

SPORTS DONE BROWN

By Norman E. Brown

Much has been written of the Pirates, new and old. But how many fans can recall who were members of the Detroit team that met the Pittsburgh team in the world's series of 1909, the last series in which the Pirates participated previous to the 1925 one?

Here is the list of men who comprised the Detroit team that won the American League title that year:

Pitchers—Donovan, Mullin, Summers, Willett, Kilian and Works.
Catchers—Schmidt and Starnaz.
Infielders—T. Jones, Delehanis, Moriarty, Bush, O'Leary.
Outfielders—McIntyre, Cobb and Crawford.

Hughie Jennings was, of course, the manager. He had led his team to its third successive pennant that year.

The interest regarding the possibility of Mr. Jack Dempsey re-entering the ring on serious business (outside the financial) bent has faded to the point of "filling in" when the conversation grows desultory.

If any recent happening draws more attention than the usual run of gossip these days it is Mickey Walker's lucky victory over Dave Shade, the surprising Californian.

Mickey did well to duck the enthusiastic Dave as long as he did. It was the consensus of opinion of insiders that "but for an error in judgment on Shade's part he would have stepped from the ring with the welterweight championship in his gloved paw."

He had out-generaled Walker all through the battle. In the closing rounds he changed his style and decided to "give and take." This fitted Walker's plans exactly and the champion socked him plenty.

That fight, however, made it clear that Walker cannot be rated as a great champion. He is courageous, clever, and a hard hitter. But he does not outrank his field the way a great man should.

The long road jaunts of Notre Dame football team the past few seasons have been dug up by the "commercialism" bowlers in their search for material to back up their cries. Meanwhile the grid fans worry not—especially those who happen to reside in or near the towns where Rockne's interesting warriors are booked to do their stuff.

This year the Notre Dame schedule calls for more extensive travel. The first games are played at home. The first venture into the cruel and merciless world comes on October 17, when the team goes to New York to tackle the Army eleven in the Yankee stadium. The following week the team treks up to Minneapolis to play Minnesota.

Then, stopping at home long enough for a couple of intensive practice sessions and clean socks, the team goes to Atlanta, Ga., to play Georgia October 31.

The following week Penn State takes on the South Bend team at State College, Pa. Then comes two games at home, one with Carnegie, November 14, and one with Northwestern, November 21.

Then the grand climax—the annual game with Nebraska, to be played Thanksgiving Day—this year at Lincoln, Nebraska, home of the husky Corners.

Plenty of travel here—which should be productive of much interesting football.

As the baseball season draws to a hectic close this little prediction might well be expressed—and pasted in your hat: There will be fewer home runs, by a goodly number, in 1925, than were rung up this year.

The falling off in the deluge in the last couple of months has indicated clearly that the ball has been changed, and some of the "rabbit" qualities removed or checked. And this new ball will be retained. The magnates realize at last that the home run thing has been overdone.

KLAMATH HI ALL READY FOR GAME

Ashland Warriors Booked To Play On Local Grounds At 2:30 Today

Game called at 2:30 at the fair grounds. Student orchestra playing things up.

"No horn" McMullan, yell king, kicking the red-rabs.

Above are three features of the big game between the Klamath county high school football warriors and Ashland, when the two gather for battle on the fair grounds this afternoon. Klamath Falls, while ready for anything in the game, is, in reality, girding itself for the big return game with Medford, one week from today.

The defeat suffered last Saturday, says Athletic Manager Bill Kuykendall, is only serving to add pep and vim to the players, and they will go into the game this afternoon ready to battle for everything that is in them against Ashland.

Last night was rally night in Klamath Falls. The high school students took the downtown city streets by storm. On Main street traffic went by the boards, city cops indulgently nodding the traffic to chase itself around the corner to some other thoroughfare.

Today things will be whooping at the fair grounds. Nahoom McMullan has a line of rooting that will raise the scalp of the Ashland bunch clean off their domes, he says.

Everything is in readiness for the big game, and the Klamath Falls lads are going to show the Ashland mud-eaters how to play football, according to local fans.

Dwight French, coach, says the boys are in good condition, the line in perfect shape, and the backfield working with precision.

Bad blood has existed for some time between Ashland and Klamath Falls, deadly rivals for football supremacy or any game. Last night this was evidenced on the streets of the city when the several hundred boys and girls railed and serpentine around parked cars, twined around guide posts in the middle of the streets, and let off surplus pep which will be sprung again at the same this afternoon.

The line-up: Quarter, Carroll or Cofer; r.h. Johnson; full, Yancey; center, Klipare; l.h. Maguire or Conborn; r.g. Bliss; r.t. Walsh; l.t. Morgan or Bessler; l.e. Colson; r.e. Barnes, Hall, l.h.

Bessler, who injured his ankle in the Medford game, may not play in this afternoon's game, that is, if his ankle is too sore to enable him to step out.

Ed Clark is slated to referee.

FIGHT CARD HELD OVER TO OCT. 20

Earl Stolz, Of Bend Wires He Will Be Here On Sunday To Start Training

Owing to unforeseen delays incident to securing a cracker-jack fight card here for the next show, the events which were scheduled by Matchmaker Jubilee Sylvester in the Scandinavian hall October 13, have been postponed until October 20. This action was made necessary in order to permit some good fighters, whom it took time to secure, to get here in plenty of time to start finishing touches to work-outs, and be in first class trim when the mill starts.

All the trimmings for the Mike De Pinto, fast lightweight, of Portland, and Kid Starkey, of Klamath Falls, scrap have been ditched up, and that bout is settled insofar as business arrangements go, according to the promoters last night.

Good news was received yesterday in the information that Earl Stolz of Bend has wired he will be here Sunday and will go on in the leather pushing events, billed for the 20th. Earl is not only a good fighter, but has been working hard to get himself in shape during the past couple of months. He has been cutting down on the smokes, going in bed early, and kicking up the dust around the Pilot Butte. Earl takes his ring career seriously, and wants to get along. So he works for it. The result is that he is beginning to get results. He crosses his mug with a grin when fighting, that takes a he-man wallop to chase off.

Aside from the 10-round main event of De Pinto and Starkey, and the six-round mill of Stolz and probably Sambo, Matchmaker Sylvester announces Wilbur Harrington and Kid Aton for one four-round battle, and Carl Floyd and Jimmy Solomon for another four-round session, both of which should prove interesting events, and, it is said, the lads are rearing to go.

Sylvester has now leased the Scandinavian hall, which will give him a better chance to stage in regular form, future bouts in the city.

Transacting Business—Ellsworth Moore, accompanied by his brother Elzie Moore were among the business visitors in Klamath Falls this week, spending yesterday in the city.

Fixin' Things

Setting the R. R. Fight (By ARCHIBALD ASHCAN)

I see by the papers they is a great railway contro—of, well—light on. I was goin' to use a bigger word but nobody would understand it so I won't use it. Anyway my boss told me once that all the great writers used small, plain words, so of course I see light instead of—that word I was goin' to use first.

But what I was going to say is I can't see the use of having a lot of people gathered together in one room to settle a fight just by talking. In the first place it costs a lot of money, which somebody could use—I for instance—if they would make me president of a railroad, say, or maybe loan me a couple of banks for a week or so. They could put the money they are wasting on
