POLISH MINISTER IS CRITICAL OF BRITISH POLICY

Declares Germany Granted Advantage at Expense of His Country

BERLIN, Oct. 2.—(United News)—Great Britain has promised Germany important territorial advantages at the expense of Poland, George Tchitcherin, foreign minister of soviet Russia, charged in an exclusive interview with the United News Friday.

Tchitcherin was speaking of the forthcoming security pact conference at Locarno, when Germany will be invited to become a member of the league of nations, and a signatory to a pledge never to cross the eastern borders of France.

"Thus," Tchitcherin said, "Britain is enjoining Germany with sweet ... one minute and using threats the next."

The success or failure of the Locarno conference depends on article 16 of the league of nations covenant, Tchitcherin believes. He thinks this article, providing for the passage of foreign troops over Germany, might make Germany a war base in the future in an anti-soviet campaign.

"Germany would skate on very thin ice," he continued. "If she entered the league upon the understanding that the application of article 16 to Germany would be revised later."

Tchitcherin painted a black future for the world, culminating in a catastrophic conflict if the British conservatives realize their desire, which he described as a "scheme of isolating and encircling the soviet union militarily, politically and economically."

Contrasting the United States' relation with the soviets with those between the soviet and Great Britain, Tchitcherin said that it would be feasible for the soviet to place large orders in America with the co-operation of American banks.

"The United States," he explained, "also is against the soviet, but this is apparent only in Europe, whereas in China the United States' aspirations are closer to ours, since we both seek to assist China toward unity and independence."

SYLVESTER HIRED BY BOXING HEADS

John Sylvester, a well known Oregon promoter, has been secured to conduct the fistic attractions of the local commission. Sylvester is a licensed promoter who has handled some of the leading leather pushers of Portland and various other fight centers. He is a man who has associated with the headliners, and an advocate in handling the fight game on a strict business basis. He was in the Dempsey camp when the Manassa mauler fought Tommy Gibbons. Among other fighters he has handled are Joe Benjamin, whom it might be said he started up the ladder of fame when Joe had plenty to learn.

Sylvester expects to put on his first card here in about two weeks and says he will try to show the local fight supporters in the initial show what is in store for them in the future. The new promoter says he will start off with a card of men in the lighter divisions.

"'Kid' Sharkey has been doing good work here and has many admirers," said Sylvester, "and I believe I have a man in mind that will furnish a thriller with Sharkey. There are other boys that I am in negotiation with, and I will devote all my time to putting on good, clean attractions."

Earl Ritchie will leave shortly for the north, where the local has mapped out an itinerary that will put him against some of the best heavyweights on the coast. His first match may be in Marshfield, October 9, where he will meet Willie Keeler. Later on Ritchie will be matched with Tiny Herman.

Sylvester, who trained Earl for his fight with Olson, is of the opinion that Ritchie has a good chance with any of the heavies.

PRESIDENT KEMAL PEEVED AT STYLE

CONSTANTINOPLE, Oct. 2.—(United News)—Although he divorced his wife because he complained she had become so emancipated that she wanted to wear the family trousers, Mustapha Kemal, president of the Turkish republic is still true to his ambition to bring Turkey into line with western civilization.

In a speech before a large audience at Inebolt, Kemal warmly attacked Turkish customs and fashions.

"A nation is composed of two elements, women and men," he said. "They must advance together in a nation's evolution.

"There is a man here in the front row with a red fez, a green turban, a yellow vest and a black coat like mine. How ridiculous.

"I see women in the streets, veiling their faces and turning away when a man approaches. What manners are these?

"It is time all this nonsense ceased, and we behave like other civilized people."

Kemal has recently announced his intention of abolishing polygamy as well as dress restriction both for men and women. Bills to this effect to be passed at the next session of the Angora national assembly.

Return From South—Mr. and Mrs. George Wirtz have returned from Susanville, where they visited for a short time with their daughter Mrs. C. A. Batchelder. They arrived in the city Thursday night.

WILBUR UPHELD BY AIR WITNESS

LAKEHURST, N. J., Oct. 2.—(United News)—Secretary of the Navy Wilbur's denial of Col. William Mitchell's assertion that parachutes would have saved lives on the Shenandoah when it crashed in Ohio September 3, was backed by Captain Anton Heinen, the German dirigible expert in testimony Tuesday before the naval court of inquiry into the disaster.

Heinen said he would not have parachutes aboard the dirigible, and cited action of the Shenandoah's crew when the craft broke from its moorings nearly two years ago as evidence that the men would not avail themselves of the safety device until it was too late. Heinen was the successful pilot of the dirigible at the time.

It was a different court and a different audience that Heinen faced on the second day of his testimony. From salaried men in the... were hostile to him Wednesday and came prepared to taunt the German out of court, but his masterly handling of his tapes changed them, and extreme courtesy took the place of open enmity.

He stood by his charges of Wednesday—that the primary cause of craft was the reduction of gas valves, lack of knowledge and foresight on the part of the crew and that Commander Zachary Lansdowne would have averted the disaster by changing his course shortly before the craft broke.

The storm which the weather gave to the Shenandoah before she was wrecked is one of the greatest danger signals known to airship pilots, Heinen testified.

"When Lieutenant Anderson (the aerologist) said he saw storm clouds going apparently against the wind," he said, "he was observing one of the biggest danger signs we know in the air. The course of the ship should have been changed at once."

This was not done by Lansdowne, Anderson had testified in earlier sessions.
