deberry's good pitching was given credit for the victory. He allowed but five hits. Tommy Thomas, who pitched for the International League champions, gave away eight hits, that came at opportune times, and Louisville made the most of them.

OPENING PROVES SUCCESS

(Continued from Page One) evening, have been busily engaged in sorting and placing the stock in such a manner that no delays will be occasioned in handling trade.

"Outdoor" Franklin, scout of the company, has a most interesting line of work. His job is to scout throughout the country and secure information as to available camping sites, most interesting sections and such which is filed with the California offices of the company and made available to tourists. More than 5,000 people were sent to this state through the information supplied by Scout Franklin last summer. In connection with this work, Earl Wilcox studies the needs of the autoist camper and sees that his company is supplied with all such information used in purchasing of stock for their patrons.

Back Home

A CITY'S skyline thrusts itself up from the haze. Harbor craft shriek noisy, welcoming signals. The incoming liner slowly finds her berth. Cordage creaks; a gangplank is thrown out; and homecomers feel beneath their feet the reassuring touch of firm earth.

To some of the travellers the port is but the outer edge of Home. They must journey many miles—perhaps across the continent—in order to get to the places and the people toward which their thoughts reach out.

But to these homing thoughts there is no barrier of distance. For America has a nation-wide communication agency that wipes out the miles as if by magic. Instantly it puts the traveller returned in touch with those whose voices he yearns to hear. To him the symbol of the Bell System's universal service is a sign that he is indeed "back home," however far from the nation's rim that home may be.
